BRYAN SPEAKS HERE TONIGHT

WILL BE GUEST OF SPRINGS UNTIL TOMORROW.

BOOKED FOR TWO ADDRESSES

IS TO LECTURE AT M. E. CHURCH AND TEMPLE THEATER.

DUE TO ARRIVE AT 6 O'CLOCK

Distinguished Democratic Leader Will Be Guest of H. H. Seldomridge While Here Goes to Denver in the Morning for Busy Day in Capital.

William Jennings Bryan will be the guests of Colorado Springs this evening. Arriving shortly after 6 o'clock from Pueblo, Mr. Bryan will make two addresses while in the city, spending the night here as the guest of H. H. Seldomridge. He will go to Denver early tomorrow morning. At 7:15 o'clock this evening he will make a short address to the women of the city at the First M. E. church, and at 7:30 o'clock will deliver his lecture, "The Prince of Peace," at the meeting for men at the Temple theater, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Bryan arrived in Pueblo last night after a trip across Kansas on which he made a number of speeches. This afternoon at the Mineral palace he will speak in the interest of the three Pueblo orphanages. In Pueblo he will be the guest of former Governo Alva Adams. H. H. Seldomridge, former state senator, went to Pueblo last night and will accompany Mr. Bryan to Colorado Springs this afternoon. They will leave Pueblo at 5 o'clock, arriving here shortly after 6 o'clock, although it is not known on what road the trip will be made. During his stay here he will be entertained at Senator Seldomridge's home at 1015 North Nevada avenue.

Will Speak at Two Meetings.

All women in the city are invited to attend the meeting at the First M. E. church, and no tickets will be required for admission. This meeting will begin promptly at 7:15 o'clock.

The doors at the Temple theater will open at 7 o'clock, the meeting beginning half an hour later. Admission will be by ticket only. Those holding tickets that were given out last Sunday will be entitled to a seat on the lower floor, while unmarked red tickets will admit to the balcony. Tickets have been placed in the various drug stores, cigar stores and hotels, but it was reported last night that the supply had been exhausted. No others will be issued as the original supply was for the capacity of the house. In case all seats are not claimed by 8 o'clock, those not holding tickets will be admitted. That this will be the largest meeting ever held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and one of the largest gatherings in the history of the city is assured.

Orchestra to Play.

During the interim while the audience is waiting for Mr. Bryan, the Y. M. C. A. orchestra will give the following selections:

March, "The Black Eagle" ..... E. Ieuman
Overture, "Harvest Home" ..... Tobani
..... P. Rodney
"Unfold Ye Portals" ..... Ch. Gounod
..... G. F. Handel
Selections from "Martha" ..... Flotow
Selections from "The Merry Widow" .....
..... F. Lehar
"Cujus Animam" ..... Rossini
"With Whip and Spur" ..... F. Ieuman

Temple Theater Program.

H. H. Seldomridge will preside at the Temple theater meeting. The program will be as follows:

Song, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" .....
Song, "Stand Up for Jesus" (all standing) .....
Invocation, Rev. J. B. Gregg.
Announcements.
Selection .....
St. Stephen's Vested Choir.
T. Oliver, tenor, and Edward Longstreth, bass.
Song, "Showers of Blessing" (all standing) .....
Silver offering.
Prayer, Rev. J. M. Bailey.
Address, "The Prince of Peace" .....
..... William Jennings Bryan.
Song, "Throw Out the Life Line" .....
Benediction, Rev. J. H. Franklin.

Denver Escort Coming.

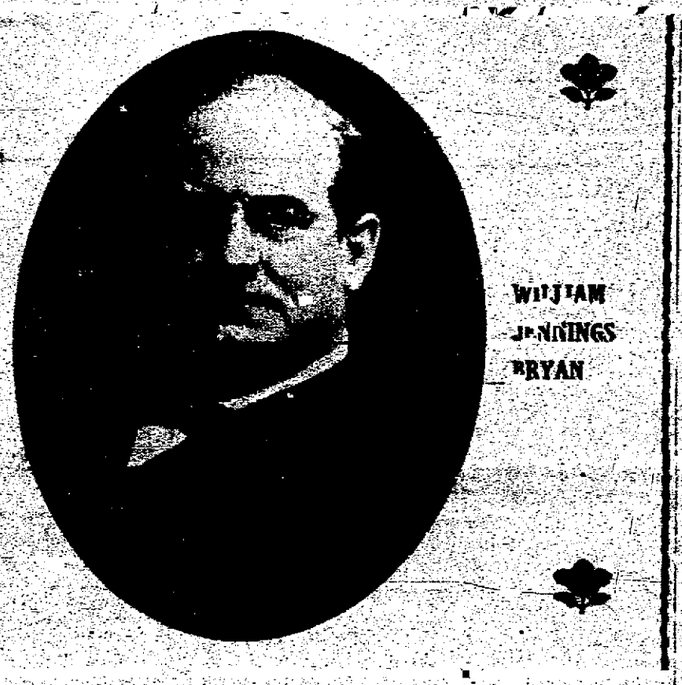
Former Senator T. M. Patterson, together with a committee from the Denver Bryan club, including Secretary Wayne C. Williams, E. T. Wells and F. J. W. Dazies, and other prominent Democrats, will come down from Denver this afternoon to meet Mr. Bryan and escort him to the capital city tomorrow morning. When Mr. Bryan arrives in Denver he will be greeted by a committee headed by President John F. Shafroth of the Bryan club, whose guest he will be while in the convention city. Addresses will be made at Denver university, the Central Christian church and at the El Jebel temple. The Y. M. C. A. will give a reception in the afternoon, and the evening banquet, attended by more than 1,000 Democrats, will begin at 8 o'clock at El Jebel temple.

On Tuesday morning, Mr. Bryan will leave for New York, in which state he has a number of speaking engagements. He will meet Mrs. Bryan in New York city on her return from Europe on April 13.

GARDEN CITY, Kan., April 4.—William J. Bryan delivered three speeches in Kansas today, one in the morning at Hutchinson, one in the afternoon at Dodge City and one in the evening at Garden City.

Mr. Bryan departed late tonight for Colorado Springs, Colo., where he will spend Sunday.

At Hutchinson, Mr. Bryan addressed a crowd of 5,000 persons, a number of whom came in from Great Bend and other surrounding towns to hear the Nebraskan. At Dodge City, an equally large crowd was present, mostly farmers, while at Garden City, Mr. Bryan greeted a crowd of like numbers. In all three of his speeches, Mr. Bryan discussed politics. He praised Senator LaFollette for his stand against the trusts, and criticised Taft.



WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

MINORITY SQUELCHED

RIDDEN OVER ROUGH SHOD BY MAJORITY IN HOUSE.

Democrats Are Afforded No Opportunity to Talk—Force Roll Call, However, on Adjournment.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4.—By adopting a sweeping cloture rule in the House today, the Republicans left to the Democrats very limited powers. No longer can a filibuster be conducted against sending to conference bills with Senate amendments; no longer can a motion to close debate be amended or discussed, and no longer can a motion to adjourn take precedence over a motion to take a recess.

In presenting the rule, Mr. Dalzell characterized the Democratic filibuster of the last few days as "asinine, idiotic and a disgrace to grown men of full stature."

The Democrats were afforded no opportunity to talk on the question and were ridden over rough shod. They tried to get even, a short time afterward, in various ways, seeking to amend the District of Columbia appropriation bill and then forcing a division of the House but the Republicans, observing the tactics that were pursued, secured a ruling from the chair that all the motions were dilatory. From that time on, for the remainder of the session, the House assumed its wonted aspect and business proceeded in an orderly manner.

One of the few privileges left the Democrats was to force a roll call on adjournment, and this they did, but to no avail, as the motion carried overwhelmingly, and accordingly, the House, at 5:35 p. m., adjourned until Monday.

MONTANA FOR TAFT

HELENA, Mont., April 4.—The candidacy of Secretary Taft for the nomination of President at Chicago was indorsed at the meeting of the Montana Republican state central committee tonight. No element of discord was in evidence at the meeting of the 27 members of the committee. It was decided to hold the convention for the nomination of the delegates to the national convention at Butte on May 7.

BIG CHIEF LIKES MAJOR REYNOLDS

"BEST AGENT THE CROW TRIBE EVER HAD."

DENIES SENSATIONAL STORIES

RED MEN ARE NOT MISTREATED, HE DECLARES.

HAS BURIED THE TOMAHAWK

Plenty Coos, a Great Scalper in Years Agone, Now Devotes His Time to Peaceful Pursuit of Raising Alfalfa. Appears Before Senate Committee.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Chief Plenty Coos, of the Crow Indian tribe, testified today before the Senate committee on Indian affairs and in response to questions by Senator Dixon, denied many of the statements of Mrs. Helen Pierce Grey that many of the Indians were mistreated by Major Reynolds, the government agent.

The interpreters were used in the examination, one repeating the questions to the chief and the other giving the answers to the committee. Plenty Coos explained the manner of his tribe in farming their lands and told of the return of the tribe to the agent, Major Reynolds. He expressed the belief that Reynolds was the best agent the Crows ever had, in that he helped the Indians to help themselves. The chief denied that Reynolds interfered with members of the tribe in selling their stock and products for the best price obtainable. In other ways, he praised Reynolds, but said that there had been some complaint by those Indians who did not like to work.

Heap Big Scalper.

Senator Dixon brought out the fact that Plenty Coos was with General Crook in 1876 and fought with him just in advance of the Custer massacre. He was asked why he had been named Plenty Coos, and explained that the name came from the coo stick on which deeds of valor are recorded by the cutting of notches, the driving of nails or the hanging of scalps. He explained that he used to live in the center of the fighting tribes of Indians of other nations and that he amassed so many trophies in battle against hostile bands that his coo stick would hardly hold them all. Therefore, he was called Plenty Coos and made the big chief of all the Crows.

Senator Brandage wanted to know whether the scalps on his coo stick were white or Indian.

Plenty Coos said that the sallies of his tribe had been always against the Arapahoes, Cheyennes and Sioux, and never against the white man, who had always been the Crows' friend. He declared that his scalping now is confined to alfalfa and oats; that he had ceased to war, and now shakes hands with everybody.

Plenty Coos Prosperous.

The members of the committee took great interest in Plenty Coos and his followers, about a dozen of whom were present. They looked prosperous and the chief, through the interpreter, explained that they were the flower of the tribe. In explaining the holdings of his family, Plenty Coos excited some curiosity as to the number of wives he had. He said it was unusual for him to talk about anything of that kind, but that before he became fully under the control of the government, he had married 10 women at various times and had a number of wives at one time. Now he believed in the white man's life regarding marriages, he said, and had only one wife.

The Indians came to Washington to present two bills of general interest to the Crow reservation and are only questioned incidentally about the charges that have been made by Mrs. Grey.

RECORD TARGET WORK

ATLANTIC SHIPS MAKE EXCELLENT SCORES.

Higher Average of Hits Per Minute Than Ever Before Attained by Navy—Practice Is Ended.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 4.—Rear Admiral C. M. Thomas, acting commander-in-chief of the Atlantic battleship fleet, today transferred his flag from the Minnesota at the head of the second squadron, to the Connecticut, the vessel which carried Rear Admiral Evans' flag on the long cruise from Hampton Roads and which rejoined the fleet in Magdalena bay late last night.

With the elevation of Admiral Thomas, Rear Admiral Sperry becomes second in command of the fleet and it is said that when the ships set sail from Magdalena bay, the Alabama, his flagship, will be at the head of the second squadron.

Under this arrangement, the entire fourth division, including the Alabama, Illinois, Kearsarge and Kentucky, will move up to the third division rank. The third division, including the Minnesota, Maine, Missouri and Ohio, will drop back to last place.

Target practice at Magdalena is ended. It is the general belief here that none of the battleships has succeeded in surpassing the record recently made

POLICE ASSIST THIEF

STAND WATCH OUTSIDE WHILE LOOT IS REMOVED.

Sensational Story of Dishonesty in Philadelphia Police Department Is Revealed.

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—An amazing story of alleged dishonesty in the police department of this city was told by Harry Rothenberger, aged 19 years, who was arrested charged with larceny. The youth made a confession in which he says he was aided and abetted in a number of robberies in the wholesale district of the city by four policemen. These policemen, John Kelly, C. M. Luckenbill, Albert R. Sithens and John W. Strab, were arrested and probably will be given a hearing tomorrow. Rothenberger said he was a tool of the policemen who made it easy for him to commit robberies.

"Most of the time," he said, "I would meet the policemen in front of the places and they would let me in the door. One of them would stand watch outside while I got the stuff, and I would carry it out to a cart and take it away."

It was announced late today that two of the accused policemen had made confessions of their complicity in the robberies. While admitting their guilt, they did not incriminate the other policemen.

TEMPERANCE WAR

SPECTACULAR CAMPAIGN IN ILLINOIS CLOSES.

LICENSED SALOON SOLE ISSUE

Antisaloon League and Church Organizations Have Played Leading Part in Fight Against Liquor Element of State. Will Decide Tuesday.

CHICAGO, April 4.—Today saw the formal but not the actual closing of one of the most spectacular and vigorous campaigns waged in this state since the Civil war. The sole issue has been the licensed saloon, and in 94 of the 102 counties of Illinois the voters will be called upon Tuesday to decide whether the dram shops shall continue their existence within the confines of the various local option districts as defined by the state law which became effective July 1, 1907. About 1,100 of 1,205 townships of the state and about 1,500 cities and villages are affected. In addition, the "saloon question" has reached seven other counties in one form or another.

The closing days of the campaign, which has been waged practically since last November, have been marked by many unusual features. The Anti-saloon league has made most of its fight with the churches and schools as nuclei, and as a consequence women and children have played leading parts in many communities. White-gowned children have marched in parade, wearing badges with the legend, "Vote for my sake." Earnest women have held prayer meetings in saloons and canvassed the towns from house to house, besides pleading with the voting members of their families to cast a ballot against the saloons. In fact, every resource of the politician and many expedients not heretofore brought into play, have been used in the effort to win the towns and districts to prohibition.

Brewery Interests at Work.

Against these tactics, the saloon and brewery interests have worked with unflagging energy. Speakers have been imported and mass meetings have been held nightly. "Personal liberty" leagues have been organized to combat the church and prohibition organizations, and the struggle has been carried into the homes of thousands of citizens.

Some of the principal centers where the fight has raged hottest are: Joliet, Bloomington, Decatur, Galesburg, Monmouth, Centralia, Pekin, which is close to Peoria, the great distillery center; Kankakee, Pontiac, Alton, Lincoln, Canton, Vandalia, Dixon, Rock Island, Moline, Freeport, Elgin, Waukegan and Belvidere. A particularly hard campaign has been fought in Danville and Aurora.

The fight has also been brought to the outskirts of Chicago and ten townships of Cook county, lying along the city's border, will vote on the question

PASSING OF THE "AMEN CORNER"

RAZING OF FIFTH AVENUE HOTEL REMOVES LANDMARK.

LAST SESSION OF OLD TIMERS

PLATT, DEPEW AND OTHERS ARE PRESENT.

SAY GOOD-BY TO OLD PLACE

Secrets Long Cherished Revealed in Reminiscent Remarks of Once-Powerful Politicians. "Amen Corner Has Made and Unmade Presidents."

NEW YORK, April 4. At midnight tonight, the Fifth Avenue hotel, one of the most famous hotels of the city ended its existence of half a century, but not until the old timers had once more sat upon the plush-covered seat in the "amen corner" and once more breathed an atmosphere [illegible] the "easy boss," whose political plans, there promulgated, gave the spot world renown. In the old days, Tom Platt was secretive. Tonight, he confessed that the "amen corner" had "made and unmade Presidents."

Chauncey Depew spoke with caution when a pars of the inner circle in days gone by. Tonight he fairly boasted that he had known governors "who thought they did things from the executive chamber, but they were done from the "amen corner."

It was a jolly, half sorrowful party that gathered to bid the old place good-by.

After 42 years of life as a hotel, during half of which time it served as headquarters of the Republican party of the state, the house is to be torn down to make way for a monster office building.

Brought to the entrance in a wheel chair and further assisted by a friend on either side, Senator Platt tottered to the "amen corner" and again heard the shouts of "Platt, Platt, Platt."

Platt Is Visibly Affected.

The aged senator was visibly affected, but managed to speak for some moments to the crowd that surged about him and which was kept from pressing too closely upon the sacred spot only by a cordon of police.

Senator Platt in a voice that was uncertain at times, said:

"Any effort, the very slightest, to express what I feel at the thought of the removal of the historic landmark, which was my home for almost 30 years, would compel me to take my seat in silence, as I must speak that subject and assume a cheerfulness which I have not got. This noble edifice, in its day, one of the most imposing in our city, even now in its majestic simplicity is good to look at. The Fifth Avenue hotel

CARRIES $100,000,000

ARMY APPROPRIATION MATERIALLY ENLARGED.

About $15,000,000 Added by Senate Committee on Military Affairs—Ready for Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The army appropriation bill was completed by the Senate committee on military affairs today and will be reported to the Senate on Monday. It will carry about $115,000,000 more than was provided in the bill as it passed the House, making a total of approximately $100,000,000. An item of about $7,000,000 was included to increase the pay of the army, revenue cutter service and marine corps, but excluding enlisted men of the navy, in accordance with the provisions of the bill which was passed by the Senate. For the joint maneuvers of the regular army and the organized militia, $1,000,000 is provided.

An increase of about $3,000,000 has been made in the appropriation for transportation of troops and purchase and repair of ships to be used as army transports. The item for enlargement of army hospitals, amounting in all to about $255,000, which were struck out of the bill in the House, were restored. The House adopted an amendment which would bar officers of the regular army from taking part in the annual rifle contests, and the Senate committee struck this out.

The increased appropriation for the pay of the army is made necessary by the [illegible] fact that the committee added, as an amendment, the bill providing for general enlargement of the pay of officers and enlisted men [illegible] of the service except enlisted men of the navy, including the revenue-cutter service and the marine corps. This change necessitated an addition of money sufficient to pay not only the army, but the other branches of the service. It is understood that the enlisted men of the navy will be taken care of in an amendment to be offered by Senator Hale.

EVANS IS MUCH IMPROVED

Expects a Visit From His Wife and Daughter.

PASO ROBLES HOT SPRINGS, Cal., April 4.—Rear Admiral Evans today received a telegram from Washington announcing that his wife and daughter left that city this morning and will come to Paso Robles. Admiral Evans was much improved today and is resting well tonight. He had his bath and massage in the morning and was afterwards wheeled about the grounds.

Dr. McDonald stated tonight that a thorough examination had been made and he was positive that Admiral Evans had no organic disease and is suffering alone from inflammatory rheumatism.

No callers are permitted, but friends in various cities provided many bouquets of flowers for his chambers, and he is very grateful.

TAFT AVOIDS POLITICS

SPENDS ANOTHER BUSY DAY IN CHICAGO.

Round of Receptions, Luncheons and Speeches Discusses Conditions in Orient.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 4.—Secretary of War Taft spent his second busy day in Chicago with another round of receptions, luncheons and speeches, winding up with the banquet of the Commercial club of Chicago at the Congress hotel tonight.

In all his talks, the secretary carefully avoided political issues, although in the evening address he touched upon questions of public import.

About 300 members of the Commercial club attended the evening function. Mr. Taft was given a hearty reception when he was introduced.

The bulk of Mr. Taft's speech was devoted to a discussion of conditions in the orient, especially as they affect American trade in China, Japan, Korea and the Philippines. He led up to this by discussing briefly the progress of construction in the Panama canal, telling the members of the club that if they should repeat their tour of inspection to the canal zone they would find that tremendous strides had been made in the big task there. He called the attention of his auditors to the influence that the canal will have upon the Asiatic trade of the United States and traced the growth of exports of this country to the far east, and then said:

"Four hundred and sixty millions of people on the other side of the Pacific will soon be within comparatively easy reach of both coasts of the United States. The question is whether we are going to take advantage of the condition favoring us in competition for all this trade.

"Our sales to the Philippines have increased from comparatively nothing

MONEY AT CONVENTION

NEBRASKA BOLTERS SPRING A SUPRISE.

Independence League Said to Have Influenced Action of Populists at St. Louis.

OMAHA, Neb., April 4.—The Nebraska delegation, which bolted the Populist convention at St. Louis, on arrival home today, issued a statement to the press in explanation of their action. They declare that the old-time Populists were for the most part absent from the convention and that the management of the gathering showed a total disregard for parliamentary usage and the right of the accredited delegates.

The statement charged that when the national committee meeting was held, the committeemen from those states in which Populism had become a serious threat to corporation control were not notified and the apportionment of delegates was made so as to give control of the convention to the delegates from states, many of which never cast a Populist vote.

Says the statement:

"We believe that the whole thing was financed (and they seemed to have plenty of money) by the men or man who has organized what is known as the Independence league, having for its purpose the downfall of both Bryan and Watson."

"Incidents are cited of, what are termed, 'comic opera proceedings' and the delegates say that while they realized the 'fraudulent character' of the meeting they withdrew. The statement closes with the claim that the state of Nebraska has the only legally constituted People's party in the United States, and the announcement that when a convention properly called and composed of legally selected delegates is held, they are ready to take part.

MILLIONAIRE ROBBED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—H. S. Royster, millionaire painter of Norfolk, Va., who has been touring the orient, and who was a passenger on the steamship Mongolia when she came up to the Pacific Mail dock, last night, was robbed of $6,000 in Bank of England notes, his railroad tickets and $150 in gold. A number of [illegible] characters will known to police.

READY TO FIGHT FOR ITS RIGHTS

LABOR TAKES BOLD STAND ON SHERMAN LAW.

GOMPERS SOUNDS A WARNING

PATIENCE OF WORKINGMEN IS SORELY TRIED.

WON'T WAIT MUCH LONGER

Remedial Legislation Is Demanded "Men or Parties Failing to Respond to Urgent Appeal Will Be Held to a Strict Accountability."

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The proposed amendments to the Sherman antitrust bill, as framed by the National Civic Federation, and introduced in the House recently by Mr. Hepburn, were advocated today before a subcommittee by Seth Low of New York, Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, A. B. Garretson of Cedar Rapids, Ia., president of the Order of Railway Conductors, and Theodore Marburg of Baltimore.

That here is strong opposition to the proposed measure was indicated by a number of telegrams, made public by the chairman of the meeting, received from business concerns throughout the country.

Gompers Sounds Warning.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was the principal speaker at the afternoon session, and he sounded a warning that the workingmen of the country would not wait much longer for the passage of remedial legislation.

Mr. Gompers told of the advocates of the laboring interests, who, when the Senate considered the original anti-trust law asked to have it amended to so provide that the act shall not be construed to apply to any arrangements, agreements or combinations between laborers, made with the view of lessening the number of hours of labor, or the increasing of their wages, nor to arrangements, agreements or combinations among persons engaged in horticulture or agriculture, made with a view of enhancing the price of agricultural or horticultural products.

This amendment, said Mr. Gompers, was at one time agreed to, but was not in the bill when it passed that body.

In 1901, he said, the hearing was given by the House judiciary committee on this amendment. "I believe Mr. Littlefield will remember that hearing," continued Mr. Gompers.

"I remember it quite well" replied Mr. Littlefield. "I was one of those who voted against it."

"Nine voted against it" rejoined Mr. Gompers, "and some of them are not now in Congress," he added.

Describes Sherman Law.

"The so-called Sherman antitrust law," continued Mr. Gompers, "is not an antitrust law; it is an anticombination law. It is a law against associated effort; it is a law something like a law which obtained about 2,000 years ago in Rome—that made every form of association or organization which was not approved by the emperor, unlawful.

"We favor the enactment of laws which shall restrict the jurisdiction of courts of equity to property or property rights, and shall so define property rights that neither directly nor indirectly shall there be held to be any property or property rights in the labor of any person."

Mr. Gompers reviewed the recent court decisions adverse to organized labor, but said that these organizations would not be driven out of the country.

"You may drive the men and women out of labor organizations into secret organizations," he said. "You may drive them into the dark, but they are going to organize and remain organized. If not in the way you will permit it by law, they will organize in secret, and neither ukase or injunctions are going to drive them out of this country. Suppose you force them to do in secret the perfectly legitimate human acts they have always performed in the open? I need not say to you gentlemen that men in the open, where they can express their views, thoroughly—where they can promulgate to the world their thoughts—their business will always be more intelligent and circumspect than if they were considering the same question in secret and where they are freed from the criticisms of the public.

What Hope Has Workingman.

"What hope has the workingman to protect his rights and his interests if he, in industry, must be an individual? I am afraid to give my mind range to the possibilities of such a condition of affairs.

"I contend that our organizations of labor (but they are the greatest conservators of the public peace."

Mr. Gompers said that since the decision of the supreme court in the Danbury (Conn.) hatters case, 75 workingmen in New Orleans have been indicted in the course of conspiracy under the Sherman antitrust law in exercising a strike. He said he would give the same support to the purposes of the proposed legislation, although his organization was adverse to the registration of labor organizations clause of the bill. He did not think there should be required to register in order to get immunity under the law, but thought they should be placed in the same position they occupied before the Sherman antitrust law was enacted.

Small Rugs, Room Size Rugs, Linoleums

On our third floor you will find immense assortments to select from, to suit all color combinations. Rich oriental floral and conventional patterns; some of them duplicates of the soft colorings found only in real Persian and Turkish rugs. Never was a more pleasing stock presented for your critical inspection. Good qualities, handsome patterns and varied assortments enough, and more, to gratify every fancy. The qualities will attract you—the prices will hold you.

Fashionable Corsets

It is essential that you purchase a new corset before you do your Easter suit or gown. The many changes of style demand this. Every corset virtue is exemplified in the Bon Tons and herein is an idea of what is really correct:

Model 842, like illustration, is a splendid new design for the average long waist figure. The feature which marks this model is the new, very high, soft extended bust, fastened with hooks and eyes, giving perfect support and freedom above the waist line. It has long flat front and hip, and very long extended back, producing a most graceful and slender effect. Made from white batiste, and trimmed with fine, imported deep lace. Sizes 18 to 30. Price 6.00

Pimples Disappear In a Week

Send for Free Trial Package Today.

Boils have been cured in 3 days and acne of the worst cases of skin disease have been cured in a week, by the wonderful action of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. These wafers contain as their main ingredient, the most thorough, quick and effective blood-cleanser known, calcium sulphide.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers contain no poison or drug of any kind; they are absolutely harmless, and yet do work which cannot fail to surprise you. They are the most powerful blood-purifier and skin clearer ever discovered, and they never derange the system.

Read what an Iowa man said when he woke up one morning and found he had a new face:

"By George, I never saw anything like it. There I've been for three years trying to get rid of pimples and blackheads, and guess I used everything under the sun. I used your Calcium Wafers for just seven days. This morning every blessed pimple is gone and I can't find a blackhead. I could write you a volume of thanks. I am so grateful to you."

You can depend upon this treatment being a never-failing cure.

Just send us your name and address in full, today, and we will send you a trial package of Stuart's Calcium Wafers, free to test. After you have tried the sample and been convinced that all we say is true, you will go to your nearest druggist and get a 50c box and be cured of your facial trouble. They are in tablet form, and no trouble whatever to take. You go about your work as usual, and there you are—cured and happy.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

to more than $6,000,000, or about one-fifth of the total imports of those islands. This is by no means what it should be, but it is due to the very backward and blind policy in respect the Philippines tariff, which I sincerely hope may be changed in the near future."

The secretary then turned to China, referring briefly to the energy and anxiety that Japan and Germany are showing with reference to the Chinese trade.

"Where we have one consular representative at work," he said, "Japan and Germany have 30 or 40." He added:

"I stop to point out the utter fatuity of the policy of the United States in respect to the salaries and housing of her consular and diplomatic representatives throughout the world.

Could anything be more unrepublican, more plutocratic, than a system of salaries and allowances that bar from the diplomatic corps everyone save millionaires? The erection of a suitable embassy, legation or consulate at every important station in the world, would not only enable the poor man to assume a suitable position, but it would limit the rich man to the same kind of an establishment and prevent that ostentation to which some of our representatives are tempted."

Mr. Taft then turned his attention to China again, but a little later digressed once more to urge the propriety of a ship subsidy for a line of steamers between the Pacific coast, Japan and China.

"If the protective principle is wise," he said, "if it is wise to expend government money in the development of internal waterways, I am unable to see why the improvement of our merchant marine by subsidy is not justifiable, provided the subsidy is open to all who will comply with its provisions."

Unless a girl likes a man she can try mighty hard to make him think she does.

This one thing you believe—"If it is from the Gano-Downs Co. it's correct." You want to be correctly dressed, of course; and you want hand-tailored, perfect fitting garments; but you don't want to pay too much for them.

Our prices range from $15 to $50, the regular clothing prices but our values are exceptionally good; so good that our business grows and grows, so good that if you do the square thing for yourself by giving them a critical and comparative examination, you'll select a suit from our correct and exclusive styles.

has entertained in its day a larger number of the great of the earth, whose plans for social and commercial enterprises and improvements were there matured and executed, than has any other house in America, but perhaps its chief fame will remain in its long association with the Republican party. It is no idle boast to say that it was the judgment which collected in the "amen corner" and there threshed out the the issues of the day, which for a period of many years directed the destinies of the state of New York, wrote its statutes and decreed all its important acts of government.

Has Made and Unmade Presidents.

"I shall not take this time to consider whether the changes that have latterly occurred are reforms, or otherwise. At all events, nobody can take away from the Fifth Avenue hotel the fame that it for years enjoyed as the place where from every city and county in the state, there came and met and conferred the best and strongest minds in the Republican party and the place from which, when their combined judgment had been finally reached, there went the sentiment, in accord with which popular judgment was moulded and put into effect. That sentiment, born of the large experience and considerable judgment of the popular leaders who composed the Republican organization and who habitually assembled here and from where they dispersed throughout the state with a common purpose and a harmonious understanding, has made and unmade presidents and governors, has determined party platforms and policies both in the state and the nation and has exercised a controlling influence upon affairs for a period of time within which the Republican party achieved its greatest successes, and the people of the state their largest measure of prosperity."

Then there were cries for Chauncey and Senator Depew, and he stepped upon the historic bench.

Depew Is Reminiscent.

"I have sat on this bench on and off for 40 years. I have heard many great questions discussed as to what was the capital, and the capital has always been found in this corner. I know governors who thought they did things from the executive chamber, but they were done from the 'amen corner.'

"I have known conventions with 900 delegates who though they would make up the state ticket, but they received their inspiration from the plush seats in the 'amen corner.'

"Many a man who sat on these benches, thought he would be governor, and was glad to get the nomination for assembly. I speak from the venerableness of old age. Years don't count now. What counts is your condition.

"Historic memories like this should be preserved. I saw Blaine, Conkling, Grant and Arthur sit here. I have seen this corner filled with men in uniforms, but at other times by men who wanted to be decorated with uniforms. I do not believe there will ever be a spot in the state or country where so much of influence and power will go out to make for history as the 'amen corner.'"

Tuesday. Both sides are claiming victory tonight.

Alonzo Wilson, chairman of the Illinois Prohibition committee, said in a formal statement:

"It is probable that more than 3,000 saloons would be put out of business and that less than 5,000 square miles in this state will be territory where saloons will be licensed. Fifty counties will be dry and the antisaloon majority in the popular vote will be more than 100,000."

Only a Skirmish.

"Yet the Tuesday vote will be only a skirmish. The real battle will be fought in November. The county districts are crying "clean up Chicago" and state prohibition will be the issue of the next struggle."

Daniel Loeb, president of the Traveling Men's Liberty league, has this to say:

"The public is beginning to realize that temperance is one thing, abstinence is another and that coercion, at which these so-called reformers aim, is a third. Our men report that many towns are in fear of having their leading industries threatened by the enactment of sumptuary laws which will harm glass works, wood working establishments and kindred institutions, to say nothing of breweries and distilleries. I am confident that rational citizens will think twice before being carried away by paid reformers, who seek to destroy and offer nothing in return.

"They are learning that taxes will be raised, in some cases as high as 35 per cent, and that prohibition as enforced in Maine, Kansas and some of the southern states, has been a potent factor in the increase of crime and in the consumption of the vilest kinds of liquors."

An echo of the fight down state has been heard in Chicago this winter, where the antisaloon forces have made efforts to enforce the state law requiring that saloons shall be closed down on Sunday. Thus far, 12 trials have been held, but in none has a verdict of guilty been returned. A few saloon keepers have been acquitted, but most of the cases have resulted in disagreements, this too, despite the fact that the defense has offered no evidence in any of the cases have resulted in disagreements. saloons have been open on Sundays to go on the record and contenting itself with arguments to the juries.

There are people who impress us as always looking for the worst and being terribly disappointed when it doesn't happen.

Merchandising is becoming more and more one of keen competition and the difference in values however slight, are taken advantage of by shrewd buyers and sellers.

To buy and sell goods right. It takes more than money. It takes more than standing. It takes more than public claims. In addition to augers, gimlets and drills it takes ability, taste, a thorough knowledge of merchandise as well as perfect judgment of values. By possession of all these necessary qualifications all the fear of competition is eliminated. This is what we want to convey most impressively to the purchasing public. We fear no competition because we know we are right on the class of merchandise we handle, and are able and willing to give you values not found elsewhere commonly.

Garment Section

NEWS OF THE LOCAL COURTS

Damages in the sum of $5,068.56 were awarded to Mrs. Lola Bernard yesterday by Judge W. S. Morris in the district court, in her suit brought against J. A. Morrison et al. The case was allowed by the defendants to go by default. Mrs. Bernard alleged that she had purchased stock in the Goodspeed Manufacturing company, with the understanding that her purchase was not to hold good unless a certain amount of other stock was subscribed by other parties.

Laura Gibson of Colorado City yesterday appeared in the district court and pleaded guilty to the charge of selling liquor without a license. She was held on five counts. On one of these she was assessed $50 and costs, and on the other four charged only with the costs. Her total fine was $105.40.

The Newton Lumber company was yesterday awarded in the district court judgment in the sum of $109.68 against W. E. Ridgway et al. The case against the Colorado Springs company as one of the defendants was previously dismissed.

A verdict for the defendant was yesterday returned in the district court in the case of the Western Electric company against the El Paso Telephone company.

W. R. RUSIE UNDER ARREST.

Charged With Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses.

Claiming that he misrepresented the status of his business to them, Fred C. Newberry and D. Murray yesterday had W. R. Rusie arrested on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. They said that Rusie had sold to them his restaurant business and fixtures at 124 East Pikes Peak avenue for $300, representing that the property was unincumbered. Subsequently they found that Rusie owed debts on which the property was liable. Rusie was arrested by Constable W. P. Larrabee and will be given trial in Justice Rubra's court.

WATERSHEDS REQUIRED

Serious Problem Confronting Engineers Is Silting and Destruction of Artificial Bodies of Water.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—One of the most serious problems confronting engineers today is the silting and destruction of large and costly reservoirs for the development of power, irrigation works and other purposes. Foresters have always pointed out that forests exert a beneficial influence in lessening erosion and silting and that filling of reservoirs can be prevented only by the protection of watersheds. A letter to Forester Pinchot from J. B. Lippincott, consulting engineer of the city of Santa Barbara, Cal., throws light on this subject. Mr. Lippincott writes:

"It was determined that the city should excavate a tunnel through the Santa Ynez mountains back of the town. This tunnel will be 19,600 feet long and is now nearly half finished. It is proposed then to build a storage reservoir on the river, impound flood waters and discharge them through the tunnel to the coastal plain around the city. The one grave question was the silting up of any reservoir that we would build, as the river was very muddy in flood, and samples of flood water sent to the geological survey gave results that were rather discouraging. Consequently, the city bought two reservoir sites so as to use the second in case the first was destroyed ultimately by silting. The city also appealed to the forest service for assistance. The Santa Ynez reserve was created, private lands largely eliminated from our drainage basin and a vigorous policy was inaugurated by the forest service to prevent fires and overgrazing.

"For the past three years we have had no fires in the basin above our proposed diversion point and overgrazing has been prevented, sheep and goats being entirely excluded. During the past three years we have also had good rains, giving vegetation a good chance to grow.

"I have just returned from an inspection trip to the river. It was in moderate flood, discharging about 500 second feet from its basin of 229 square miles above our diversion point. The river was as clear as one of the high Sierra streams. There was practically no silt in it. Over three inches of rain had fallen during the week. The higher peaks were covered with snow, which may in part have aided the stream. None of us had ever before seen the Santa Ynez clear in flood before."

WON'T HURT RAILWAYS

NEW LEGISLATION IS NOT REGARDED INJURIOUS.

General Solicitor for Great Northern Says Roads Have Nothing to Fear at People's Hands.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 4.—W. B. Begg, general solicitor of the Great Northern railway, Jas. J. Hill's system, and for years the dominating factor in the Northwestern railway situation, declares in an authorized interview given today that the mass of new legislation in the various states will not in the long run harm the railways. Is a remarkably clear statement which is significant because of its manifest authority, Mr. Begg says:

"We should not be dismayed at the mass of legislation aimed at railroads. Generally speaking, the railroads have nothing to fear from the people. First, because most men intend to be fair, and to respect the private property in railroads and to allow a proper return upon the value of these properties. In the second place, the people's own interest demands fair treatment of railroads. These great highways of commerce are as important for the prosperity of the country and for the interchange of products of farms and factories as are the circulating medium and the banks. Faulty railroad laws, which impair the security of the investment in railroads and discourage further investment, must in the end cripple the service, impair the usefulness of these highways, impede the interchange of commodities, destroy confidence and thus injure the people in the same manner and to as great an extent as faulty financial legislation would injure them. The railroads cannot suffer alone. If any of the regulations now imposed by law prove to be unwise and work real injury to the railroads, the action of economic forces will bring about the modification or repeal of these regulations. The faults of railroad legislation will be discovered as readily as the faults of legislation for other business enterprises.

"The hostility of the public towards railroads, if it exists, is largely due to misunderstanding. The people do not understand railroad conditions. They do not realize the immense amount of money necessarily expended in creating and perfecting these highways so as to make them suitable for the efficient handling of the great volume of traffic moving over them during the past few years, nor the amount which must still be expended to increase their efficiency in order to handle the increasing traffic resulting from the country's growth. They do not appreciate that the owners of railways receive a lower return on the value of their property than do those engaged in other lines of business. They do not understand that the delay in the movement of freight, and inability to secure cars as promptly as desired has been due to the fact that the facilities of the railroads have been taxed beyond their capacity, and that even if cars had been furnished they could not have been moved. A great majority of the people have been too much engrossed with their own affairs and the upbuilding of their own enterprises to examine into these matters. Investigations now in progress by state commissioners for the purpose of determining the value of railroads and for other purposes, the investigations of the interstate commerce commission and the reports required by the commissioners of the carriers will do much to educate the public and to remove erroneous impressions which have been spread abroad by persons having little knowledge of the facts and biased by some personal interest. The fact that the books of carriers are now open to the inspection of the interstate commerce commission is a guarantee that no questionable practices can in the future be indulged in. The people are not hostile to conditions which really exist. They are hostile to supposed conditions which they have been led to believe exist. It is for the members of business organizations and for the railroads to set the people right and to clear up misunderstandings."

He suggested an amendment to the bill under discussion, similar in terms to the one the labor organizations tried to have incorporated in the Sherman act when it originally passed Congress.

Working Men Outraged.

"The working men of the country," he continued, "feel that they have been outraged, that their interests have been invaded. In the interests of the workingman and woman, I make this appeal to you. We cannot wait much longer for relief. If I judge the temper of the American workingman correctly, and I think I do, he is going to hold to a strict accountability the men or parties who fail to fairly respond to this urgent appeal."

In reply to a question by Mr. Littlefield, Mr. Gompers admitted that the amendment he had proposed would relieve organized labor from the operation of the decision of the supreme court in the hatters case.

"Do you, as a representative of organized labor, favor the boycott?" asked Mr. Littlefield.

"I do, sir," replied Mr. Gompers.

"And your organization stands and contends for that, does it not?"

Will Fight for Their Rights.

Mr. Gompers concluded his argument with the statement that the men and women of organized labor purpose to fight for their rights and that he purposes to fight for them.

A. B. Garretson of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, spoke in advocacy of the proposed legislation, as also did Theodore Marburg of Baltimore. During the course of his argument, Mr. Marburg gave as the principal causes of the recent financial panic, "the crazy policy of the attack upon railroads, both by federal and state legislation, and the undeserved and revengeful fine of $29,000,000 put upon the Standard Oil company."

The committee adjourned until Monday morning, when the opponents of the measure will be heard.

ST. LOUIS, April 4.—Byron Nugent, president of the B. Nugent & Brothers Dry Goods company, and well known as a business man over the country, died at his home here today, aged 66 years.

SOCIALISTS BRIDLE TONGUES

Are Careful What They Say at Big New York Meeting—Not in Sympathy With Bomb Thrower.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Without semblance of disorder and under the surveillance of scores of police and detectives, 1,500 persons took part in a meeting of the Socialist party in the Grand Central palace today. The purpose of the gathering was to discuss the attitude of authorities in not permitting them to hold a public meeting in Union square last Saturday, and to let it be known that the socialists were not in sympathy with the act of the bomb thrower.

The police had warned the speakers against violent utterances, and the speeches were mild. Robert Hunter, the socialist who had been announced as one of the speakers, did not appear. Resolutions were passed denouncing the city officials for failing to give work to the unemployed and for withholding permission for the meeting in Union square.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The president today confirmed the sentence of dismissal imposed by court-martial, in the case of First Lieut. Dexter Sturgess, Thirteenth United States cavalry, as a result of his conviction of financial irregularities and false statements.

No More Stout Corsets

"I had to wear a 28 corset three and a half months ago," remarked a well-known south side club woman at the Biennial last night. "Yesterday I bought a 24, and I have it on now." She turned a smiling, beautifully colored countenance on the group of wondering women. "No!" she answered, in reply to the query, "I didn't have to exercise or diet. I got ½ ounce Marmola, ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 3½ ounces Syrup Simplex at the druggist's, mixed them myself at home and took a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime. It made me lose 12 to 16 ounces of fat a day—just where I needed it, the most. There isn't a sign of a wrinkle either. It takes off the fat where you want it off without forming bags of flabby flesh."

In making mistakes the supply surely exceeds the demand.

A Reliable Remedy for the

Whiskey and Beer Habit

Very few men become drunkards because they like liquor. It is frequently the moderate drinker, who before he realizes his condition, has become a drunkard. The nervous system, having become accustomed to stimulants, is unable to do the same amount or quality of work without liquor, hence the victim drinks more and more. This is a state of disease and should be treated by Orrine. It destroys the desire for liquor, so that the drink is not missed. There is no loss of time or detention from work when it is used.

Orrine is prepared in two forms: No. 1, the secret remedy which can be used in food or drink without the knowledge of the patient; No. 2 for those who take the remedy of their own free will. Both forms are guaranteed. A registered guarantee in every box.

Treatise on how to cure drunkenness free on request. The Orrine Co., Washington, D. C. The price of either form is $1 a box, making the cost of the complete cure less than one-tenth what it is usually charged at sanitariums, with a guarantee that the expense will be nothing unless a cure is obtained. Mail orders filled in plain sealed package on receipt of price.

by the Maryland of the Pacific fleet. The battleships and armored cruisers are considered in the same class in the computation of target records.

The fact that none of the big armor belt ships from the Atlantic has broken the Maryland's record does not mean that they have not done splendid work.

In fact, it is declared that scores, when given out at the navy department in Washington, will show a higher average of hits per minute than ever before attained by the navy. The Kentucky, Virginia, Connecticut, Louisiana and Minnesota are looked upon as likely to head the list of Atlantic ships. Some of these ships, it is believed, will be found to have made the wonderful record of averaging more than six hits per minute per gun, this average including the scores of the big event and 12-inch turret rifles. Record target practice with the target anchored 1,600 yards away at the apex of a triangle, really means a test in the facility of firing. It is not the number of hits that count—the navy has got beyond the mere question of puncturing the targets—but the number of "hits per minute."

The auxiliary cruiser Buffalo, which arrived yesterday with mail from the fleet, left for Magdalena bay again at 1 o'clock, carrying the usually large number of mail pouches directed to the 16 ships already in the bay and a great quantity of letters, magazines and papers to the torpedo flotilla, which is hourly expected to report its arrival at the drill grounds. The Buffalo will leave Magdalena bay again on the eighth instant, sailing directly for Mare Island with empty shell cases and condemned powder from the fleet.

ASK FOR INVESTIGATION

STOCK GROWERS WANT CATTLE OF COUNTY INSPECTED.

Declare That Dipping Order Is Unnecessary as Regards This Section of State.

Following the general sentiment among livestock growers of El Paso county to protest the order compelling them to dip all cattle on the ranges east of the Colorado and Southern tracks in El Paso county, a special meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the district court rooms in the court house, at which action in the matter was taken.

The meeting lasted for more than three hours, all of the different phases of the case being discussed by the 50 members of the El Paso County Stock Growers association who were present.

It was decided to abide by the present ruling regarding the dipping of El Paso county cattle, pending the findings of Dr. Lowell Clarke of Denver, government cattle inspector for this district. He will be asked to make a thorough inspection of the cattle in the section of El Paso county referred to. It is believed that a clean bill of health can be shown for all the cattle in this section, and if this is true, the Stock Growers association will ask for a revocation of the order.

Charles G. Lamb, state veterinary surgeon, and E. McCrillis, secretary of the state board of inspection, were present from Denver and addressed the meeting, also answering questions put by the stock men. It was largely upon their suggestions that it was decided to appeal to Dr. Clarke. A committee was appointed to invite Dr. Clarke to make an inspection of El Paso county cattle at the earliest possible date in order that the matter may be brought before the next meeting of the state board of inspection, which will be held April 20. The committee consists of Lem Gammon, Charles Hobb and Charles Love.

"THE VIRGINIAN" GOOD AS EVER

Frank Campeau as Trampas Star of Play—Hart Compares Favorably With Farnum.

The learned critics will tell you, dear reader, that "The Virginian" is of very little value as a piece of dramatic work, however good the book may be as a novel. They say that it "has the faults common to all book plays," that it is loosely constructed, inartistic, etc. The answer is—go to see it. If it fails to arouse your keen interest in the first act, hold you spellbound in the third (good old phrase, that) and leave you gasping in the fourth—then you have a right to say that "The Virginian" is a poor play.

It isn't worth while to describe the play in detail, for it has been seen here twice before its appearance last night. As to its popularity, it is sufficient to remark that every seat in the house was sold at both the second and third performances. The company this year is but little changed since last season's tour, the principal difference being in the substitution of W. S. Hart for Dustin Farnum in the leading role. Mr. Hart's work is uniformly strong, and he has no reason to fear comparisons with his predecessor. But Frank Campeau is, as he always has been, the bright particular star of "The Virginian" cast, even though he is not featured as such. Campeau has been playing the part of Trampas, the cattle rustler, since the first production of the piece. His work can scarcely be praised too highly. He is the swaggering, blustering, devil-may-care scoundrel, a coward at heart but a dangerous man just the same, and he both looks and acts the part every minute he is on the stage. There are a score of actors at the head of their own companies who cannot compare with Campeau in point of merit, and the wonder is that this fine artist has not been starred long ago.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB BLOWOUT

Many Out-of-Town Guests Entertained Last Night.

With members of other clubs and friends of the members as guests, the Democratic club last night kept open house at its rooms in the Durkee building, 33-35 East Pikes Peak avenue. There was no political significance attached to the affair, in spite of the fact that some of the leading lights of Democracy were present from other parts of the state. The reason for their presence was the invitation sent some time ago by the Democratic club to come to town for a visit.

Among the guests of the evening were Julius Aichele and H. E. Insley of Denver. Though they are both hard-working Speer lieutenants, they could not resist the temptation to come to Colorado Springs for the occasion, but had to hurry back to take part in some political meetings that are scheduled to come off in the city of the Platte at an early date.

There was no lack of entertainment for the guests of the club. There was something for the inner man in nearly all forms known to the caterer's art, while the outer man was regaled with the "real noise" as far as the law would allow in the form of athletics. Several "Kid" somethings did stunts with their dukes in imitation of Battling Nelson in his best days. Other features of the entertainment were provided by some of the performers appearing at the Empire theater last week. Everything was thoroughly informal, and the only difficulty experienced was in taking care of the large number attending.

OSBORNE IN LIMELIGHT

Appeals to Denver Courts to Protect Him From Woman.

"I want dem presents back," is the tenor of proceedings instituted by a Colorado Springs man in Denver to readjust his material affairs after a quarrel with the woman with whom it is said he has been living. H. D. Osborne, who formerly conducted a cigar store in the El Paso Bank building, has sought the Denver courts to protect his furniture in a Denver apartment house from Miss Goldie Ergenbright, formerly a hair dresser of this city. The pair quarreled and separated, thus laying bare to the world sordid details of their lives that might have remained generally unknown had not the courts been appealed to.

CANCER IS CURABLE

S. E. RUSSELL, Merced, Cal.
"The Cancer on My Face Is Well."
A THING WORTH KNOWING.
No need of cutting off a woman's breast or a man's cheek or nose in a vain attempt to cure cancer. No use of applying burning plasters to the flesh and torturing those already weak from suffering.
TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
There is no disease that afflicts the human family so malignant or so loathsome and so much to be dreaded as cancer, and unless cured always proves fatal. I have been afflicted for the last three years with a cancer on the side of my nose. I had heard of and wrote to Dr. Bye of Kansas City, describing my case. He answered by saying he could cure it in one month. I ordered the treatment and applied it myself at home under his directions, and in about thirty days the cancer came out and is now nicely healing. I suffered no pain. The remedy was Combination oils. I was changed from a nervous and despondent man of 60 years old to a happy and thankful one. No ordinary physician can cure cancer. It requires the services of an extraordinary specialist, and Dr. Bye of Kansas City, Mo., is that specialist whose practice in the treatment of cancer and all malignant diseases has built up for him a wide reputation and an exclusive practice.
I would say to any one afflicted with cancer to give it his immediate attention before it is too late. I would even go so far as to say to the poor man to sell his only cow and send for the treatment, for he had better lose the cow than his life. I write these few lines unsolicited and strictly in the interest of the afflicted.
Any letter or letters addressed to me will be carefully examined and answered by inclosing a stamp for return postage and will give the names of one or two business men who knew me before and after I was cured. Address me, R. F. D. No. 2, Box 24, St. Joseph, Mo.

ALBRIGHT HAD NO CASE

And Was Forced by Court to Pay Costs of Action.

J. H. A. Albright, principal of the school at Monument, Colo., had a rather humiliating session in the court of Justice Dunnington yesterday morning. On his complaint, five youngsters of his school were brought into court on the charge of disturbing the peace. Instead of the boys being punished, as was expected by the principal of the school, they were dismissed and the charges of the case, amounting to $40, were assessed against the complaining witness.

According to the story of Albright, the youths he named—R. Barnhardt, D. McShanem, H. Mercer, A. Newbrough and J. Higby—had repeatedly disturbed the meetings of the Monument Dramatic club. The evidence failed to convince the court that the boys had disturbed the peace, but on the contrary, it appeared to the court that Mr. Albright had acted maliciously in attempting to prosecute the boys.

Sensational Sale of 1000 Lingerie Waists

Ranging in value up to $6.00 at a saving of 50c to $2 on each waist

Best $1.50 Waists on the market for	$1.00
Best $2.00 Waists on the market for	$1.50
Best $2.50, $2.75 and $3 Waists for	$2.00
Best $3.50, $4 and $4.50 Waists for	$3.00
Best $5.00, $5.50 and $6 Waists for	$4.00

These garments are all new and fresh—being a freight shipment made up for a Western house, but not shipped to them on account of unsatisfactory financial arrangements. We secured this lot at prices so low that we can retail them at a profit, at about what dealers buying a few dozens at a time pay for such values. These goods come from one of our regular houses and are in no sense trash or plunder. Dozens of styles and dozens of every size to start this sale which continues all the week of April 6 to 11. Our showing of better grades of Lingerie Waists, ranging at $7.50, $10.00, $12.50, $15.00, $20.00 and upwards, is the most extensive we have ever made. You are invited to inspect our entire line.

Wilbur Hats -- Satisfactory Hats

Satisfactory in price, satisfactory in style, satisfactory in quality. There's more real satisfaction in wearing a Wilbur hat costing $3 to $10 than in wearing the average hat costing two or three times these prices, but taken from the general run of hat stocks. That's why "wearers of Wilbur hats are never quite satisfied with other kinds."
ORDERS FOR EASTER DELIVERY should be placed as soon as possible. The rush is now on so we respectfully ask that you give us all the time possible.
WILBUR HAT PRICES RANGE $3, $5, $7, $10, $12, $15, $20 and UPWARDS TO $65.

JONAH BIKE GONE AGAIN

MAY BE MEANS OF SENDING THIRD MAN TO PEN.

Two Doing Time and Another Likely to Go Over Road for Stealing This Wheel.

With the disappearance of the Columbia bicycle, belonging to E. H. Joslyn, from the alley in the rear of The Gazette building last night, all persons prone to appropriate wheels are warned not to "touch, taste or handle" this machine, as dire consequences are likely to result.

While the wheel is ordinary in appearance, it has a record for causing more trouble to evil doers than any machine of its kind in the state. There are two persons at present bemoaning the moment when it tempted them to ways that are wicked, one being in the penitentiary at Canon City and the other at the reform school at Buena Vista.

Regardless of this record, some one again stole the wheel last night. According to the superstition entertained by the Sultan of Sulu and other leading lights in current history, "what is twice is thrice," so that the individual who last night copped the Jonah wheel will certainly lose his liberty for a time and join in the song of sorrow that is now the hourly portion of the other two who tried to get away with it.

Its History in Detail.

In order to give the thief a chance to return his plunder, Mr. Joslyn has told the story of the first two attempts to deprive him of his bike. The first effort was made about a year ago when a person of Swedish extraction thought the wheel looked like ready money to him. He sold the prize and got drunk on the proceeds. He was arrested by a policeman who had no thought of preferring any other charge than that of being intoxicated. But the victim couldn't stand prosperity. He apparently didn't relish the odium of being taken to jail on so petty a charge and in an unguarded moment told the officer about the stealing of the wheel, trying to lay the blame on another. Investigation led to his being sent to the penitentiary for a term from one to two years.

Colored Youth Yields.

The wheel reposed gracefully in its accustomed haunts for quite a while after that episode. Then it caught the rolling eye of a colored youth. He did not have his rabbit foot with him and disaster followed. The junk dealer to whom he sold it told the tale to the court, with the result that the dark complexioned kleptomaniac was sent to the state reform school to meditate over the evil of his ways.

Now the wheel is gone again. The police have the description, the number and other means of identification. There will be something doing soon for the person who took it. Beware of the innocent looking bike that has a record of having sent two men over the road.

TEACHERS MUST BE GOOD

New Ruling Made at Conference. Mrs. Stote Honored.

According to a ruling made at the state conference of institute instructors, conductors and superintendents, that has just closed a three days' session in Denver, the teachers enjoying a membership in this organization must keep their reputations clear of suspicion or suffer the pain of expulsion.

The resolution was adopted at yesterday morning's session and is as follows:

"Whenever a member's reputation shall become such as to discredit the teacher's calling he shall be expelled by the executive committee until his reputation is cleared of reproach."

Among the vice presidents of the organization chosen before adjournment is Mrs. W. R. Stote of Colorado Springs. Katherine Craig, state superintendent of instruction, is ex-officio president of the association.

MEETING POSTPONED—The special meeting for women which was to have been held this evening at the First Baptist church, has been postponed until next Sunday night on account of the Bryan lectures. At the meeting next Sunday the pastor, the Rev. J. H. Franklin, will give the story-sermon, "The Lady of the Decoration." No service will be held at the church this evening on account of the Bryan lectures.

THE HOOSIER FIGHTER AT FAIRYLAND

Has proved to be the best and most interesting picture presented since the opening of this new amusement parlor. Mr. Braden has received several requests to run this film again next week, but as arrangements have already been made for a change of films, it will be necessary to run the one now ordered. However, it is Mr. Braden's intention to run "The Hoosier Fighter" film again very soon. The hearty indorsement and increasing patronage is noticeable at every performance. Mr. Braden has just added 50 more chairs, for the accommodation of his patrons. The films for Monday and Tuesday will be entirely new and very interesting. Mr. Harry Van will sing "When the Old Mill Turns."

Better Than Spanking.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, South Bend, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child. The chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

BIG MINING SUIT THREATENED

Work, Jack Pot and Work Companies May Have Apex Fight.

A rumor in mining circles is to the effect that a suit for apex rights may be brought by the Doctor-Jack Pot Mining company against the Work Mining company, the claim being that the vein from which the Work company has profited largely on the Little Clara ground, has its apex in the Lucky Corner, belonging to the Doctor-Jack Pot company.

Officials of both companies are reticent regarding the report, and it is generally believed that the claims of the plaintiff company will be amicably settled out of court, as neither company is favorably disposed toward expensive litigation.

SEVERAL LIVES ENDANGERED

Serious Accident in Midland Yards. Freight Cars Are Jammed Into End of Shop.

An accident in the Colorado Midland yards, which occurred yesterday morning, endangered the lives of several employes of the company. The crew was switching cars in the yards, and at a point a few yards distant from the blacksmith shop, three freight cars were bumped with such force that they were thrown off the track and jammed into the end of the shop, where the forges are situated and several employed. Fortunately no one was seriously injured. The building, although built of steel, was badly damaged. The end was torn out and the roof caved considerably, owing to the lack of support. The damage amounts to several hundred dollars.

COLORADO CITY NEWS NOTES.

D. C. Mosher's Sunday school class of young men, of the First Congregational church, will give an entertainment in the church Thursday evening, April 16, for the benefit of the church debt. The class has pledged $25 and expects to raise the amount in this way. According to an arrangement with the Home Mission organization, if the church raises $1,000 before July 1, the Mission will give the church $2,000. If this amount of money is secured, the church will be placed on a firm financial basis.

Al Perrine of this city, and J. A. Himebaugh of Colorado Springs, left last night for Leadville to investigate the new rich strike which has been made in the Fanny Rawling mine at that place. Messrs. Perrine and Himebaugh, as well as many other prominent citizens of this town, are heavily interested in the mine.

Extensive improvements have been completed in the St. Mary's church. The gallery has been strengthened and redecorated. The walls and ceiling of the church have been kalsomined and refrescoed. The whole interior has been remodeled and the church is now one of the finest in the city.

John J. McCorkell, manager of Mack's catering and confectioners' company in this city, has secured a year's lease on the Wascott opera house, and will continue to run it as heretofore.

The weekly meeting of the Mission Study class of the First M. E. church will be held tomorrow night at the First M. E. church.

George W. Cook, a real estate man of this city, will leave tomorrow morning on a business trip to Avondale, Colorado.

THE SANITARY DAIRY

The Sanitary Dairy is one of the few large concerns that considers the financial health as well as the physical health of its customers. The recent panic has curtailed the income of a great many and the rise in prices has caused all sorts of self-denial by the working people. To meet this state of affairs the Sanitary Dairy has lowered the price of milk. By doing this the living expenses of the working classes have been materially reduced. Milk is one of the best health foods known to mankind, if it is pure. The methods employed by the Sanitary Dairy company in handling the tremendous quantities consumed by their customers insures absolute purity. Every new invention that will aid in the proper handling of milk is immediately installed. From the time the cows are milked nothing but sterilized can and bottles are used. Expert cattlemen look after the food given the cattle and they are under watchful eyes every minute of the day. No one can be too careful in the selection of their dairy. The Sanitary Dairy has the reputation among the medical men of Colorado Springs of being an ideal dairy. The motto of the company is "Cleanliness, First, Last and Always."

ELSTUN BACK FROM HOLLY

Says Prospects for All Kinds of Crops Are Excellent.

George S. Elstun, proprietor of the Alamo hotel, returned yesterday from a week spent on his ranch near Holly, in the Arkansas valley. Mr. Elstun shares the enthusiasm of all farmers in that section over the outlook for the coming season. The weather conditions so far have been exceptionally good and excellent crops in all lines are expected. The fruit trees are later in budding this year, giving indications of a large yield.

Manitou News

The Rev. Mr. Neely, who was formerly the pastor of the Congregational church, arrived in Manitou last evening and will occupy the pulpit of the church this morning and evening, speaking on "Local Option."

Mrs. Fred Lowther was hostess last Thursday afternoon for the ladies of the Missionary Tea. During the business session the following were appointed as a flower committee: Mrs. Meader, Mrs. D. H. Hughes and Mrs. F. Frey. It was decided that the regular day of meeting be changed from the last Thursday of the month to the following Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Studeman, who left last October for a visit in Minnesota, returned Thursday to Manitou, accompanied by Miss Edith Huffgan, a friend from Minnesota, who will remain here for a time for her health.

STORE GROWTH.

Despite the fact that we have just passed through a financial flurry, and despite competitive complaint of a backward season, etc., the Hibbard Store is showing a notable gain in volume of business done, over a year ago. This might be considered remarkable by some, but we do not consider it so. Since its very beginning this business has steadily forged ahead, each succeeding season showing an increase over the previous one.

Part of the reason, of course, is the growth of the city; but the real and soundest reason is that we never sell goods not calculated to bring the customer back again.

We are overly careful about merchandise that passes from our hands to you, i. e., we buy only from the most reliable manufacturers, importers and dealers; we never offer seconds or inferior qualities of merchandise merely to bring down the price. Quality is the keynote of the Hibbard Store's success.

To have the quality of our merchandise high, the prices low and the details of store service as good as we can possibly make them, are conditions for which we have striven, and on which we base the success of this business.

There are faults sometimes. There always will be faults, so long as it is human to err, and we must depend on humanity. But the disposition of this business is to eliminate faults wherever possible, and the desire is to correct them immediately as soon as they occur.

We are prone to believe that the HIBBARD POLICY is the RIGHT POLICY, and that its principles will determine in the future, as in the past, a congenial and satisfactory relationship between this business and its patrons.

FRIDAY SALES.

Friday Sales at Hibbard's have come to be recognized as the leading bargain events of the week. They are ardently looked forward to by the truly economically inclined; the values are most extraordinary, which has had much to do with the remarkable response to our advertisements. None other than truthful, legitimate advertising is tolerated by the Hibbard Store management.

In all lines of retail merchandising Friday is proverbially the dullest day of the week—that is why we have selected same for our Bargain Day, and we are going to feature Friday Bargain Days more and more each successive week, from now on. For full particulars watch for our announcements in the Thursday evening Telegraph and the Friday morning Gazette.

For the benefit of our patrons so that none will be disappointed—we advise forenoon shopping on Fridays, as many of the specials will not last till afternoon. This will be found particularly the case when the weather is favorable for shoppers to be out early in the morning.

A Pre-Easter Millinery Sale

60 New Spring Models at a Reduction of 25%

To advance early buying and to avoid, as much as possible, the inevitable Millinery rush of the last week before Easter, we have arranged to make it particularly worth while for you to make your selections this week.

Tomorrow morning, and all the week while they last, we will offer 60 stylish Spring trimmed hats, in dress and street styles at a reduction of 25%. There are some exceedingly stylish large and medium sized hats in the lot; the prices are marked at $3.75 to $12.00, from which we will, this week, allow a discount of 25%.

NEW ARRIVALS IN THE MILLINERY SECTION Our Millinery Department is about the busiest place in the store these days, almost every day there are new arrivals being added to the displays of trimmed hats, as well as untrimmed hats, and millinery supplies of all kinds. If you don't care to get a new hat just now, bring in the old one and let us estimate the cost of remodeling same—which we assure you will be most reasonable.

Are You Deformed or Crippled?

Read What Mr. Bleakney Has to Say About the Cure of His Son.

The boy was deformed, crippled, could not walk, was helpless.

Dr. Marvin Sanitarium,
St. Louis, Mo.

Gentlemen: The boy has no trouble whatever. He uses an ordinary shoe and is the envy of our friends as well as the doctors who first treated him are unable to decide which was the crippled foot. The physician has examined the foot and says it has every movement of a normal foot and that he considers it a sure cure.

I send the boy's picture taken and you can see how even a foot looks when the foot hanging down was the crippled foot and you will notice how natural it is.

I will always have a warm spot in my heart and I never will forget the kindness shown my wife and boy while there with you. Yours truly,

W. J. BLEAKNEY.

WELL KNOWN WESTERNER'S TRIP

Writes to Local Friend of Eastern Conditions.

George W. Whittaker of the John Sullman company, of San Francisco, who has just returned from a trip east, as far as New York city, gives an interesting account in a letter to a friend received here yesterday of the business conditions he discovered on his trip.

Of special interest to westerners is the news which one paragraph of Mr. Whittaker's letter announces with regard to the flattering success being gained throughout the east by that favorite product, Imperiales Cigarettes.

Mr. Whittaker found that westerners traveling eastward took along their taste for Imperiales with them and have remained so loyal that more and more dealers are finding it necessary to keep a supply of Imperiales Cigarettes on hand. He is pleased to find them on sale as far east as New York city itself.

"It's just another proof," writes Mr. Whittaker, "that you can't keep the good western product down any more than you can a good man. The admiration for the westerners who have made big successes in the east in every branch of business, and especially in the theatrical and literary fields, is one of the most pleasing things a loyal western man comes across in the east.

"And I was especially pleased, personally, to find that this appreciation of western success extended along the line until it reached our popular Imperiales."

The watchmaker should have a good memory for faces.

HOTEL RAMONA TO OPEN EARLY IN JUNE

"Hotel Ramona, the popular resort in beautiful Cascade canon, on the Colorado Midland, will open for the tourist season about June 10, under the management of C. E. Heizer. Improvements to the extent of $10,000 are now being made in the buildings and grounds. The large Hotel Ramona is being painted a rich yellow color with white trimmings and red roof, thus improving greatly the general appearance of the building. The interior is being redecorated in many cases while the dining room and kitchen are being enlarged so as to increase the facilities made necessary by the constantly growing trade enjoyed by the hotel.

A large amount of grading and parking is being done around the grounds, evergreen trees being planted in abundance close to the buildings. Beautiful walks and driveways are laid out with artistic stone arched bridges crossing the streams. A number of three to five-room modern cottages are being built adjacent to the hotel. These are to be rented completely furnished, to the summer visitors. For the amusement of the guests a baseball diamond is to be laid out, new tennis courts built and the old golf links repaired. These, together with trout fishing, mountain climbing, horseback riding and driving, are the pastime pleasures. The large dancing pavilion is being moved to a more convenient location near the hotel.

Mr. Heizer has been fortunate in securing several conventions to meet at Cascade canon this year.

On June 12 the convention of college Y. M. C. A. boys, with representatives from Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Arizona, Utah, New Mexico and Colorado, will meet at Cascade canon. About 300 are expected to attend. On July 10 the college Y. W. C. A. girls will also hold their convention at Cascade canon. They will be represented by delegates from Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Arizona, Utah, New Mexico, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas and Colorado. The indications are that about 400 will attend. The Colorado Baptist Summer assembly, which was established permanently at Cascade canon last season, will hold its session for 1908 on July 31 to 31.

SPRING CLOTHING DISPLAY AT ROBBINS.

One of the most extensive showings of clothing ever seen in this city is now on display at Robbins' on the corner. New snappy styles, exclusive patterns, a varied assortment of the season's most popular shades are found in profusion. These garments coming as they do from the old reliable manufacturers, such as Hart, Schaffner and Marx; Rogers, Peet & Co., Kuppenheimer, etc., represent the highest art in tailoring. It is not too early to look over these new lines as the stock is now fresh and complete and you are sure to find just what you are looking for at the Robbins Co.

EARLY MORNING DEATH.

Mrs. H. J. Dennis, wife of the well known Rock Island conductor, died at 4 o'clock this morning at St. Francis hospital.

COMMON SENSE

Is the most intelligent people to use only medicines of known composition. Therefore it is that Dr. Pierce's medicines, the makers of which print every ingredient entering into them upon the bottle wrappers and attest its correctness under oath, are daily growing in favor. The composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines is open to everybody. Mr. Pierce, being desirous of having the search into investigation turned full upon his formulæ, being confident that the better the composition of his medicines is known the more will their great curative merits be recognized. Being wholly made of the active medicinal principles extracted from native forest roots, by exact processes original with Dr. Pierce, and without the use of a drop of alcohol, triple-refined and chemically pure glycerine being used instead in extracting and preserving the curative virtues residing in the roots employed, these medicines are entirely free from the objection of doing harm by creating an appetite for either alcoholic beverages or habit-forming drugs. Examine the formula on their bottle wrappers—the same as sworn to by Dr. Pierce, and you will find that his "Golden Medical Discovery," the great, blood-purifier, stomach tonic and bowel regulator—the medicine which, while not recommended to cure consumption in its advanced stages, no medicine will do that, yet does cure all those catarrhal conditions of head and throat, weak stomach, liver and kindred troubles, weak lungs and hang-on-coughs, which, if neglected or but temporarily treated lead up to and finally culminate in consumption.

Take the "Golden Medical Discovery" in time and it is not likely to disappoint you if only you give it a thorough and fair trial. Don't expect miracles. It will do supernatural things. You must use it for a reasonable length of time to get its full benefits. The ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed have the unqualified endorsement of scores of leading medical men, far better than any amount of lay, or non-professional, testimonials, which are not given away to be exploited by all druggists in

CITY BRIEFS

DEATH—Mrs. David Nelson, 1096 South Nevada avenue, died yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

MARRIAGE LICENSE—Benjamin Hemmens of New Haven, Conn., and [illegible] Dollister of this city, secured a marriage license in Denver yesterday.

BOARD MEETING—The last regular meeting of the present board of education will be held Tuesday evening, at which time a special committee will be appointed to investigate compulsory drill in the High School.

BROTHERHOOD MEETING—The regular meeting of the Brotherhood of the Second Presbyterian church will be held this morning immediately after the class at the morning service. All members are urged to attend.

FUNERAL—The funeral of Gertrude, the two-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Bradberg, will be held from the residence, 218 West Bijou street, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery.

WALK UP PEAK—J. F. Cramer and H. Brown of Colorado College walked up Pikes Peak Friday and returned by way of the pipe line. It required six hours going up and three coming back. They found six to 12 feet of snow just above Windy Point.

BIRTH—Word has been received in this city of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. William A. Frenaye, formerly of this city. Mr. Frenaye was city editor of The Gazette several years ago. At present he represents William P. Bonbright and company on the New York Stock exchange.

TYPOGRAPHICAL BALL—The first annual ball of the Colorado Springs Typographical union No. 82, and the City of Sunshine auxiliary No. 42, will be held on Easter Monday, April 20, in the ball room of the Antlers hotel. Those who anticipate going are requested to purchase their tickets at once.

FIRE ESCAPES—The matter of additional fire escapes for the city school buildings will come up for further consideration at the regular meeting of board of school directors to be held next Tuesday night. It is expected that the committee appointed to investigate this matter will have a further report to make.

APPOINTED MEMBER—L. L. Radford, assistant secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has been elected a member of the board of directors of the Colorado Baptist Summer assembly, which meets at Cascade in July, instead of a delegate, as stated previously. The outlook for a large attendance at this convention is encouraging.

WOOLSEY TO DIRECT—Dr. Charles Woolsey will assume charge of the music of the First Baptist church this morning, directing the choir of 30 voices. Miss Elsie Hicks will be at the organ. The program will consist of the following numbers: "The Heavens Are Telling," Haydn; "Weary of Earth," Camp. The sermon will be on "The Family Altar."

DEATH—Patrick Byron died at noon Thursday at his home, 1925 North Cooper avenue, at the age of 75 years. He was an old soldier and a member of the Eighth Pennsylvania regiment. He has a son, Edward Byron, who is a lessee at the Independence mine. The funeral will be held this afternoon from the Fleming undertaking establishment. All members of the G. A. R. are invited to attend. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery.

RECTOR DENIES CHARGES

Another Chapter Written in Sensational Divorce Suit.

Elmer Rector yesterday filed an answer to the charges of his wife, Pearl Rector, in her complaint asking for a divorce. He denies the charges in full. At the same time a stipulation was filed in the district court stating that an agreement had been reached concerning alimony.

Mrs. Rector, in filing her suit a month ago, charged her husband with acts of brutality, declaring that he had struck her with his fists, had torn her clothes and had cursed and abused her until she had become unable to sleep, had lost her health and been compelled to abandon her home. She declared that her husband was earning $140 a month, a large portion of which he squandered, and asked the court to restrain him from leaving the city.

The couple were married in this city on December 2, 1906.

ECZEMA PATIENT LOST HOPE.

But Ordinary Oil of Wintergreen Quickly Cured This Woman.

After treating for Eczema with six different doctors, Mrs. J. A. Wheeler, of Wellington, Ohio, was completely cured by pure vegetable oil of wintergreen. This oil alone could not cure, but she used this oil as compounded with glycerine, etc., in D. D. D. Prescription.

"I feel it my duty to say what a wonderful cure D. D. D. has been for me," writes Mrs. Wheeler. "I was cured a year ago last fall, but did not dare write because I was not sure the cure would be permanent. I had doctored with six doctors and they all said it was seldom, if ever, a case like mine was cured. I think I used only four bottles of D. D. D. and I am permanently cured. If I ever needed D. D. D. again, I would be willing to pay $5.00 a bottle."

This remedy and also D. D. D. Soap are sold by us and recommended because we know their merits. We certainly would not recommend them to our neighbors and patrons if we did not positively know of the wonderful results that D. D. D. brings in all kinds of eczematous diseases. Robinson Drug Co. YAQUI INDIANS MAKE LONG MARCH

From the San Antonio Express.

Guadalajara, Mex.—One of the Yaqui Indians brought to this city recently from Sonora is 102 years of age. With the others he marched from the Pacific port of San Blas to San Marcos, the terminus of the Mexican Central railway, a distance of 150 miles, and finished the journey in better shape than some of the younger men. Notwithstanding his advanced age the Indian is in possession of all his facilities.

The Mexican government has decided to consider all deported Yaquis as prisoners of war, and as such to allow them 25 cents a head daily, regardless of age, from the time they are taken into custody until they are placed on plantations in the "hot country." One of the Indian women now in this city celebrated the announcement of the decision here by giving birth to triplets, thereby increasing her daily allowance to 75 cents.

Government to Fly Huge Kites From Top of Pikes Peak in Near Future

Weather Station at Summit of Famous Mountain Will Benefit Whole United States and Serve as Perpetual Advertisement for This Region.

KITES will soon be flying four to five miles above the top of Pikes Peak, carrying delicate instruments for recording the air currents, the atmospheric pressure and other data of value to the government weather bureau. There is every assurance that the recommendations of Willis L. Moore, chief of the United States weather bureau, will be acted upon by Congress at this session, and that there will be established late this spring an observatory on the summit of Pikes Peak similar to the unique station now in operation at Mount Weather, Va.

Many years ago, when the weather bureau was practically in its infancy, a station was established on the summit of the famous Peak, but it was abandoned for various reasons, the chief one being the difficulty of transporting supplies and apparatus to the summit. Since that time the Manitou and Pikes Peak railway, generally known as the Cog road, has been put into operation, thus overcoming the chief drawback to the maintenance of a government weather station at the top of the mountain.

The officials of the weather bureau have not forgotten Pikes Peak, however, and during all the years kept in mind the fact that it affords superior advantages for atmospheric observations, being almost three miles above sea level. Since the time that the government station on the Peak was abandoned many improvements have been made in the methods employed by the weather bureau. New instruments have been put into commission, data covering the years since the bureau was established in 1870 have been carefully compiled scientists have given much time to minute study of the weather and the work of the bureau has been systematized in such a manner that it is now one of the best established and most useful of all government institutions.

Peak Recommended.

For some years the reports of the chiefs of the weather bureau have suggested the advisability of re-establishing an observatory of some sort on the Peak, but it was not until last year that sufficient emphasis was placed on the suggestion to carry weight with congress.

When C. W. Sells, president of the Cog road, returned from the east a few days ago, he brought with him the assurance of Willis L. Moore, chief of the western bureau, that the appropriation for the bureau to be passed by Congress would be sufficient to reopen the Peak observatory.

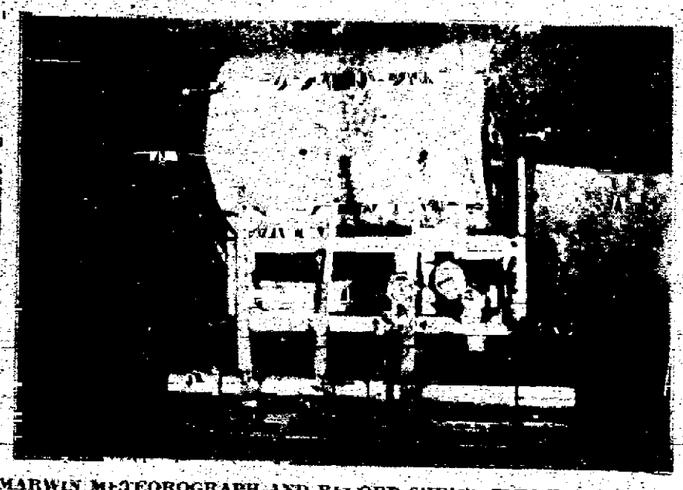
The weather bureau has had the assurance for some time that it would be given every aid in the enterprise, and the Cog road has volunteered to transport free all the supplies necessary to maintain the station.

Mr. Moore states that at least $5,000 will be available for the new station the first year of its existence, with a strong probability that the amount will be doubled or even trebled by next year. He anticipates that within a few years provision will be made for the erection of a building for the necessary apparatus, including a laboratory and all the incidentals for equipping the station as fully as the one it will be patterned after at Mount Weather.

The initial work of the new station is expected to begin soon after the opening of the Cog road, which will be placed in running order as soon as the weather permits, probably some time in May.

The feature of the new station that will appeal most strongly to the uninitiated in weather matters will be the enormous kites that will be sent skyward daily. They will not be the sort that the small boy contructs in the spring time, nor yet the kind that delights the Chinaman of mature age, but a special brand used by the government, embracing all the scientific principles that have been discovered in years of studying air currents.

These kites will contain from 60 to 130 square feet of space, but will resemble empty pasteboard boxes in construction. For instance, a kite having 65 square feet of lifting space will be 6 feet 5 inches high, 6 feet 5 inches wide, 2 feet 8 inches deep, and weigh between 5 and 9 pounds. Five of the planes exposed to the currents will serve to lift the kite and four act as steering apparatus. Other kites of various makes will be used, according to the atmospheric conditions on the days which they are to be sent into the air.



MARVIN METEOROGRAPH AND RECORD SHEET. THIS INSTRUMENT IS PLACED IN THE KITE FOR RECORDING ATMOSPHERIC CONDITIONS

Firmly fastened within the bird-like phrayphernalia will be a nervous little machine known as the meteorograph, which is the real name of the kites [illegible] will be attached [illegible]

ters in the flight of the kite. The humidity, pressure, direction and velocity of wind and all of the different things that the observer wants to know will be recorded accurately when the kite returns to earth. Sometimes the kite is stopped in its soaring for 10 or 15 minutes in order to give the meteorograph a chance to get busy with even the slightest change encountered.

The flight of the kites will be in keeping with their size. The small boy who begs a second spool of thread from his mother in order to allow an extraordinary air voyage for his favorite toy will be stunned to learn that Uncle Sam sends his flying machines miles into the air. Huge reels upon which are wound almost endless fine wire regulate the big kites, which are allowed to go from four to five miles from their anchorage.

In locating the station this feature is taken into consideration. The anchorage must be a spot at least miles from telegraph, telephone or trolley wires to insure against any crossing of wires that would result in both trouble and electrical disturbance of the meteorograph. An effort is also made to have the station surrounded by an open country so that in case of accident to the kites they can be found after again reaching the earth.

While the bureau usually sends out weather forecasts covering periods of from 24 to 48 hours, the time is being gradually lengthened [illegible] is now the hope of the experts in charge to some day serve notice of the sort of seasons that may be expected. Such knowledge will be of untold value to the farmer, who will thus be enabled to know what sort of crops to plant. Reports as they are now given out have [illegible] of small [illegible] anticipated. The knowledge of an approaching storm, a cold wave or cyclone has been of untold value to farmers, in addition to being a great help to others whose commercial interests are easily influenced by the weather.

Since settlers first came to Colorado, Pikes Peak has served as the natural weather vane. It can be seen from almost any point along the great Front range. Its smiling or frowning brow has been eagerly scanned daily for years by the farming population of this section of the state. With a station equipped with all of the latest instruments for forecasting climatic conditions, located on the very spot that is a natural barometer, the residents of this region will be indeed fortunate. Reports may be circulated accurately and quickly, giving every advantage in preparing for changes in the weather that might prove disastrous.

An additional cause for congratulation in the location of the new station on Pikes Peak is that it will serve as a valuable and permanent advertisement for the locality—one that could not be secured in any other way.

The criticism of the exclusively foreign character of the Laymen's Missionary Movement has led the Baptist Laymen to suspend their activities until the whole subject can be passed upon by the Baptist convention which meets in Oklahoma City in May.

CASTRO ONCE MORE.

IT must have been with a feeling of profound relief that Secretary Root shifted the burden of the Venezuelan controversy to the shoulders of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. It is hardly a subject for further diplomatic negotiation, for Castro's diplomacy is not of a type calculated to bring about an adjustment of any question except on terms satisfactory to himself alone, and that is a solution which the State Department will not accept. If it had been any other nation than Venezuela the matter probably would have been disposed of long ago, especially if the government concerned had been more nearly of our own strength. But it is a difficult matter for a first-class Power such as the United States to deal with a little ragamuffin government like that of Venezuela, for there is always danger that a display of force will arouse sympathy for the "under dog."

Castro's government is utterly irresponsible and dishonest; it repudiates its obligations, violates its agreements and exercises a domination over the native courts which makes it impossible for foreign claimants to secure justice. This condition is well-known, especially in European countries that have had difficulties of their own with the Venezuelan dictator, and it is known, too, among the other South American republics. But there still remains in some of those countries a vestige of the distrust which so long prevented cordial relations between them and the United States, and it might be unwise for our Government to risk a renewal of this feeling by adopting forcible measures against Castro so long as there is a possibility of bringing him to time by more pacific means.

A CASE WHERE DIPLOMACY HAS FAILED.

The language used by Secretary Root in his letters to Minister Russell shows that his patience is exhausted and that he has little hope of accomplishing anything by further diplomatic efforts. Two courses remain open. One is to blockade Venezuelan ports with warships, seize the custom houses and forcibly collect the indemnities due Americans. This would be effective, because the money would be speedily forthcoming. Moreover, if the blockade continued very long Castro would soon have an assortment of revolutions on his hands that would keep him busy retaining his grip on the government. But it might, and probably would, produce a revival of the anti-American feeling in other South American countries, thereby seriously retarding the consummation of the work to which Secretary Root has devoted much of his energies in the last two or three years.

The other method is to retaliate by imposing a prohibitive duty on Venezuelan coffee. Ninety per cent of this crop is marketed in the United States, and it constitutes about 45 per cent of Venezuela's total exports. This would be a severe blow, for it would not be an easy matter for Castro to find a market elsewhere. Of course he might try to even the score by shutting out American products, but this would not hurt us much, for conditions in Venezuela have been so disturbed that our commerce there has steadily declined for several years, our exports last year amounting to only $2,779,000. In the same year Venezuela sold us goods valued at $7,700,000, so it is apparent that in a tariff war she would get all the worst of it. Congress might also forbid the importation of Venezuelan asphalt, nearly the entire output of which is now taken by the United States.

This would be a roundabout method of securing redress, but it would probably be effective and it so would render a resort to armed force unnecessary.

A DISAGREEABLE SUBJECT—OF COURSE.

THE GAZETTE has no desire unduly to prolong the discussions of a political campaign. On the second morning after the recent primaries we made what we hoped was to be the last comment—for the present, at least—on that event, and since then have referred to it but once. Our Open Parliament column, however, is open to discussion of questions of public interest, and several contributors have availed themselves of the privilege to comment on the feature of the primaries which has impressed itself most on the public mind; namely, the plain evidence of overwhelming fraud. With one or two exceptions these letters have been signed by the writers, and in all cases they were written by reputable citizens of Colorado Springs who are known to us, but are in no way connected with this paper.

We can readily understand why this discussion is so disagreeable to the gentleman who, on the face of the returns, won the primary election, but his cause is not being helped by the efforts of his organ to discredit the letters by making false statements as to their authorship. It is perhaps needless for us to say that the Telegraph's assertion, made in an editorial yesterday, that the Open Parliament letter signed "Citizen" was written by Mr. Brooks, is utterly false, but the assertion is interesting as being another of a long series, not one of which contains a shred of truth. It began early in the campaign by accusing the "Carnahite bitters" to him; then it declared that The Gazette was "writing them to itself," and finally it assigned the authorship to Major Henry McAllister, who promptly called it to account in a letter which is published with due acknowledgement. Those letters must have worried The Telegraph a good deal, if its desperate efforts to find out who wrote them count for anything. But in all of its floundcerings it did not succeed in making a correct guess, and now it is as badly at sea as ever in trying to determine the identity of "Citizen."

Of course it is awfully annoying for The Telegraph and its crowd to be reminded so often of the crookedness of the methods by which they won the primaries, but people will talk—it is simply impossible to hush them up, and we see no alternative for The Telegraph but to grin and bear it.

Eastern papers are discussing with interest the probable effect on the Democratic convention of the potency of high-altitude whisky. The Washington Post declares that "two drinks of whisky in Denver will exhilarate a man as much as nine drinks at the altitude of any other city." If there is any danger from this source it is comforting to know that the delegates will finish their work in Denver before coming to Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek, which are a good deal higher.

It is worthy of note that Castro didn't break loose until after the battleship fleet had got far around into the Pacific. But there are still enough American warships in the Atlantic to take care of Castro's case, if it comes to that.

Mr. Rockefeller's advice to "be content with what you have," doesn't square with his practice. He seems intent on grabbing the few remaining things that he doesn't already possess.

It takes twenty-four cooks to feed the German Emperor when he travels, says a dispatch. Gracious! How many must it require when he settles down and devotes himself to a leisurely dinner?

"New York is not greatly surprised at the Vanderbilt divorce suit," says a press dispatch. Of course not. The time when a divorce suit could surprise New York passed long ago.

If the Aldrich bill has any friends except the Senators who voted for it, none of them has put in an appearance and even those Senators are not bragging about it.

Count Boni thinks that Prince Helie would be a very unworthy husband for Madame Gould. What interest can Boni possibly have in the affair?

"At my age a man marries only for love," says Prince Helie de Sagan. "Of the coin," he might have added.

WHISTLING.

From the Washington Star.

From the center of civilization comes this dispatch:

"BOSTON, Feb. 28.—Because he whistled 'The Merry Widow' waltz on the street Henry Cehmalzreid today was arrested by Policeman Creffert. Creffert said in court that Schmalzehl showed no technique and little regard for the laws of harmony, whereupon Magistrate Rau fined him $1."

Surely, this policeman must be a humorist. The fact probably is that he arrested that whistler because he, like most other people, was tired of hearing the same insistent refrain day after day, from one puckered mouth after another. "Little regard for the laws of harmony," forsooth! Why should a whistler owe allegiance to the harmonic laws? He has only one mouth in fact, although at times he might seem to have twenty. He may murder the melody, and he in truth does murder it ninety-nine times in a hundred whistles. But he makes no discords. That much remains to evoke thanks from an ear-tortured public.

Instead of establishing a high-art censorship over whistlers, why should not a time limit be set against certain tunes? The chief annoyance from the fraternity of the puckered lips is that of repetition. Once upon a time—it seems ages—there was a tune from a musical piece called "Florodora." It was a difficult composition for the whistler. It was tricky in its modulation and changes, and only a trained ear could carry it through without mistake. Yet it was whistled day and night for many months, until those who knew its measure were tortured by the crime against it as a tune and all others were maddened by the shrill recurrence.

There would be general concurrence in a law forbidding the whistling of a tune after two months from its original sounding in any community. This statute would of course involve some bookkeeping. Let there be a musical recorder at police headquarters. An officer with a fairly correct ear might be delegated to learn, through the police inter-city exchanges, the airs that are in vogue elsewhere and set down the date of the first production in Washington of each composition. Then those who catch the tune late must run the risk of getting over the time limit. It may be hard on a few of the slower coaches, but this should be a case of the good of the many calling for the suppression of the few. Let there be a surcease of unrestrained whistling, even at the cost of a little severity.

BURIAL ASSOCIATIONS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

During the recent campaign a statement was made in the Telegraph about Mr. Rittenhouse in connection with the Burial association, which was misleading to those not acquainted with the subject. The Burial association was one of the wildest get-rich-quick productions of the past few years of reckless financiering. One of the Napoleons of finance of the undertaking fraternity conceived an idea of how to do up his competitors; he got it copyrighted and sold his copyright system at $5 a townright first, until Mr. Johnson paid $2,000 for El Paso county; many others got out copyrights just a little different, and the Burial association was in evidence all over the country. The undertaking fraternity looked at it with a suspicion from the start and had condemned it as an unfair monopoly. A member paid 15 cents a month and was to get $125 for funeral expenses; that is to say, it would require 65 years to pay out—no doctors' examination, regardless of age, 60 or 65 years being the limit, I believe. Everybody along in years, of course, would go in on this innocent proposition. A party was reported coming here and subscribing the day after arrival, dying the second week. Now, 1,000 subscribers (one time they claimed 2,500) means $125,000 worth of funerals, which the owner of the association represented, but not a bond or security was ever given—not even any statement made. Now the insurance law steps in and asks the owner of the association to give a $10,000 bond for the faithful fulfillment of obligations. This is all there is to this. They were not told to quit, only to give a reasonable bond, like any other insurance company, and this they would not do, but dropped it without settling with their subscribers. This law was welcomed by the owners, as the best chance to get out of it, as long as they would not pay anyone any money back. Most all "easy" deal burial associations have gone out of existence again, but none without settling with its members. One wrote to a trade paper that it had cost him $8,000 to settle, but he got $10,000 worth of experience. One of the main advantages to the owners of the association was this; they had a regular machine of their own; 1,000 active agents, who reported anyone who was sick in the neighborhood, at their headquarters; in case of death, there were always some sympathetic members of the association on hand, turning the case over to their association undertaker, and very many coming in monthly to pay, became regular customers of the furniture department. There were only about four towns in Colorado last fall that had associations, and one man, like many others in the east, said he only got it to keep the other fellow from getting it. Hoping this will explain the Burial association question.

THE MAN AND HIS JOB

By Herbert J. Hapgood

The more a man has to do, the better he does it. The limit of our capacity is really a matter of habit and will. If we are assigned to an easy task requiring only half of our attention, the chances are that it will be only half done. Hard work and great responsibility, however, constantly keep us on the qui vive.

When we have lots of work piled up ahead, and know that there is more to do when we have finished with the present assignment, we have to keep our wits about us, and consequently the whole task is more satisfactorily performed.

"I get most out of my men by loading them with work and responsibility," said the manager of a big mail order house in the west. "They have so much to do that they haven't time to worry about doing it, and they can't afford the time to do a thing half way."

Everybody knows that the quickest way to do a thing right, is to do it right the first time.

A young man once had an easy job. He came down in the morning at ten and never had to work after half-past four. He had hardly enough to keep him busy and he persisted in making mistakes and never seemed to do a thing right the first time. His work was done carelessly and showed every evidence of indolence and indifference.

One day his employer asked me what I thought should be done with him.

"Shall I discharge him?" he asked.

"Do not fire the man," I advised. "Give him more to do."

Today that young man is holding down one of the best paying jobs in the house. He is at his desk from eight-thirty till six, and is the busiest man in the office. The quality of his work, moreover, is beyond criticism. He was given more to do, and did it better.

As an idle nobleman, Prince Hal was worthless, but sobered down by the weight of the crown, Henry IV became a wise monarch.

Give the man more to do and he will do it better. Load him to his fullest capacity, and the quality of his work will improve beyond your highest anticipation.

Today's Horoscope

Sunday, April 5, 1908.

Seek, if thou must this day, and thou shalt find. For needy counsel will come to thy mind.

The sun and Jupiter are both in benefic aspect with the moon on this 96th day.

The sun's influence is for compliance by those who have to give. It is a favorable time, therefore, to ask favors or seek employment, or to deal with persons in authority.

A fortunate day for travel for health.

Jupiter's aspect in these twenty-four hours is benignant for dealing with merchants, bankers, professors and clergymen. It, too, sheds a fortunate ray on trips undertaken in search of health.

At 7:30 p. m. samphire, sage, myrrh, aniseed, borage, bloodwort, liverwort, jessamine and balsam will be powerful.

The woman whose birth date this is will reach the fulfillment of her ambition this twelvemonth. Tuesday should be a lucky day for her. The unmarried will be courted.

The man with this birth date will have a prospering and increasing business during the twelvemonth. Promotion will come to those in employment.

The girl born this day will probably marry a man younger than herself. She will need a high object in life to satisfy her craving for achievement.

The boy born today will be fortunate in worldly affairs and will rise to a high position in life.

THE PIE THAT LEAKED.

From the Farmland (Ind.) Enterprise.

After purchasing from Miss Lizzie Hill at the church market, one of the most toothsome cream pies that mortal ever tasted, made by one of Farmland's most accomplished cooks, the editor strode up the street like a drum major, looking neither to the right nor left, and, most unfortunately, not behind. John Hendenhall, who stood in front of Bashia's restaurant, spied the newspaper man and began waving his arms frantically while he yelled something about a "spillin'." The editor had always entertained the idea that John was a humorist and thought the latter had "something up his sleeve" in displaying such remarkable interest in the editorial movements. He was convinced to the contrary, however, on coming up to John, who scornfully pointed to the pie being carried so tenderly, from which a yellow stream had been steadily flowing, over the waistcoat and pantaloons of the unhappy newspaper man, who looked like a walking advertisement for the "Square Deal" tobacco, but who felt as though he had received a very

Realities and Sentiment

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

SCIENCE wears an air of loftiness. Knowledge lifts its head disdainfully and scarcely condescends to debate with untaught assumptions. To undissected traditions is given no intellectual rights; only pity and the prudence of temporary silence in facing a weight of physical numbers. Science rules the mental dominion. Theology consents to be apologetic in these days and takes on transformations at the bidding of scientific criticism. Business, the treatment of disease, the food of our bodies and all the common habits of life ask permission before they adopt rules of conduct. The age has passed from respect for science to worship; in fact, if we count back a thousand years, we have passed from disrespect to adoration.

Science has not stopped at the confines of Europe and America. It has passed on to the venerable civilizations of Asia, shattered the all-sufficiency of ancient moral philosophies, re-created Japan, quickened the stagnant thought of China and touched the millions of India with aspirations which may crowd out the mystic sway of the Brahmin. Where it advances it carries the spirit of democracy. The railroad is democratic, the electric current is republican, steam works for the freedom of man." Science challenges all tyranny but its own; broadens all narrowness but the fixed channel of realistic inquiry; strikes at all fetters but those which fasten its movements to the visible universe.

Science has earned its triumph. The fight has been heroic, patient, painstaking, resolute. Through blood, danger, fatigue and slander it has led the human mind until in fifty years the world has learned more of truth available for the improvement of man's stay on earth than was known in the thousands of years between the dawn of creation and the Middle Ages. If science is haughty in our generation, it is also humble. With a small share in the luxurious rewards of wealth, it is content to serve silently in the study and the laboratory, slowly extracting truth from refractory nature and gladly giving forth its knowledge to the common stock. No respect bestowed upon its claims is undeserved, no honors too generous.

Plain truth-telling is what science professes to demand; practical recognition of facts, cultivation of realities, ready to face fully and courageously every situation as it develops. "Unreality," it says, "is worse than dishonesty." There can be no sound judgment with unreality, as there can be no sound business when the director cannot, day by day, know his solvency by testing it with realities, the unpleasant with the pleasant. Certainties are the only safe advisers; not flattering words or swollen hopes or nervous fears. Experience, research and proof, vision, revision and then eternal, stern implacable vigilance. Such a service science demands of its votaries whether they would throw steel rails and cantilever bridges across a continent of find the cause of a sarcomic cancer's growth.

In this modern passion for realities there is so much of nobility, so much of unselfishness, so much of benefit to humanity, that the appreciative mind hesitates to beckon away any of the admiring devotion by which it is encouraged. Why should it not be stimulated to pursue its activities until it possesses the earth? Because universal domain is not within its power. Rationalism and realities cannot occupy the whole of the world because the world is man, because man has a soul, and because the soul must be nourished with other nutriment. Science would become a phantom if another energy did not drive it forward.

Lord, let me not be too content,
With life in trifling service spent.
Make me aspire!
When days with petty cares are filled
Let me with fleeting thoughts be thrilled
Of something higher!

Science looks at a mother and her infant and thinks of heredity and therapeutics. Beneficial thoughts, but not enough. Sentiment looks and thinks of the distilling of a heart's blood into the helpless being, the pressing of the innermost marrow of one soul for the making of another, and true sentiment feels, knows that this is the simplest and yet the highest expression of the life-giving instinct which holds family, community, and country to the mutual helpfulness of ascending existence. Without the sentiment of freedom science would not strive, would "drop from her nerveless grasp the shattered spear, close her bright eye and curb her high career." Without a sentiment deeper than the realities of intellectual proof the American could not hail with faster heartbeat "The Star Spangled Banner," or the Scotchman feel the "tear watering the resolve" when he repeats:

That makes her loved at home, revered abroad.

Man stops his striving unless there is a "star before the darkened soul, to guide and gladden and control." Rationalism inclines always to ask "cui bono?" The sardonic smile comes easily to its lips. If sentiment disappeared the rationalist would question love, faith and loyalty, and sooner or later resemble a bunco-steerer, preying on the weaknesses of mankind, ultimately he would descend into the savage state, for nothing would be enough worth while to evoke risk or labor. Realities cannot rest upon themselves. Not to feel what we have not proven—what is it but a poverty worse than the material scantiness from which the science of realities have relieved us? If there is no imagination, no unreasoning love, nothing but cold measurement of realities and rationalistic calculation of visible values, what man would see in his wife or child anything but a specimen, imperfect and not justifying sacrificial toil? What man could look at his country's flag or hear strains of music, mere vibrations of the air from wood or brass, without a scornful contempt for the infantile indulgence of fanciful symbolism? Realities have their grandeur, but through all the lasting of time sentiment will be the real reality, the sovereign to decree the angel herald to point the way, the commander-in-chief to order the battle. All of us cannot be pure rationalists. We may like rationalism in the medical attendant, but we wish our wives, our fellow citizens, our intimates to be sentimentalists.

FROM A RECENT NOVEL.

J. W. Foley, in Success Magazine.

She dropped her eyes; he threw up his head.
Her face fell; he ground his teeth.
Her cheeks burned; his heart sank.
She grew cold as ice; his brain was on fire.
Her eyes flashed fire; he tore his hair.
Her very soul was rent; he could have bitten his tongue in two for saying it.
She cast the lie back in his teeth; he swallowed a lump in his throat.
She shuddered as with a mortal wound; he grew weak as water.
An icy hand clutched at her heart; then he trembled like an aspen.
She grew faint and sick; he was in agony.
She strove for breath; his eyes blazed.
She swept from the room; he fell in a heap on the rug.
Plainly, after all this, life could never be the same again for either of them.

OUR FAT SINGERS.

Victor Smith, in New York Press.

Do precious voices and fatness go together? They certainly seem to do so to a man up a tree. What is the cause of this comradeship? Tetrazzini is as plump as a partridge. Nordica is an ample dumpling. Melba is magnificently bulbous. Calve is real peach jelly a la cylindroid. Caruso is as fat as a porpoise. Schumann-Heink is a delicious armful. Sambrich is not a lath by any means. Lehmann made a buxom and luscious Brunnhilde. Both the De Reszkes are big, heavy men. Brignoli was a giant. Eames is more bulbous than Juno dared to be. In her prime Patti was a little sawed-off woman of beautiful flesh. Fremstad is no slatrack. Hinckley-Lum is a goodly lump to look upon. Geraldine Farrar is no slim guilt soul of guantness. Garden is like a full-blown rose. De Cisneros looks like a jolly, fat Dutch girl with a 45-inch waist. Among the men the tenors are fat as a rule, the bassos are tall and lean.

There is hardly anything a woman considers more of a reflection upon her social position than to have a parlor chair you can be comfortable in.

AN ACT OF JUSTICE.

From the New York World.

A bill is to be presented in the Senate permitting negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry, who were discharged without honor by President Roosevelt, to reenlist on making oath that they took no part in the Brownsville affray and know of no one who did.

In [illegible] the inscription on the soldiers' and sailors' monument on Boston Common Robert Gould Shaw was the colonel of the Fifty-fourth Massachusetts, the first colored regiment to go to the war. The inscription was written by President Charles W. Eliot:

"The white officers, taking life and honor in their hands, cast in their lot with men of a despised race unproved in war and risked death as traitors or servile insurrection if taken prisoners, besides encountering all the common perils of camp, march and battle.

"The black rank and file volunteered when disaster clouded the Union cause, served without pay for 18 months, refused when offered their freedom if treason triumphed, threatened enslavement if captured, were brave in action, patient under heavy and dangerous labors and cheerful amid hardships and privations.

"Together they gave to the nation and the world undying proof that Americans of African descent possess the pride, courage and devotion of the patriot soldier. One hundred and eighty thousand such Americans enlisted under the Union flag in 1863-5."

Of the men of the Twenty-fifth infantry some had fought in Cuba, some in the Philippines. Not one, in spite of the efforts of the administration, has been convicted of taking part in the Brownsville affray. Against not one of them has evidence been produced. But innocent and guilty were dismissed from the army in disgrace.

Is there not enough justice in Congress to make amends for this hideous criminating act of injustice to "Americans of African descent possessing the pride, courage and devotion of the patriot-soldier" by allowing them to reenlist?

BOY'S PLEA TOUCHES JUDGE.

From the New York Times.

"Lemme go, I wants to see de judge."

This from a very small boy in a red blouse and knee breeches last night when Policeman Harvey tried to keep him from mounting the bridge in the night court.

Magistrate Steinert had to stand up and look over the bench to see his small petitioner, whose head did not show above the desk.

"Who are you and why do you want to see me?" he inquired.

"I'm Ben," responded the youngster. "You've got two of me pals in de coop, and I come ter git 'em out. Dey're 'Nosey' Hermann and 'Horse' Cooperman. Dat big 'Bull' Smith, he gits 'em down at de bridge fer fightin', and I'm here ter fix it fer 'em."

Half an hour before Magistrate Steinhert had sent Hermann, who lives at 223 South Third street, and Cooperman, who lives at 84 Gerry street, both of Brooklyn, and 17 years old each, to the court prison in default of $3 fine. He told "Ben" that he had fined the boys $3.

"Dat's all right, den," replied Ben. "I got de cash here," and he deposited $3 in pennies, nickels and an occasional dime on the clerk's desk.

"It's $3 each, $6 for the two," said the magistrate.

"Three dollars is all I got," said Ben, a suspicion of tears in his voice. "Can't I git 'em both on dat?"

"You can have them for nothin'," suddenly declared Magistrate Steinert, as he discharged them, telling them to thank Ben for their release.

A host of other newsboys had come to the court to learn the outcome of the case, and in the street they raised a rousing cheer for Magistrate Steinert and kept it up for minutes.

From the Baltimore Sun.

Mr. Edwin A. Abbey, an artist of distinction, is quoted in an interview published in Boston as saying that the effect of our prohibitory duty on art is to prevent the creation of an art atmosphere in the United States. If our statesmen had adopted an intelligent policy in respect to importations of paintings and statuary we would have in this country, as Mr. Abbey puts it, "an gathering from the whole world of all the latest art thought and production, thus creating the atmosphere without which American art can not flourish. The American artist who sends his paintings to the old world is liberally treated. The European artist who sends his works to the United States is held up by the customs inspector. Who suffers most from this policy? The American artist and the American public.

It was stated in dispatches published in the Sun yesterday that the queen of England and the empress dowager of Russia had inspected the superb collection of gems and art objects which Mr. J. P. Morgan keeps in London. American artists and art connoisseurs might enjoy the pleasure and the instruction derivable from this collection if the United States government had as liberal and sensible a policy in art matters as Great Britain has. Mr. Morgan has [illegible] priceless treasures on the other side of the Atlantic, and he will probably let them remain there until Uncle Sam repeals the law fining an American citizen heavily for bringing a great painting or other object of art to his native land. The English will get the benefit of Mr. Morgan's art collections. Congress has imposed a frightful handicap on the American artist and the American public.

FACT VERSUS HISTORY.

From Army and Navy Life.

[illegible] Captain Lucius Baker of [illegible] This was one of the [illegible] in history, but it was not [illegible] Taylor, [illegible] and [illegible] that [illegible] You [illegible] and take that battery back to the [illegible] and continue the fight. It took a great amount during the engagement, and Taylor's defeat after a desperate struggle against heavy odds seemed imminent. Braxe, anticipating the capture of his battery or the necessity of a retreat, was moving it to the rear.

TO VISIT AUTO SHOW

SPRINGS ENTHUSIASTS WILL GO TO DENVER.

Biggest Exhibit Ever Seen in Rocky Mountains Opens Tomorrow Evening.

Colorado Springs, as the premier automobile city of the Rocky Mountains, is taking more than a usual interest in the Denver automobile show, which opens tomorrow evening at the Mammoth skating rink, at 8 o'clock, and closes on Wednesday evening. A large number of Colorado Springs enthusiasts are planning on visiting the show, and this city will be particularly well represented on Tuesday night, which has been set aside as "society night."

The show will undoubtedly be the biggest thing of its kind that has ever been held in the Rocky Mountain region. The total number of exhibitors is 50, while 48 different makes of automobiles will be on display. The number of motor cars to be on display will be 107, while 23 dealers will display motor cars and the same number accessory and special exhibits. An elaborate scheme of decoration has been carried out.

G. A. Wahlgreen, well known in automobile circles throughout the state, has been managing the show, with G. A. Blanchard as assistant show manger, and J. L. Gartland as publicity manager. The dealers' committee consists of John E. Fry, G. A. Maxwell and R. B. Hall.

Carbide expands very considerably during decomposition, therefore generators must not be filled to their capacity.

The Delaware Automobile association has decided to undertake the task of marking the roads throughout the state.

The Briarcliff race for stock cars in Westchester county, N. Y., April 24, will be started at 4:45 o'clock in the morning.

With true patriotism, San Francisco motorists will place 150 automobiles at the disposal of Admiral Evans and the officers and men of his fleet during their stay in that city.

More than 125 sign posts have been erected in Hamilton county, Ohio, by the Cincinnati Automobile club, which now has 250 members.

Maps showing 98 routes are included in a handbook recently issued by the touring committee of the Minnesota State association.

Moving pictures of auto races and aeronautical achievements are being utilized by several clubs to add zest to their smokers and banquets.

William K. Vanderbilt has given assurances that he has no intention of withdrawing as a director of the American Automobile association.

W. H. Hearne, the new president of the West Virginia Automobile association, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in that state.

In accordance with the plan it has followed for the past two years, the Albany (N. Y.) club will hold a five-day run this summer, beginning June 20.

Spartanburg claims to have more paved streets than all the other cities of South Carolina combined, obtained largely through the employment of convict labor.

The fair mindedness of Boston motorists has been well shown by their support of the measure requiring all vehicles, horse-drawn and motor-driven, to carry lights at night.

The Austrian diet is considering a proposition to tax automobiles $200 a year and motorcycles from $20 to $40, as a compensation for the damage said to be done to highways.

The sides of a new automobile ambulance in Paris are curtained instead of being solid to admit more than the usual amount of fresh air when needed. Spare bedding is carried in a locker on top.

A feature of the smoker to be held by the Automobile Club of America, at New York, April 11, will be the presentation of the cups, trophies and prizes won during carnival week, which ends that night.

A French inventor has brought out a meter to measure the amount of gasoline used by a car at different speeds. One dial registers the consumption of fuel and another the revolutions of the motor.

Although certain alkaline solutions, such as salt and water, sal ammoniac and water or even vinegar and water, can be used to rejuvenate dry cell batteries the extra period of life thus obtained is very short.

BASEBALL SEASON IS SOON TO OPEN

College Tigers to Play First Championship Game Saturday. State League Meets Here Tomorrow. April 14 Opening Date in Major Leagues.

BASEBALL BEGINS

PUEBLO INDIANS MEET TIGERS HERE ON FRIDAY.

U. OF C. OPENS SEASON HERE

College Team Returns From Vacation Trip—High School and Cutler Academy Games Next Saturday's Game—Revise Schedule.

With the Pueblo Western League baseball team scheduled to meet the Colorado College Tigers on Washburn field on Friday, and the first intercollegiate championship game of the season billed for Saturday when the University of Colorado comes here for the opening game, the baseball season in Colorado Springs will fairly open this week.

The Tigers got back from their week's vacation trip last night, all in good condition, and much benefitted by the series of games through which they have been. The team on the trip made a fairly good showing. When it acquires a little more steadiness the nine gives promise of developing into a most likely contender for the college pennant. During the trip, the men showed up in good form with the willow, but with the exception of the high school games, had a fatal inning in fielding. Coach Falt will put his charges through a hard week's practice and hopes to have them in fine condition for the games at the end of the week.

Manager G. W. Smith has made a few changes in the schedule, which is now for the season, as follows:

April 10—Pueblo Western league here.
April 11—Boulder here.
April 18—Sacred Heart here.
April 25—Mines here.
May 2—Aggies at Fort Collins.
May 9—Aggies at Fort Collins.
May 23—Boulder at Boulder.
May 30—Aggies at Washburn field.

High School Academy Dates Changed

The game between the Colorado Springs High School and Cutler Academy which was scheduled to open the interscholastic championship series next Saturday has been postponed until May 20. Cutler Academy also postponed the game which it had scheduled with Centennial high school at Pueblo for yesterday, the new date not having been settled upon. The revised interscholastic schedule is:

April 18 C. S. H. S. vs. Centennial at Pueblo.
April 25—Cutler vs. C. S. H. S. at High School field.
May 20—C. S. H. S. vs. Cutler at Washburn field.
June 6 Championship game at Denver.

THREE GOOD BOXING BOUTS

Jack Phillips and Bill King Principals in Main Event at Democratic Club Smoker.

Three good bouts were pulled off at the Democratic club smoker last night between well-known local bokers. The main event was a six-round go between Jack Phillips, a New York amateur who has recently come to this city, and Bill King, the colored mill artist. The men fought at 145 pounds, and put up a scrappy contest, which ended in a draw. Phillips, although he has been in the game only nine months, showed considerable skill and hitting ability, and is looking for some other matches.

Both of the preliminaries were at 135 pounds, each being four rounds. Kid Miller and Kid Stoner, both of this city, were the opponents in the first, while Kid Brown and Kid Barry, local boys, went at it in the second. In both cases, the decision was a draw.

Five hundred members of the club and invited guests watched the bouts.

CHAUFFEURS BEAT PRINTERS.

Win Indoor Baseball Game by Score of 10 to 7.

In league B of the city indoor baseball league, the chauffeurs last night won a 10 to 7 victory over the printers. They secured an early lead and maintained it throughout.

Score by innings:

Chauffeurs	5	0	1	2	0	2	*	—	10
Printers	1	1	0	2	0	1	2	—	7

The most uninteresting and one-sided game of the series was that in league A, between the bankers and Golden Cycle mill team, which was won by the former, 6 to 2.

Score by innings:

Bankers	1	2	1	2	1	5	1	0	—22

GARRETT IS HIGH MAN

In the regular weekly shoot of the Colorado Springs Gun club, on its Broadmoor grounds, yesterday, the scores were as follows:

NOT AFRAID OF TIGERS

BOULDER EXPECTS TO WIN SATURDAY'S GAME.

Team Has Wealth of Material for All Positions and Has Been Long at Work.

Special to The Gazette.

BOULDER, April 4.—Despite the fact that it has failed to show up favorably with Colorado College when the comparison is made on the basis of Denver scores, the University of Colorado will give the Tigers all they want when it comes to playing off the first intercollegiate game of the season on Washburn field next Saturday. The Boulder squad contains, besides a number of veterans, a goodly bunch of new men, and on the whole is made up of a dangerous aggregation of college players.

The pitching staff has five men: Wassen, Ballenger, Bernard, Richards and Hughes. Wassen was the mainstay in the box last year, and possesses plenty of control. Ballenger has wide curves and lots of steam, and last year was the heaviest hitter on the squad. Bernard is the Colorado Springs boy who is well known throughout the state. He will play third when not used in the box. Hughes and Richards are both men of high school renown. Stirrett, of last year's squad, with Haley and O'Brien, who were stars in high school last year, compose the receiving department.

Captain Snyder has been switched from left field to first to fill the vacancy left by Pryor's failure to return to school. Held, who played third last year, with Matthews, a new man, are the second basemen, while Joe Garst has been shifted to short to fill Trudgen's place with Dugan, a Pueblo Centennial man, his understudy. Bernard and Gilligan are the third sackers. In right field Anderson will play for his fourth year. One of the pitchers is slated to fill one of the other fields, while for the remainder there have been a host of candidates, chief among whom are Payne, Lyons, Hall and Dalas. Coach Castleman, with his usual reticence, refuses to divulge the batting order against the Tigers.

The baseball material which Coach Castleman had on hand with which to begin the season's practice was as good as any coach could wish for, and Castleman took advantage of his opportunities to put out another championship nine by starting the practice at the earliest possible moment. The squad held its first practices early in February and has been drilling regularly ever since, so that every man on the squad is in the best of condition and ready to wallop the Tigers next Saturday.

AGGIES HAVE HIGH HOPES

With Strong Squad of Veterans, and Improvement in Hitting, Rothgeb Finds Outlook.

Special to The Gazette.

FORT COLLINS, April 4.—A hard hitting and fast fielding aggregation is the ambition of Aggieville. Incidentally it is casting longing eyes toward the intercollegiate baseball pennant. From the beginning of practice six weeks ago, there has been an abundance of promising timber, with a strong nucleus of veterans. Coach Rothgeb has been particularly attentive to batting in which the team was weak last year.

All of last year's team with the exception of Pitcher Burke have been on hand. Herbert Thomas, the man of many colleges, has returned to the Aggies and is playing left field, besides doing some track stunts. Burkhardt, Hightower and Stover are expected to do the twirling, with Lee Aicher catching. Hosier at first, Edward Aicher at second, Potts and Hoffman at short, and Phelps at third, compose the infield. Rice is sure at center field, with Morse, the best man in right.

"We have seven of last season's regulars back and have some new men that are as good as any college players I have seen in the state," said Rothgeb in talking of the Aggie prospects. "If we had a good battery I am sure we would experience but little difficulty in winning the state championship. We could beat anything in Colorado, I am sure. On the infield we will be as fast as any team in the state outside of the professional ranks. Our batting may not be the best in the west, but it can't be much worse than it was last season, and we were able to make a showing then."

DENVER HAS "HARD LUCK"

Loses Four Players From a Scant Baseball Squad.

Special to The Gazette.

DENVER, April 4.—Hard luck is following up the Denver University baseball team. Four more players are out of the game. Bruese has left school and Ashton has been obliged to go east. Johnson, hit by a ball, is out of the game indefinitely, while Andrew's injured knee joint may keep him out for the season. The loss of these men cripples the infield seriously. The outlook is not rosy.

In the Y. M. C. A. junior league, the Lillers defeated the Lowells in the games played on the Stratton lot yesterday morning, Gayman and Simpson played star games for the victors.

Of course, all big league managers would regret to see the passing of Chance and Wagner, but—

FORM TWO STRANG LEAGUES

Boys Organize Baseball Teams, Senior Open Season With Yesterday's Games.

Two baseball leagues for the boys of the city have been organized this year by H. Strang along the lines on which these leagues have been conducted in past years. One of the leagues, the senior, opened its season yesterday, while the junior division will meet this week to complete its organization and draw up the schedule.

In the senior league, comprising boys about 16 and 17 years old, are the East Sides, the second Cutler Academy, the West Sides and the Deaf and Blind institute. Yesterday's games resulted as follows: East Sides, 9; West Sides, 3; and second Cutler, 13; D. and B., 4.

The teams in the junior league are Miss Henry's school, Win's team (recruited from the Garfield school), the Little South Ends and the Little East Sides. These teams are made up of boys about 14 years of age.

The schedule for the senior league is as follows:

April 4 April 25 and May 16—East Sides vs. West Sides; Second Cutler vs. D. and B.

April 11, May 2 and May 23—East Sides vs. D. and B.; second Cutler vs. West Sides.

April 18, May 9 and May 30—East Sides vs. second Cutler; West Sides vs. D. and B.

Pennants are to be given the winning team in each league.

WIN IN EIGHTH INNING

Score Is 1 to 1 Until Terrors Take Bad Slump—Both Pitchers Do Great Work.

Tied for seven innings, the Rock Island team yesterday pulled out a sensational eighth-inning victory over the High School Terrors in the game played on Washburn field. The final score was 5 to 1. It was a great exhibition of ball for the greater part.

Both teams got one run in the first inning, and after that for seven innings straight not a man crossed the home plate on either side. Then, in the last half of the eighth, the Terrors took a bad slump, threw the ball all over the lot, and allowed the Rock Islands to scamper home with four runs and victory.

It was a pitchers' battle in which both men did great work. Hyatt, the freshman twirler for the High School, was in gilt-edged form. He showed that he is to become a star in the interscholastic firmament if he keeps up his present gait. Reilly did some slabwork of the finest kind. He fanned 13 men and allowed the Terrors only three hits, as against the six off Hyatt's delivery.

Bancroft, third base, and Whittaker, left field, were out of the High School lineup on account of sprained ankles. Following is the batting order of the two teams:

High School.	Rock Islands.
Buckles, 3b	Patterson, 2b
Dixon, c	Diamond, ss
Friend, ss	Shields, 1
Wall, rf	Moats, rf
Murphy, cf	Counts, 3b
Hyatt, p	Hastings, lf
Ady, 1b	W. Fowler, 1b
Stovell, lf	Lombard, cf
Finlay, 2b	Reilly, p

Score by innings:

Rock Islands	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	4	*—5

WILL DO VAUDEVILLE STUNTS

Gotch Accepts Offer—Russian Calls American "King."

CHICAGO, April 4.—Frank Gotch will remain in Chicago all next week, appearing at a local vaudeville theater. He will then fulfill similar engagements in Wisconsin and Minnesota. A trip was planned abroad for the new wrestling champion, but no definite plan for this has yet been made.

Speaking of the new champion Hackenschmidt said: "There is no man in all England who has a chance with your man Gotch. He is king of his class, the greatest man by far that I ever have met. After going nearly two hours with him my muscles became stale. My feet also gave way on me. I have trained so constantly against the toe hold that I had strained the muscles of my legs. When I found myself weakening I knew there was no use continuing. I had no chance to win. That was the reason I conceded the championship to him. I have no desire to wrestle him again. A return match would not win back my title."

MINERS BEAT DENVER, 5 TO 1

Win First Intercollegiate Championship Ball Game.

Special to The Gazette.

GOLDEN, April 4.—In the first intercollegiate championship game of the season, the Colorado School of Mines was today victorious over Denver university by a score of 5 to 1. Denver got its one run on a wild throw over third base in the sixth inning. The Methodists played better than expected, making only two errors, as against four credited to the Miners. Willett, pitching for the locals, got seven strikeouts. Polley, the Denver twirler, [illegible]

GOTCH MAY COME HERE

WORLD'S WRESTLING CHAMPION PROMISES VISIT.

Is Friend of Secretary C. B. Hall, Iowan Has Been Two Years in Preparation for "Hack."

Frank Gotch, wrestling champion of the world by virtue of his victory over George Hackenschmidt in Chicago Friday night, may visit Colorado Springs. He has promised Secretary Charles B. Hall of the Y. M. C. A., with whom he is personally acquainted, that on his next trip to Denver, which will probably be within a year, he will come to Colorado Springs and will give a private exhibition of wrestling at the Y. M. C. A.

Gotch lives at Humboldt, Iowa, which is only a short distance from Fort Dodge, Mr. Hall's former home. The two men met on many occasions and became well acquainted. Consequently, Mr. Hall had a particular interest in the outcome of the international wrestling match Friday night.

Brains Decided Struggle.

"Gray matter is what decided the struggle," said Mr. Hall yesterday. "Many people imagine that wrestling is simply a test of brute force, but this bout disproves that theory. Gotch had the brains and knew how to use them. That, in my opinion, is why he made Hackenschmidt quit. Gotch has the game down to an exact science. He knows just what the effect of every grip is, and what muscles each hold will affect. He plans his attack scientifically to weaken his opponent and put his endurance to the test. The difference physically between the two men was that Hackenschmidt's muscles are of the ropy, showy, powerful kind, while Gotch's are long, smooth and enduring.

"He has been preparing for more than two years for this match with Hackenschmidt. When I was visiting my home, last summer, I saw him, and he then said that although he was not confident, he believed he could conquer the Russian. His trainer told me that he would back Gotch against any man in the world, and declared that his remarkable endurance and generalship would bring him out the victor.

"Gotch is respected by everybody in his home town. He is a fine, clean man, who has kept clear of the many evil tendencies that have met him. A few incidents throw a sidelight on his character. The first thing that he did after he became prominent in the wrestling world and began to make big money was to pay off the mortgage on his parents' farm. Just a couple of years ago he took his old mother to Chicago, where he provided every amusement for her and gave her the best of times. He makes $10,000 a year now, and while he is generous, is saving his money in tangible investments.

"I knew him when he used to get up at 3:30 in the morning, work all day harvesting and then, for exercise, spend a couple of hours at night wrestling in town. His endurance is truly remarkable. Many a time he has run at a steady pace a distance of 25 miles, just for exercise.

Tutored by Farmer Burns.

"When he first began to wrestle in Iowa he attracted the attention of Farmer Burns, who saw his wonderful possibilities, and told him, that if he would put himself under his care, he would make him the greatest wrestler in the world. He did this, and his first success was in throwing Burns. Since that time no man has ever thrown Gotch when he was conditioned for the match. He threw Jenkins twice, while Jenkins got one fall from him. On the Fourth of July, in 1905, he held a big open air match with Jim Parr, the English champion, in his home town in Iowa, and people came from miles around. After his defeat, Parr declared that Gotch did not even know his own strength.

"Gotch possesses the admiration and respect of all the people in his section of the state, and I venture that there were at least 150 people from Humboldt county among the spectators who saw him win the world's championship."

STATE LEAGUE MEETS

MANAGERS TO GATHER HERE TOMORROW EVENING.

Will Discuss Outlook and Prepare for Season's Opening—Selee Will Attend.

Managers of the various teams in the Colorado State Baseball league will meet at the Antlers hotel tomorrow evening for the purpose of completing the organization of the league, discussing the prospects of the various teams and getting things lined up for the opening of the season, which is slated for the first or second Saturday in May.

Manager Frank G. Selee, who went to Denver Thursday evening to confer with promoters of the league there, has returned to Pueblo, where he went to see the game between the Tigers and the Pueblo Western league team. He will return to Colorado Springs for the meeting. He still has under consideration the two park sites proposition.

TRACK TRYOUT ON SATURDAY

College Athletes to Be Given a Chance to Show Mettle New Cinder Path.

To test the abilities of the various Tiger track candidates, the annual home try-out meet will be held on Washburn field next Saturday afternoon. The squad of men who are trying for places on the team now numbers about 30, and Coach McMahon believes that a winning set of track and field athletes can be selected from this aggregation. It is upon the performances of the men in this meet, coupled with their work thus far that they will be sized up, and the squad weeded out.

During vacation week, most of the men have been out of the city, but those who have remained here have been taking regular work on the field. Bryson has been doing good work in the mile, while Burgess in the two-mile ran the distance in exceptionally fast time the other night. Stiles has been showing excellent form in the quarter and 220.

The work of relaying the cinder path and of repairing the field has been progressing rapidly, and is now about completed. It is expected that the cinder path will be in the best of shape for Saturday's meet.

Preparations are going on apace for the state intercollegiate track meet which is to be held on Washburn field on May 16. With assurances that the School of Mines, Agricultural College and Denver University will participate and with efforts now being made to send a team from the University of Colorado, the meet will be thoroughly representative.

INDIANS WIN AGAIN

PUEBLO LEAGUERS DEFEAT TIGERS BY SCORE OF 11 TO 5.

College Players Wild in Sixth Inning Sherry's Home Run Brings Three Tallies.

Special to The Gazette.

PUEBLO, April 4.—By a score of 11 to 5, the Pueblo Indians returned victorious from their second Tiger hunt today. The game was curtailed in the seventh inning in order to allow the College team to catch a train for Colorado Springs. The defeat of the younger team was due mainly to the fact that they went up in the air in the sixth inning and by a series of bad errors allowed the Indians to score seven times in this session. Although they attempted to make it up the next session, they were unable to pull more than three runs.

The feature of the game, in the run-getting line, was Sherry's home run in the seventh, which brought in Schmid and Siddons besides himself. Ackley, the former Colorado College star, pitched for Pueblo for five innings, during which time he had his former team mates at his mercy. His harvest of strikeouts numbered nine. He was replaced by Waginger for two innings, McKenzie relieving Smith at the bat at the same time.

GANS AND NELSON SIGN UP

Will Meet in 20-Round Bout in San Francisco in May.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—Joe Gans and Battling Nelson were last night matched to fight 20 rounds in this city some time in May. Jack Gleason will handle the match. Gans is to weigh 133 pounds ringside and Nelson is to come in at catch weights. The fighters are to receive 50 per cent of the gate receipts, to be divided 60 and 40 per cent.

According to word received from Pueblo, the Centennial High school team yesterday defeated the Florence nine by a score of 3 to 2 in 11 innings. Cutler Academy recently defeated Florence, 5 to 2.

By a score of 32 to 4, the Robbins Greys yesterday afternoon defeated the West Sides.

MAJORS OPEN APRIL 14

PROSPECTS FOR GREAT SEASON IN BIG LEAGUES.

Chicago Cubs Favored in National and White Sox in American. Close Fight in Latter.

CHICAGO, April 4.—One week from next Tuesday—April 14, is the spot on the calendar around which the baseball fans of the nation have drawn a heavy red circle, and on which the owners and managers of 16 major league teams have had their eyes and thoughts glued for a good many weeks. One week more of touring the bush leagues and kicking at southern hotel and railroad accommodations—or lack of accommodations—will bring the big league ball players to the eve of the championship battle, for which he has been conditioning himself at his master's expense.

With the opening of the season thus close at hand, speculation is rife as to the probable results in the various pennant races.

In the National league, it looks like another walk away for the Chicago Cubs, who outclassed the others so far that there never was anything to it last season. There is no perceptible weak spot in the make-up of the Windy City organization, and no reason why it should not repeat.

New York will beat out Pittsburg if Wagner does not reconsider his determination to to play again. Should the "Flying Dutchman" be in the line-up, the Pirates stand the best chance to beat out the Giants. Philadelphia and Brooklyn should fight it out for fourth place with the chances in favor of the Phillies, while Cincinnati should take the measure of the Cardinals.

The American league race presents the same heard problem as usual, with Chicago, New York, Detroit, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Cleveland all having a chance. Jim McGuire's Boston club may become dangerous, but Washington looks good for the cellar championship. Many would unhesitatingly pick the Highlanders to win if they were better supplied with pitchers. They have a lightning fast infield and a slugging outfield, but unless the youngsters show up well, will find the same trouble in the box that they experienced last year. As it is, it appears likely that the White Sox will [illegible] with New York second and [illegible] third place. Philadelphia should beat out Cleveland.

In the American association the fight is conceded to be between Columbus, Toledo and Kansas City, with Minneapolis always dangerous. The tendency is to favor the three-time pennant winners, Columbus, again, but Toledo is strengthened and is given the edge by some, with Kansas City and Columbus fighting for second. Indianapolis looks weak. Louisville is strong on paper. Milwaukee and St. Paul appear to have little chance.

CAMBRIDGE CREW WINS RACE

Light Blue Oarsmen Hold Lead From Start, and Finish Two and One-Half Lengths Ahead.

PUTNEY, Eng., April 4.—For the third year in succession Cambridge today won the sixty-fifth varsity race, defeating Oxford by the handsome margin of about 2½ lengths. The light blues—the Cambridge crew—forged to the front from the crack of the pistol and led from start to finish. The result was never in doubt. In spite of the advantage of the dark blues—the Oxford men—in winning the toss, which enabled them to choose the Surrey side of the river and thus escape much of the heavy water at the start, the extra stamina of the Cambridge men quickly sent the nose of their boat ahead and enabled them to assume a lead which they held comfortably to the end.

The official time of the race was 18 minutes, 19 seconds. The record is 18 minutes and 47 seconds, established by Oxford in 1893, and equaled by Cambridge in 1906. The time last year was 20 minutes and 36 seconds.

The crews got off to a splendid start, but the quicker stroke of D. C. R. Stuart of the Cambridge crew, who set the rate at 40 for the first minutes, against Oxford's 38, soon put the supporters of the light blues at ease. At Beverly Brook, Cambridge had already gained an advantage of half a length, and at Craven Steps the light blues were a full length in front of and steadily drawing away from their opponents.

The uniform sliding and the greater length of the stroke of the light blues continued to tell, and in shooting under Hammersmith bridge there was a full length and a half between the boats. At this point Stuart gave his crew a breather, and A. C. Gladstone, the Oxford stroke, called on his men for an effort. Quickening his stroke to 38 to the minute, as against Cambridge's 36, Gladstone slowly lessened the gap to a length and a quarter. But this advantage was only on sufferance. When Stuart was ready he set his men going again, and the Cambridge crew quickly shook off their opponents.

Pulling strongly, steadily and well within themselves, the light blues shot past Thorneycrofts three lengths ahead and held about the same lead to Barnes bridge. After passing this point, they rowed without apparent effort, and passed the finish post the easiest of victors, by a distance officially given out as 2½ lengths. The Oxford men, who had early gained a losing lead, were much [illegible] at the finish.

WESTERN LEAGUE

COLORADO TEAMS BOTH MATERIALLY STRENGTHENED.

SELEE LIKES PUEBLO CHANCES

Says Indians Have Many Promising Youngsters — Irwin Bringing Teddy Bears Back From Kansas City, Where They Made a Hit.

Western league baseball will begin on April 15, when the 1908 schedule will formally open. Pueblo playing at Denver, Des Moines at Omaha and Sioux City at Lincoln. Denver fans will see four games at the opener, and then the two teams will go to Pueblo for a four-game series, April 19, 20, 21 and 22.

The two Colorado teams have been strengthened considerably and promise to figure more prominently in the first division this season. At Pueblo, Manager Patterson has gathered together a bunch of promising youngsters, among whom are several who are expected to develop into stars. No less a judge of players than Frank Selee, now in Colorado Springs in the interest of the State league, believes that the Indians will be in the running.

The Pueblo Players.

"Many of the players are youngsters, and it remains to see how they will stand the fire," he said yesterday. "But I believe there are some comers in the bunch. Patterson strikes me as a splendid leader, and the team he has collected looks good in all departments. In Jackson, Fitzgerald, Cruise, Galgano, Nichols and Bies, the team has a fine pitching staff, while it is strong behind the bat with Smith and McKenzie. Patterson is a good first baseman, and with Clancey at second, Gorhan at short and Galgano probably at third, the infield will be fast. As far as past records go, the outfield is uncertain, but every member is a strong thrower. Bader's arrival at the close of the college will materially strengthen the team. Furthermore, the Pueblo fans have the proper baseball boosting spirit, and I look for a better season throughout."

The Denver team is now homeward bound after its practice with the Kansas City American association team. Manager Irwin is optimistic, as is shown by this interview just before the team left Kansas City:

"The Denver club will be a potent factor in the Western league pennant race this season. I believe the team will be fighting for first place all the time, and Denver is going to see the best baseball it has witnessed in years. That may be a warm line of talk to be handing out so early in the season, but watch the team."

Irwin Takes a Hit.

The Teddy Bears made a good impression, as is evidenced by the following from the Kansas City Star:

"The Teddy Bears look good to the Kansas City bugs. Cassady, Belden and Waldron compose an outfield that will be hard to beat. White, Lauderborn, Downey and Irwin, form an infield that makes the Western league sit up and take double notice. Irwin put up a great game in the four exhibitions played here. He plays a nice game in the field and hits well. The Denver players are lavish in their praise of Irwin's managerial abilities. He is all the popularity with his men already. He bids fair to prove a big hit in Denver."

The remaining games to be played by the Denver club are:

At Joplin, Mo.—April 5, 6, 7, 8.
At Hutchinson, Kan.—April 10, 11, 12.
To Denver—April 13.

The makeup of the Omaha champions remains practically the same as that which finished the season last September strong in all departments. Des Moines, under the new owner, J. F. Higgins of Chicago, is determined to have a winning team this year, and the policy inaugurated by the Cantillons of winning at any cost, is not to be changed. Lincoln, finishing second last year, seems in line for a good showing again, but is handicapped by the prohibition of Sunday ball at home. Sioux City is a somewhat uncertain quantity.

ROCK ISLAND'S PLAY TODAY

Will Meet Commission Men in Baseball at Roswell Park.

An interesting game of baseball is promised at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon when the Rock Islands meet the commission men at Roswell park. As teams appear evenly matched, their line-up being as follows:

Rock Islands	Commission Men.
A. Rahm	p. Willis
Fowler	c. Shields
Sharp	1b. McKitrick
Patterson	2b. W. Rahm
Counts	3b. L. Fowler

Owing to faculty restrictions, parental objections, the cost of living, the cost of transportation, and the fear of being skinned the interscholastic golf association has concluded not to send a team to England this year.

SLOWER and slower vibrates the pendulum of the social calendar in these last Lenten days, until it threatens to come to a complete standstill. Nothing more exciting than the smallest, most informal card, luncheon or dinner party is tolerated in the fashionable set. Invitations are extended in a studied, "by the bye," "drop in and see us" style, and thus is removed all suspicion of premeditated company.

Relatives and friends of the High School pupils will throng the Opera House, Thursday evening, when the annual play is to be given. "Charley's Aunt," an amusing little comedy, abounding in comical situations, was chosen for this year's performance, and an evening of merriment may be counted upon. Numerous parties have been formed among congenial people, and the young actors will receive a cordial welcome.

The open social meeting of the Colorado Springs Musical club at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. Stewart on Wood avenue, last Tuesday afternoon, was a most charming affair for all in attendance. Mrs. H. Howard Brown of New York city, gave an instructive parlor talk on "Standard Tone Production," and then coffee was served in the dining room.

Miss Stewart represented the hostess who was absent from the city, and Mrs. John Speed Tucker and Mrs. Frederick A. Faust presided at the urns. Ping and white tulips formed seasonable centerpiece upon the lace dotted polished table.

Among those in attendance were: Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Faust, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ayres Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley Ballou, Mrs. Leonard E. Curtis, Miss Curtis, Mrs. John R. Richards, Mrs. A. G. Hodgetts, Mrs. William Wells Price, Mrs. Oliver H. Shoup, Mrs. Eugene E. Griswold, Mrs. Charles F. Stough, Mrs. Edward W. Kent, Mrs. William K. Argo, Miss Josephine Tyler, Miss Baker, Miss Rouse, Miss Virginia Estill, Miss Lord, Miss Marjorie Hine, Miss Griggs, Miss Jessie Aiken, Miss Griffith, Miss Churchman, Miss Nelle Martin, Dr. Gerald B. Webb, Mr. F. L. Rouse, Mr. Lucius H. Rouse, Mr. Albert C. Pearson, Mr. Allen Byrne, Mrs. Curtis.

A rare musical treat is in store for all present Tuesday evening when the Girls' Glee club of the State Agricultural college will give a concert. Under the able leadership of Dr. Affleck, one of the best musical directors in Colorado, the club has reached a high degree of proficiency.

During the fall and winter, the organization has presented several light operas, which were much appreciated and attracted people from the surrounding towns so that railroad excursions to Fort Collins were well patronized.

The organization has the unique distinction of being the only girls' glee club in Colorado, and it has been even more popular than the men's clubs representing the several educational institutions of the state. This is the only trip undertaken by the club, and the novelty of its personnel as well as the excellent voices will make it well worth while to attend the concert.

The opera program given last season by the Colorado Springs Musical club was exceedingly popular and the committee having charge this year decided to retain that feature in its list of programs. Consequently, on Monday evening, April 13, an operatic concert of special interest will be interpreted in Perkins hall at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Llewelyn Jones, the favorite tenor, has consented to come from Denver to assist, and will sing the big tenor aria, from "La Gioconda," besides taking part in the well known quintet from "Rigoletto."

The Musical club chorus, under the direction of Dr. Woolsey, will contribute a Wagner number and the popular "I Lombardi" chorus from Verdi. A quartet of strings and piano will play the Vorspiel to the "Meistersinger."

Among other numbers might be mentioned Marguerite's aria from "Faust," the vocal trio from the card scene of "Carmen" and an aria from the Russian opera "Halka."

This evening meeting of the club will be an open one, thus affording the many music lovers in Colorado Springs the enjoyment of a program entirely devoted to the rendition of several old-time favorites in operatic music.

Mr. Lawrence K. Lunt of Colorado Springs, now a junior at Harvard university, has been signally honored by the Harvard union, a club composed of the undergraduates, and one of the most celebrated social organizations in the United States.

At the annual election of the officers of the club, Mr. Lunt received the highest office in the gift of the club, the vice presidency. The founder, Major H. L. Higginson of Boston, has always been elected the president, and doubtless will continue in office indefinitely.

Around Festive Board

Mrs. William Lennox spent the latter portion of the week as the house guest of Mrs. Henry A. Buchtel at the gubernatorial residence in University park, Denver, Thursday noon, Mrs. Buchtel entertained the bevy of ladies assisting her in the afternoon during her last "at home" until fall at an elaborate luncheon. Mrs. Lennox was the guest of honor at the luncheon and afterwards was in the receiving line for the reception.

Judge William Harrison Gandy attained his sixty-ninth birthday last Tuesday, March 31, and on Wednesday, his children gathered in the family residence, 715 North Nevada avenue and participated in the anniversary surprise for Judge Gandy, which took the form of a dinner party.

Participating were, Judge and Mrs. Gandy, Mrs. Minnie Merriam of Canon City; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Parker, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Gandy and Miss Hattie Gandy.

On that occasion some interesting facts in the life of Judge Gandy were recalled. He is one of the surviving soldiers of the Civil War who cast his first ballot for Abraham Lincoln. He served three years in the army and has voted the Republican ticket always. He is a pioneer of southwestern Iowa and aided the administration in making it a prohibition state.

Mr. C. Sharpless Pastorius entertained a few friends most informally Friday night at dinner in his North Cascade avenue home, with bridge afterwards.

Mr. H. H. Hallett, who has been for some time a guest at the Antlers, entertained most delightfully at a small dinner party, Tuesday evening, at the hotel, previous to his departure for St. Louis, Mo., where he will spend a few weeks with his brother, Mr. E. A. Hallett, formerly of this city.

The guests of Mr. Hallett, Tuesday evening, were Mrs. A. L. Hallett, Mrs. Jay More, and Mrs. H. D. Heywood of Nevada.

Announcement was made yesterday afternoon of the engagement of Miss Bessie Louise Turner, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Turner, to Mr. Theron Samuel Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement H. Barnes, all of this city.

The members of the Chest club were luncheon guests of the bride-elect, at the Turner residence, 1023 North Weber street, and as Miss Turner is a member of the organization it was most fitting that so auspicious an occasion marked the happy announcement. The dainty decorations were symbolic of Eastertide.

Place cards in the device of snowy carrier doves bore the message beneath the wing, a tiny envelope inclosing this couplet:

In April we will marry if we can,
Ted and Bess.

The members of the Chest club are Mrs Homer Rulon, Mrs Glenard W. Blake, Mrs. Glen Jackson, Mrs. Jennie Bradley, Miss Etta Kintz, Miss Ethel Way, Miss Netta Brown, Miss Genevieve Turner. Included in the luncheon party were Mrs. Turner and Miss Winifred Grimoldby of Pueblo.

Mrs. Frank Rice, 1224 Colorado avenue, gave a violet luncheon Wednesday, April 1, in honor of Miss Pearl Long's birthday anniversary. The feature of the luncheon was a beautiful birthday cake with cotton filling. Each guest was given a sheet of paper with a single letter at the top, and was told to write a story, each word beginning with her particular letter. Then an ad writing contest was held in which Miss Long won the prize.

Mrs. Rice's guests were Mrs. Claude J. Bullack, Mrs. Lester Eyler, Mrs. William N. Monfort, Mrs. C. L. McKesson, Miss Marguerite McKesson, Miss Mabel Braden, Miss Frances Cind Mars, and Miss Long.

The Rocking Chair club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Jay More, 1 Cheyenne boulevard. Mrs. Robert Davis led in the review and discussion on "The Fruit of the Tree" by Edith Wharton. The special guests were Mrs. Davis Mrs. Thomas Chapman and Mrs. Charles H. Dudley. A delicious buffet lunch was served by Mrs. More. Mrs. Gillis will be the hostess on Wednesday, April 15, at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. A. Peifer, 14 Ramona avenue, Ivywild.

With Musicians.

The next meeting of the Colorado Springs center of the Wa-Wan society will be held at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Faust, on the evening of Friday, April 10th, at 8:15 o'clock when the following program will be presented:

Mrs. Clement C. Dickey gave the second in her course of musical lectures last week, subject, "Hindu and Mohammedan Music." On Tuesday, at 3 o'clock, Mrs. Dickey will lecture on "Greek and Roman Music," at her residence, 108 East Monument street.

Some of the vocal pupils of Mrs. H. A. Hamilton gave an interesting recital Friday afternoon in the studio, 1928 North Nevada avenue, assisted by Miss Edyth Taylor, a talented young pupil of Miss Marie Gashwiler.

Those contributing numbers to the vocal portion of the program were Miss Helen Lennox, Miss Dorothy Holden, Miss Marguerite Glasser, Miss Merrill Smith, Miss Maurine Danley, and Miss Jennie Pinckney.

The Musical club chorus is rehearsing every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Kellerman Music store, and a concert is contemplated in a few weeks, with out-of-town talent assisting. One of the numbers in preparation by the chorus is the beautiful Irish ballad, "Phaudrig Crohoore."

A gathering of interested members held Monday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley Ballou, resulted in forming a permanent organization for choral work. Any person wishing to join the Colorado Springs Festival society for earnest practice in choral music of the best quality, though not necessarily difficult, is invited to attend the next rehearsal to be held tomorrow evening in Perkins hall, at 7:30 o'clock. For particulars communicate by telephone with Dean Hale, 1123 North Weber street, Mrs. Kingsley Ballou, 115 east San Rafael street, or Mrs. C. C. Dickey, 108 East Monument street.

Dean Hale will play the opus 124 of Schumann, Tuesday afternoon during the music conference held in Fine Arts recital hall, Perkins building, beginning at 5 o'clock. The work selected is a series of pieces highly Schumannesque in style—all interesting and in many cases showing the composer at his best. The public is cordially invited.

Mrs. George M. Perry has gone to New York city to resume her study with Oscar Saenger. Before her departure, the Pierian society gave her a pleasant surprise and "bon voyage" in the Perry apartments in St. Vrain court. Mrs. Perry will remain with Mr. Saenger until the end of his teaching season.

The pupils of Miss Grace E. Lord gave an interesting piano recital Thursday afternoon, at her home, 10 East Second street, Ivywild, before an appreciative audience.

Quite recently Mrs. Ida W. Casser has had two pieces of music published, "The Antlers Waltz," dedicated to Gen. William J. Palmer, and "Opera Gavott," which were written by her late husband, Mr. Constantine Casser. The unpretentious yet pleasing works show that Mr. Casser was a composer having the ability to become an exceptionally fine artist if his life had been prolonged. The Antlers waltz has an embellished title page bearing a handsome picture of the Antlers hotel with the Peak in the dim distance. This was composed for a prize contest of the Ladies' Home Journal, the terms of which were never carried out. The gavotte was originally played during the Denver Kirmess and met with great favor.

Miss Marjory Sperry, Miss Ruth Kendall and Miss Geraldine Ellis, advanced pupils of Miss Ida E. Gilbert, gave an interesting recital at her home, 1302 Washington avenue, Friday evening. The program contained a pleasing variety of solos, duets and quartets.

* * *

Mme. Crawford gave the second recital in her Beethoven course, yesterday afternoon in her studio, 10 East Pikes Peak avenue. The numbers rendered were:

Sonata No. 1, Op. 2, No. 1 .....
(a) Allegro.
(b) Largo con gran espressione.
(c) Allegro.
(d) Rondo—allegretto.
Sonata No. 18, Op. 31, No. 3 .....
(a) Allegro.
(b) Scherzo—allegretto vivace.
(c) Menuetto—moderato e grazioso.
(d) Presto con fuoco.
Sonata No. 22, Op. 54 .....
(a) Menuetto.
(b) Allegretto.

Engagements Married

Miss Leta Card, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Brewer, 223 North Wahsatch avenue, was united in marriage to Mr. Marshall Bennett, 810 North Weber street, in Denver early last week. After their brief bridal trip, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will reside in Colorado Springs.

Formal--Informal

The members and friends of the B. P. O. E. No. 309 will enjoy another one of their popular dances on Wednesday evening, April 8, in their beautiful clubhouse. Upon that occasion, the handsome new plates recently donated to the order, will be on exhibition, and will be an interesting feature of the evening. All the arrangements are made for the dances by a committee composed of Mr. Jack Fink, Mr. Ralph C. Bradfield, Mr. George S. Milone, Mr. Walter Udick and Dr. Mark H. Smith.

In celebration of the thirtieth birthday anniversary of Mr. Masterson, Mrs. Howard Masterson gave a charming little party Monday night in their home, 1509 South Cascade avenue. American Beauty roses and asparagus plumosa decorated the apartments prettily. A several course supper was an especial feature of the late evening hours.

Participating were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Larrabee, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Bogardus, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. McTeague, Misses Denton, Lois Bogardus, and Frank.

The Eastern Star Sewing circle met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Charles H. Wyman, 129 North Wahsatch avenue. Miss Ruth Wiley entertained the ladies with piano solos. Mrs. O. E. Buchmann assisted Mrs. Wyman in serving delicious refreshments. Next Thursday afternoon the meeting will be held with Mrs. Selma McDermid, 430 South Cascade avenue. The members will please bring their thimbles.

The spring vacation was fully enjoyed by the college and High school students, judging from the large number of picnic parties and informal social affairs of an impromptu nature. The largest and most formal entertainment was the second dance in the series being given by the officers of the Colorado Springs High school battalion, at the Alamo, Friday evening. The hotel orchestra furnished excellent dance music for the evening.

At the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Peifer, 14 Ramona avenue, in Ivywild, last Saturday afternoon, Miss Gwendolin Peifer gave an Easter party, the guests being 14 of her little friends. The games, decorations, etc., were symbolic of Easter, and the place cards were ornamented with fluffy little chickens.

The Delta Sigma Phi met last Thursday afternoon in the home of Miss Blanche Schmitt, 1111 Colorado avenue. The floral decorations were pink and white carnations.

The special guests were Mrs. E. R. Neiswanger and Miss Ethel Davis. Miss Clyde Templeton, of Nob hill, will be the hostess, Thursday, April 16.

Margaret Hufford entertained several of her little friends Saturday afternoon with a phonograph party in her home, 818 East Cache la Poudre street. Miss Eva Riggs served the refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Bert Rouse.

The children present were Grace Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Buchmann, Edith and Florence Haden, Grace Sheff, Fern Penwell, Elizabeth Butner, Bertha Cole, Master George Buchmann.

Miss Alice Jacobs of this city, was the guest of honor last Friday at a five hundred party given by Miss May Hinchman of Denver.

The ladies of the Maccabees of the World gave a delightful card social Thursday evening in K. of P. hall, nine tables participating. Refreshments were served by a committee of the ladies.

The next meeting of the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock in K. of P. hall.

At the Card Tables

Mrs. H. A. Hamilton, 1928 North Nevada avenue, was hostess Thursday afternoon when the Euchre club met and enjoyed its usual six-handed game. Mrs. Henry W. McRae won the first prise, a brass candlestick; Mrs. Max Lorig, second, a piece of cut glass, and Mrs. George S. Curtis, third, a picture. A meeting of the club will be held with Mrs. McRae, 1823 North Cascade avenue, next Thursday afternoon.

The Practice Bridge club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. John W. Sheafor, 122 East Uintah street. Mrs. Louis A. Giddings won the prize awarded monthly. This week's meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Arthur Perkins, 1219 North Tejon street.

The management and the guests of the Alta Vista gave a delightful progressive high five party on Tuesday evening. There were six tables and six prizes. The first prizes were won by Mrs. F. C. Ross and Mr. F. C. Bossey, second, by Mrs. McCormick and Mr. A. L. Holmes; consolations, by Madame Clark and Mr. H. H. Stevens.

In farewell compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Meade, who are soon to reside in Denver, Dr. and Mrs. Mark H. Smith, of North Nevada avenue, delightfully entertained at five hundred on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Duncan won the ladies' prize, a blooming cyclamen, and Mr. Kenyon the gentlemen's prize, a gold picture frame.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Kenyon, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Lathrop, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Deal, Mr. and Mrs. William Cundy, Mr. and Mrs. Meade, Dr. and Mrs. Smith, Miss Charlotte Fink, Miss Emogene Moyer, Miss Richardson, Miss Smith, Mr. Lucius H. Rouse, Mr. Dallas.

Mrs. C. H. Barnes, 1820 North Tejon street, entertained informally at cards last Friday afternoon in compliment to Miss Bessie Turner. The prizes were won by Mrs. Robert Kerr, Mrs. Charles J. Heath and Mrs. Louis P. Eldredge. Pink and white carnations were used as the floral garniture.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cundy entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Meade, Monday evening, in their home on East Columbia street. Five hundred was the diversion. The handsome burnt wood glove box made by the hostess for the ladies' prize, was captured by Mrs. Kenyon. The equally fine handkerchief box, gentlemen's prize, fell to Mr. Wood.

Late in the evening, a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess. The centerpiece for the dining room table was a clever Easter one consisting of a large duck and her brood of little ones ensconced in greenery. The favors were Easter eggs.

Included in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Meade, Mr. and Mrs. Cundy, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Kenyon, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Bradfield, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wood, Dr. and Mrs. Mark H. Smith and Miss Smith.

One evening last week, Madame Clark and Mrs. Clark charmingly entertained the guests of the Alta Vista hotel at a card party.

A pleasant social event of the past week was the surprise visit paid to Mr. A. B. Cole, 1228 San Miguel place, Monday evening, in commemoration of his forty-third birthday anniversary. Mrs. Cole had arranged every detail with the greatest secrecy and the surprise was a complete and delightful one.

Progressive high five was played and prizes were awarded. The high prizes were taken by Mrs. Cline and Mr. Jordan—a handsome potted plant and a hand-painted cup and saucer, respectively. The consolation prizes were given to Mrs. Kilpatrick and Mr. Cline—a bunch of carnations for the lady, while Mr. Cline was handed a lemon.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Kilpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Jordan.

Personal Briefs

Mr. Howard M. Hartshorn, son-in-law of Judge and Mrs. Horace G. Lunt, of this city, recently had one of his pictures accepted for the Paris salon. The subject is two old men engaged in a game of chess, and the work is pronounced one of Mr. Hartshorn's very best.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Craigue of Detroit, Mich., formerly of this city, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Johnston, 1029 North Nevada avenue, lately. Mr. and Mrs. Craigue intend to occupy their residence on Washington avenue for awhile.

SONG OF THE PILGRIM SOUL.

March swiftly on. Yet err not from the way
The path of faith made by the sons of God.

Follow the marks that they have set beside
Follow, and honor what the past has gained,
And forward still, that more may be attained.

Something to learn, and something to forget;
Hold fast the good, and seek the better yet.
Press on, and prove the pilgrim hope of youth—

—Henry Van Dyke.

A REMARKABLE WOMAN.

Mrs. Dosebai C. Jessawalla, who was the first Parsee woman to receive an English education, is now making a tour of the world. The other day she attended a meeting of parliament attired in her native robes and attracted considerable attention. She has been quite widely entertained in London, several society women having given lavish entertainments in her honor. She is now in her eighty-seventh year. Besides her many other accomplishments she is an expert needlewoman, and is now completing a handsome piece of oriental embroidery, which she plans to present to Queen Alexandra before she sails for the west to complete her tour of the globe.

A nice thing about stairs would be if your house didn't have them when you get home at 3 in the morning.

FOREVER YOUNG.

The gray-haired century nears its close;
But, darling, while your voice I hear,
And while your dark-brown eyes I see,
Sad months and sunless seasons drear,
Are all the same, all glad, to me.

Despair can never reach me
While your soft hand I hold;
While your eyes love and teach me,
I never shall grow old!

They say that love forsakes the old;
That passion pales and fades away;
That even love's bright locks of gold
Must lose their charm and change to gray.
But, darling, while your heart is mine,
And while I feel that you are true,
For me the skies will ever shine
With summer light and tenderest blue.

I scorn his mocking tongue.
Dear love, with you beside me,
I am forever young!

—Selected.

MY PRAYER.

Teach me to sound one note, oh, God,
Full, rounded, that shall not be lost
In life's great onward, garnering sweep,
And lo, I will not count the cost,
God, I cannot bear to go
This journey through of joy or pain,
And at the end my dying hands
Hold not one golden, deathless grain,
Let all life's joys, if so must be,
As heedless of my hungering
As chasing shadows on the grass;
But give me that one boon I crave
To know, ere death and I shall meet,
That love is richer for my sake,
And life somewhere grows strong and sweet.

—Caroline Rentrew in Woman's Tribune.

A Tea Drinker

That is, one who is at all particular, uses discrimination in buying his tea. He doesn't merely order a pound of tea, but, on the contrary, is not satisfied unless he gets some special brand. Our

HOW FABRICS WERE NAMED.

In connection with the insistently clinging character of velvet it may be noted that this stuff takes it name from the Italian "vello," shaggy, offering in this respect a parallel with "satin," which comes from the Latin "seta," a bristle.

As a general rule it is pretty safe to guess that the name of a dress material comes from some place. Besides such obvious cases as "astrakhan," "cashmere" and "tweed," there are "fustian" (the humble analogue of velvet), from Fustat (Cairo); "muslin," from Mosul in Mesopotamia; "damask," from Damascus; and "cambric," from Cambrai, while "millinery" itself is from Milan.

The case of "silk" is a curious one. It is "sericum," the stuff obtained from the Seres or Chinese, but these people seem to have been named in ancient Greek after the Chinese word for silkworm.—London Chronicle.

NEW YORK LIFE.

Mrs. Lydia Kingsmill Commander, author of a recent book on race suicide, which attracted widespread attention, says that 90 per cent of the young men in New York are bachelors. The reasons they give for not marrying, she says, are that the big corporations which employ them prefer single men; that the luxury of bachelor apartments

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR CURE.

A Lady Subscriber Will Send Free to Any Sufferer the Secret Which Cured Her.

One of our lady subscribers asks us to announce that she will send free to any reader of this paper, full particulars of a safe and wonderful cure for Superfluous Hair. She will tell in detail, free, how to secure relief from all traces of Superfluous Hair, by the same permanently satisfactory means that cured her after many things had failed.

She states that the means she used is harmless and simple and makes the electric needle entirely unnecessary. It removed all traces of a humiliating growth of hair on her face and arms, that had distressed her since childhood. Although she had spent much money on depilatories, electrolysis and other things, in vain, this simple cure enabled her to forever end all embarrassment. She will send entirely free the full particulars to enable any other sufferer to achieve the same happy results privately, at home. All she asks is a two cent stamp for reply. is so attractive and that the young women they would like to marry have cultivated tastes which their salaries could not permit.

Mrs. Commander says that New York life induces celibacy. A man, she says, prefers comfortable existence for one rather than a pinched income for two. However, she declares that the basis for marriage today is preferable to that of the old days, "for now women marry for the best reason in the world—for love—where formerly they married for a home."

When a wise man gets the worst of it he makes the best of it.

A man must not choose his neighbor; he must take his neighbor that God sends him. In him, whoever he be, lies hidden or revealed a beautiful brother. The neighbor is jar, the man who is next to you at the moment. This love of our neighbor is the only door out of the dungeon of self.—George Macdonald.

A New Style of the Schaeffer Piano

We have just received a Schaeffer in the new style design, and we anticipate for it a remarkable reception.

The rare design of any Schaeffer Piano is a model of its kind, and the new style is meant to eclipse them all.

But even though the Schaeffer ever excels in case design, it is not for that reason alone that we recommend it so highly. We recommend the Schaeffer as we do because it has been proven to be the piano that is to fill the long felt want—a high grade piano at a moderate price. The beauty and symmetry of its interior is only in keeping with the painstaking care with which action and scale have been worked out and the veneers of the choicest mahogany or oak which beautify the Schaeffer to the eye, have not been selected with more care than the ash or maple which are entirely hidden from sight.

Easter Neckwear

Delightful styles in neckwear for Palm Sunday and Easter. It's no wonder our neckwear is so popular when such a lovely variety is priced so reasonably.

Ascots in linen, plain or embroidered for only 75c

TOMORROW we begin the first day of the last week before Palm Sunday, with Easter but two short weeks away. Recently, a sort of a precedent has been set by many fashionable women in choosing Palm Sunday as the time to don the airy togs of spring. However, others still insist on waiting till Easter. In either case, it is the Easter season. With the fresh smell of the newly turned glebe and sweet love notes of the feathered songsters, comes the suggestion of change of raiment. Pre-eminent among all harbingers of spring is Womankind garbed in fashionable attire, and how willingly will mankind slave to furnish the habiliments.

With all that is correct and fascinating, the Giddings store more forcibly than ever presents the gems of the fashion world. Whether it be some tiny dress requisite, a pattern hat, an elaborate costume or wrap, or whether you seek a selection from this great range of medium merchandise, never were we better prepared to serve you completely and undiscriminatingly. The Giddings policy of high quality and low prices, backed by a strong prestige among the world's best makers, has resulted in great achievements that will be emphatically demonstrated in this pre-Easter exhibition of all is correct for spring and summer.

A splendid show, $19.50 to $25

At the prices that range from $19.50 to $25 we show a dandy lot of clever styles. The suits are the products of New York's foremost women's clothes makers and were made of fine selected fabrics especially for us. Stripes that fashion has decreed proper for spring are conspicuous, plain materials are shown in all the new spring colors, monotone and novelty effects are well represented.

For those who desire we are showing a beautiful lot of tailored suits at $40, $45, $50, $60, $75 and up to $140.00. You will find pleasure in viewing them.

Fashionable ideas, $30 to $37.50

Our most popular selling styles are those shown at $30, $32.50, $35 and $37.50. In every instance you will note the results of the most careful workmanship. These are suits that portray elegance and refinement, they are duplicates of those extremely fashionable Parisian modes. It is a nobby lot and the close prices that we have made will appeal to even those with limited means.

For those who wish to have their new suit before Easter, and to insure proper alterations, it is imperative that early selections be made.

A new lot of merry widow sailors just received

The popularity of the Giddings millinery is strongly proved by the almost phenomenal increase of our business this spring. From the day of our opening we have been constantly turning out new hats, and orders are increasing daily. In fact our millinery work room has outgrown itself in one season. An extension is now being added. Quite a strong endorsement of our millinery and prices, don't you think?

Tailored hats in all the most popular and becoming shapes, revealing the broad rim effect, the natty turbans, those fashionable high crowns in all a large variety of large and small models, $5.50 up to $20.

The Merry Widow Sailors, that are having such a run of popularity this season. We are pleased to announce the arrival of a new lot, the very latest ideas. May we show them to you? $1.25, $1.75, $2.50, $3.00.

Exquisite pattern hats, the most pronounced Parisian models that the fashion world have decreed correct. Ladies who demand the best, those who enjoy distinction in dress, will be delighted with these magnificent creations, $25.00 to 65.00.

It is to your advantage to leave immediate orders for Easter millinery.

Easter hosiery

One of our strong features is our superb display of all that's new in fancy hosiery. The newest fads, in lace and embroidered effects, are shown in splendid varieties, 50c and 75c.

Splendid Easter Glove values

The gloves we show for Palm Sunday and Easter have a greater attraction than the ordinary glove stock. Better grades can not be procured and our little prices make their values of special interest.

TRAVELING AND ITS JOYS

"Parse Henry" Watterson Discourses Upon Them.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

A magazine writer, discoursing upon the prices of tours says that the Mediterranean trip is an economy to many persons, when the cessation of home expenses is considered, and such an easily arranged affair that many go year after year upon the same boat.

The two greatest educators are reading and travel. Despite the machinations of the Paper trust, books, periodicals and newspapers are so cheap that poverty is not a valid defense of ignorance. Travel was formerly exclusive because of the time and expense involved. We have reduced the size of the continents, and steamships have brought them close together. Our forefathers spent from six weeks to six months, according to the whims of the winds crossing the Atlantic, and suffered the while the discomforts and privations of a sailing ship. Nowadays we leave New York in a floating hotel, confident of keeping a dinner engagement in Paris upon a given date within the week. We take a leisurely cruise almost anywhere this side of the Suez canal and home again in less time than it took Jules Verne's Mr. Fogg to circumnavigate the globe to win a wager. The "travel habit" is prevalent in this country. The result of it is that as a nation we are less provincial than any other people.

Home-keeping youth—and the custom applies to age as well—hath ever homely wit. We think within our horizon and dream beyond it. Nothing increases our mental breadth so surely as going abroad and seeing something of the customs and the people of other countries.

Even with the modern conveniences travel is not all play. It has its annoyances and fatigues, but, as Mr. Benson says in a recently published essay, it is worth submitting to the one and undergoing the other "to see the spring sun lie softly upon unfamiliar foliage, to see the delicate tints of the purple-flowered Judas tree, to hear the warm waves lapping upon palace stairs, to stand by the tombs of heroes and saints, to see scenes made classic by art and history."

Occasionally, we note a [illegible] longer presents the allurement of exploration; travel has lost its chief charm. It is true that the beaten track now traverses the most distant countries. The personally-conducted tourist pokes into the remote corners of the earth. Rich Americans set out in Darkest Africa, to hunt big game, in trains de luxe. The wandering Briton has lifted the veil from the last of the lands of mystery by climbing the Himalayas, penetrating to the forbidden city of Lhassa, setting his profaning foot down in the sacred temples and frightening the Grand Lama into the bush. Somebody has been everywhere except the poles, and everybody knows everything by experience or hearsay. The windiest and most eloquent traveler is no match for the guide books in the art of minute description, and each of the wonders of the world is exploited by a Yankee press agent. But if modern transportation facilities and modern hotels in musty ancient cities have robbed travel of adventure, they have compensated us for that by making it possible for almost anyone to become a traveler.

Gibraltar is nearer the middle west in 1907 than Hell Gate was in 1807. The Alhambra and the Taj Mahal are hardly farther from the Mississippi that the White House was when it was builded. The pyramids are much nearer Kansas than Bunker hill was when the foundation of its fame was laid. In a little while the gyroscope may bring San Francisco within 12 hours from Broadway, but the difference between the travel in the present time and in the days when the traveler spended upon the windjammer upon the ocean and the stage coach on the trail upon land.

Persons who can afford to travel and who stop at home because of contentment with home surroundings and home scenes overlook an opportunity that is unique in the history of the world. To most of them a six weeks' or six months' journey would amply repay the effort and expense, even if it brought nothing but a keener appreciation of how truly John Howard Payne sang "There's no place like home," for it is only by comparison that the greatness of this country and her institutions can be measured, and the traveled American is not only better educated, but also a better American than his fellow citizen who will take neither the time nor the trouble to strike his tent and treat himself to a journey.

The Early Bird

By Henry M. Hildcoui

"THE heathen Chinee is peculiar," observed the second officer. "See the ingenuity of that feller at the winch, now."

On a white-hot deck the coolies dodged and clamored. Aft on the poop the burping screws. The chain ran down rattling, till they signaled the winch to stop, with yellow hands waving abstractedly, and a wall of "Aiee!" Grunts and thuds rose out of the forehold in a thin but pungent cloud of dust; then the watchers at the rail cried "Virra—virra—virra!" in frenzy, the chain clanked taut, and a giant sling-ful of brown canny bags swung inboard with a rush, poised over the black yawn of the hatch, twirled and suddenly dropped out of sight, to the hollow iron music of the winch and a polyglot scream of "Kubberdar arred—guar'n'aba'o!"

The winch boy—an old little aged Chinaman in a pastoral straw bonnet, with a sheath knife sticking out, like a rudimentary tail stump, from under his blue dungarees—had hardly exerted a muscle. Instead of the fuming, sweating tug which a white man gives the lever, he had laid on a calm hand and done the trick. Two bricks, lashed with ropeyarn at the proper point, swung below, and a "Hylam" coolie had scored one mechanical triumph over a Glasgow firm.

"Now that's ingenooity," said the second. He paused to kick a Bengali boxwallah down the ladder and followed to cut his sampan loose. Shrieks of protest—"Oh, zoolum!—Zubbenlee!!" rose and drifted astern over the glaring harbor. The second remounted, mopping sweat from under his pith helmet, and muttering—"black swine, chafing all the paint off my stanchions."

"Ingenooity," he resumed. "That's what counts."

This he elaborated after tiffin, in Mac's cabin against the silent engines. We all smoked Mrs. Middleton's cheroots, scratched prickly heat, and cursed Chittagong.

"But American ingenooity's the most ingenious," he declared, patriotically. "What? Oh, Scots be hanged. Hoot, toot. Mean by it? Definition? Why, sure I mean—er—that quality which—as which promotes the general happiness with the least fuss to all concerned. There you are. Now let me talk." And here is the second story:

Before I was in steam this way, I knocked around in oil ships a spell and fought some in the Philippeens, and 'fore that prospected considerable in Colorado and China and all over. Well, a crowd of us boys was sent up into Sumatra by some Dutchmen—Padang highlands, and way up in from Fort de Kock. We found some gold, and lots o' dengue fever. But the Dutchmen naturally didn't pay us as per contract, and we got back to Batavia with something over 300 guilders between four of us, for all our worldy goods. We put up at the best hotel, and figured how long it would last.

We ought to moved out quick, but after the bosque things was so interesting in that little Dutch burg that we kept staying on. Seemed like a metropolis. And presently, what with circuses, and biographs, and inylords, and Duck-and-Dorises, and—and entertainments, we found that a conservative estimate left us 354 guilders in debt by the time the next boat sailed, a Chinese boat and deck passage at that. 'Twasn't altogether our fault. We'd have cleared out and been all right. I've always argued, if the king of Siam hadn't come over to investigate Buddhist ruins and paddy growing. He was hot on modern improvements then; traveled in a yacht, a converted hooker that was improved some. He stopped at the same hotel, of course, with a push o' courtiers and 52 wives, a full pack and him the little joker. Everything blossomed out ga, at once—one long state feast. O' courre we stayed. The queens all wore silk knickerbockers, 52 of 'em; an interesting sight, a-floating round and pining at the windows. We stayed.

No prospect o' more money, or even jobs. The consul's one o' the white men in the east, and helped us a whole lot, but he didn't hold out any rosy delusions o' grandeur much more.

Finally, I remember, we all sat up late one night, loafing round in sarongs in the ground floor verandas, and listening to tree lizards a-calling "To-kay, To-kay!" the way they do. It makes you thirsty if you like sweet wines. Well, about midnight we'd exhausted every project and were knocking each other a good deal. All the kings wives had disappeared long ago, upstairs, and everything was dull and we were pryfish.

"I see a way o' financing ourselves, I think," says Sam Bird. "Perhaps." He was a big California boy, talked slow and lazy, a farmer-looking boy, but one of the best. "Don't go knocking this way. Wait till to-morrer or next day."

"Just what we been doing," snaps out Bassett. "To-morrer, and to-morrer, and to-morrer, slips into the lean and slippered pantaloon," Bassett came from the Uni of Indiana or somewhere, and he has a Shakespeare by the back—little chap, big spectacles, thin face, and a nose as pointed as a lead pencil;—one more whittle and the point'd break; a little sharp nose and a little sharp voice through it. No! Not Shakespeare; Bassett!) "That's what you lazy Pacific Slopers are always saying," he tells Sam. "Tomorrer, mañana, bessk—bad as these goo-goos."

I knew what Bird's game was, I thought, and said so.

"You're trying to sell those snake-skins to those two French epidermist men in Noordwijk. Saw you pervading round there. They ain't fools. They've been to Java before."

—If you have luck. What's that in our crisis?"

"Don't you go figuring on any flirtation motifs with the forty-second queen," says Bassett, following his glance. "That don't belong honorable pidgin."

"This ain't romance," says Bird, quite disgusted. "You never see things as they are. Pity always bookish. This is an awful cold proposition."

We allowed it was, too, and told him what we thought of him for rousing false hopes over a lot o' mangy snakeskins that wouldn't realize our fares to Tandjong Prick in a bullock cart, let alone a sado. Bassett got real bitter about it.

"So do I," agrees Sam Bird, prompt and hearty.

"I'd 'a' married a nice native girl in a Sumatra wrapper," says Bassett, letting on not to hear, "and settled down in a nice little campong, plenty of rice, and nothing to do but sing the Koran at nightfall, under the bamboo tree. And here we are, beachcombers in Batavia, and we'll starve to death, and the Dutch'll give our effects to their orphans' home, and—finish!"

"No orphan would be grasping enough to want 'em," says Bird, "and no girl with good eyesight would rarify that 'nat scheme." They went on to pass very low remarks, and got to be in earnest; and when Dan Towers, who'd been homesick for some time, said he'd never see Ashtabula, Ohio, again, and Bird said there was always compensations, we nearly had a fight 'cause Dan really liked Ashtabula. Ain't it a funny world?

Well, we all got sore, and went to bed blue, in those small marble senulchre Turkish bath bedrooms, about 2 in the morning. Before daybreak I woke a little and heard a thrashing sound in Sam Bird's room next door, and then saw his kimono flapping 'cross the compound on his way back from the bath. I sung out, "Go to bed, idiot!" and rolled over to sleep.

Along dawn I woke again, and this time I heard a frightful fog—strong men cursing, engines blowing off and horns tooting like the steam tram was running wild in the back yard. I stuck my head outdoors—out popped all the others, Bassett's sharp beak, and old Dan's big frowzy nut and a long line o' bullet-headed Dutch planters all down the veranda, like horses looking out o' their stalls. And there under the big banyan tree, puffing and churning and emitting smoke, was a ridiculous little red motor car. First one we'd ever seen in the east. A six-footer in white and a top! bigger'n the machine itself, sat at the wheel, jerking on them tell-tale-handle things and writhing round.

When the sleep cleared out o' my eyes I saw it was Sam Bird.

"He's gone off his head," says he. "Heat's been too much for him. Thought he acted queer last night."

"She'll run all right," sings out Bird. To prove it, she bucked through a mile fence into the banyan roots, and gave up with a snort. Sam took a monkey wrench and a spanner out of his pocket, pulled off his coat and disappeared under the body work in the jungle.

We three ran out in our pajamas—nice cool morning air—birds just beginning to chirp up in the canopy—sun mists a-rising.

He was on his back under the machine wrenching and pounding, and wouldn't say a word. You wouldn't believe the smell o' that cheap petrol stuff it'd undergone. It, she was a little French machine, crazy and falling apart with old age, but I could see she'd been scrubbed and polished like pinnacles. Even kicking Sam's legs didn't make him come out till he finished. When he did his undershirt was all trickled over with black goo, and he was red as apoplexy, but grinning.

"HE WAS ON HIS BACK WRENCHING AND POUNDING."

"She'll run!" he said, as if we'd been waiting weeks to hear that fact.

"Look here, you Native Son o' the Golden West," squeaks Bassett, very sharp, "explain yourself. What thing are you doing?"

"Looks like an otta-mobile, don't it?" says Bird, in a speculative kind o' way. "It is."

He began tinkering some more, and started to whistle a real catchy little piece. Bassett hauled at his shoulders, and shook his fist under Sam's nose, fighting mad.

"What thing?" he was yelling. "What thing?" We were all talking at once, so loud that the manager appeared at his bedroom window in a towel.

This California boy he pitched Bassett half way into the banyan bosque.

There, he said. After tinkering a while more, he explained to me and Dan: "If you must know, I'm just taking a ride round 'fore breakfast. Dawn, beautiful dawn! Fresh and mild, and the little dickey birds is wabbling their fresh little lays, and laying their fresh little eggs; and my! the sunrise through those cocoa palms! You wouldn't believe how a nature-lover enjoys a turn in his car this way."

Sam, old man, I says, trying to speak kind, what's the matter with a hundred guilders a week?

He became sensible at once.

"Now look here, you—you—you—business-like, you ask me if there's any one asks you remember it's none. Matter of fact, I'm hiring it by the day. But if any asks, don't forget it's mine. I'm a wealthy and eccentric young man. That's the line—wealthy eccentric."

"What?" squeals Bassett, bursting out through the vines. "Hiring? By the day? Boys," he turns to us, fairly erving "we've got to get our funds—that this—this—vampire cats up and throws away, so's he can come wake us up 'too daylight out of our warm beds—I mean cool beds!" He took on fierce till we began to see it in his light, and then we all three went for Sam so noisy that he had to blow his horn continuous to keep from hearing us.

The manager sent a Java boy out to say that the gentlemen must make some quier at once, or they might disturb his majesty the king.

"I don't know about the head that wears a crown," allows Bassett, "but it must have had some uneasy for the last half hour. You come down to my room and explain, Sam Bird," he says as we moved away. "There's a lot to be said yet."

Bird was still calm and unnatural. He took off the undershirt with the coal-tar front, threw it under the banyan, and buttoned up his jacket. Then he put in English and a duke's drawl.

"No feah," says he, talking loud enough for a gallery. "I must be off for a spin in my caw. If you were properly attiawed and did not behave like such a pertect fotter, I might have awsked you, dear boy." And he climbed park into the car.

"It's the heat's done it," says Bassett, while we rested in our long chairs. "Notice him throw me around? He couldn't 've done that with his normal strength. Go on yours-if, Dan. I say he is. I know better. He's hit the sun—heat and fever and worry."

All of a sudden we thought so, too, when the horn bellowed like an ass from the banyan, and came bumping down our way, laying a trail o' this axle grease stuff all along the path. Honk-onk-onk, goes the horn, and the rattle was like a steam roller full of iron pots, and sick Sam sat up dignified, steering round and round the compound full speed, skewing the corners, and doing a Judgment day on the [illegible]. You know the howl a cat woman's poodle makes, when he breathes? That car was like an elephant suffering the same way. There wasn't a piece o' silence left in Weltevreden. I was a pretty race, and when Sam, without slowing engines, dodged the pet orang-utan (who'd come out into the road from behind the bath house suddenly), why, all the Dutchmen laughed, and so did the Javanese boys, and we cheered. It was such neat work, and the orang-utan looked so surprised. Heads began to show in the windows of the royal suite.

By this time the uproar was something awful; till Sam ported his helm and went bolting down the avenue again, cut the gate, and we could hear distant honks a-floating off past the Harmonie club.

By breakfast time he wasn't back. At table we had nothing to say except our friend was a wealthy and eccentric young man, with a passion for taking out his motor car in the early morning. The manager had quieted down apparently, no complaints issued by royalty.

When he came back, about 2 o'clock, he left the car under the tree and came and had coffee in our veranda, acting like himself again almost.

"Now then," says Bassett, "make your talk. What's the game."

"How much cash have we got?" asks Bird. "Two hundred guilders, Buenos [illegible] done that with his normal [illegible] you're-if, Dan? I say he is. I know better. He's hit the sun—heat and fever and worry."

A Woman's Health

Is a heritage too sacred to be experimented with. For her peculiar and delicate ailments only medicines of known composition and which contain no alcohol, narcotics, or other harmful or habit-forming drugs should be employed. The one medicine which fulfills all these requirements is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a remedy with a record of over forty years of cures to recommend it; a remedy, the makers of which print its formula on every bottle wrapper and attest its correctness under oath; a remedy devised and adapted to woman's delicate constitution by an educated physician—an experienced specialist in woman's diseases; a remedy, every ingredient of which has received the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar diseases; a remedy which has more bona-fide cures to its credit than any other sold by druggists for woman's special requirements. It is not given away in the form of "trial bottles" to be experimented with, but is sold at a fair price by all dealers in medicines.

Delicate, weak, nervous women should especially shun the use of alcoholic medicines which, from their stimulating and exhilerating effects may seem, for a time, to do good, but which from the inevitable effects of the alcohol in shrinking up the red corpuscles of the blood are sure to do great and lasting harm in the long run. Besides they beget a craving for stimulants which is most deplorable.

Only invigorating and nerve strengthening effects can follow the use of this famous medicine for women. It can not possibly do harm in any state or condition of the system. It has been carefully adapted to woman's needs by an experienced physician—a specialist in their diseases. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

If a woman has bearing down, or dragging pains, low down in the abdomen, or pelvis, backache, frequent headaches, dizzy or fainting spells, is nervous and easily startled, has gnawing feeling in stomach, sees imaginary floating specks, or spots before her eyes, has melancholia, or "blues," or a weakening disagreeable drain from pelvic organs, she can make no mistake by resorting to the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will invigorate and tone up the whole system and especially the pelvic organs.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Perscription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic, "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over worked, "worn-out," run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

No woman suffering from any of the above symptoms can afford to accept any secret nostrum or medicine of unknown composition, as a substitute for a medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is OF KNOWN COMPOSITION and has a record of over forty years of cures and sells more largely to-day than ever before. Its makers withhold no secrets from their patients, believing open publicity to be the very best guaranty of merit.

Dr. Pierce invites all suffering women to consult him by letter free of charge. All letters of consultation are held as strictly private and sacredly confidential and all answers are returned in plain, sealed envelopes. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." They are the original Little Liver Pills first put up by old Dr. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equaled. They are tiny sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

The Foods of the Future

A Glimpse at the Dinner Tables of Posterity.—Less Labor and Better Things to Eat for the Man Who Will Live in Later Years. Luther Burbank Already on the Job.—The Evolution of Civilization Through Foods.

The food of the future is the life of the future; its practical possibilities, the measure of success. The difference between past cultivation, past habits of eating, and the present is very great, and if the development of foods and the knowledge of their scientific application extend at the same rate as other departments of life, the human race is near heaven on earth. The modern city man, dyspeptic from quick lunches and adulterated foods, continues to talk foolishly of the past as the golden age, when man dwelt in caves, glutted on the day of a successful chase and starved the rest of the week.

"Back to nature" is a thoughtless cry, forgetful of the stultifying crudeness of nature without the artifice of man. Rather should the slogan be "foremost in nature." Our luscious apples back in Nature's untilled orchards were but the tiny and sour crab apples. The cauliflower was but the colewort on the seashore, which has not yet lost its flavor of seaweed. "Back to nature" gives us no peach, with its beautiful, soft, delicious pulp, but the crude almond, with its tough carcareous husk. It gives us provisions limited in variety to the produce of one locality, and in quantity to the uncertain supply of the chance crop.

Modern Foods.

The modern plant creations and developments of civilization have produced a refinement unknown to the ancients. The average diner of New York would be dissatisfied and disgusted with a medieval Roman banquet, though the whole world was laid under tribute at vast cost to supply the table. We cannot now understand the voluptuousness which would provide emetics for the guests with basins and side rooms in which they could quickly become ready for another feast. According to Seneca: "Vomunt ut edant, edunt ut vomant."

The modern list of diseased foods still remains to be deplored. The fatty hams, cattle overfattened by enforced methods, the pate de foie gras, all tend to obesity, fatness, depravity, ugliness. The state of obesity attained by the goose for the celebrated foie gras" can be understood when we remember the goose is fattened in a small box, placed in a dark cellar to avoid all distractions, to devote its sole powers to guzzling the corn soaked in water and poppy seed oil till it becomes too fat to breathe, when its liver often weighs two pounds and its body furnishes up to five pounds of fat in cooking. The cultivation of such edibles, we hope, a bad habit of the past.

It is reasonable, also, to suppose that second class foods will not appear on the dining table of the future—the preserved foods and extracts, for all such have lost much of their vital properties and are deteriorating from the effects of the preservative agents. The stomach has enough difficulties without encountering the preservatives or losing the stimulus of fresh, living, vitalizing foods. It is impossible to believe that the use of such foods will continue under improved conditions of transportation, storage and cultivation.

Influence of Finer Foods.

Wines and liquors, temperance concoctions, and the cup that goads, but not nourishes, must all disappear in the dispensation of new advantages in fruits and vegetables. In fact, like Tolstoi, the whole world will take its liquids direct from Nature's refinery, the highly developed plant liquids. The afternoon tea will no longer consist of infusion of dried leaves and sticks, with extract of sugar, nor will people be under the influence of the stupefying bread and butter.

Since the Romans ate liver sausage, and ever since Queen Anne quaffed her mug of beer, and her courtiers chewed tobacco, the influence of finer foods has been at work, and some day people will look back at our present food habits with as much disgust as we look back at those of the ancients and less ancients.

Plain water or even distilled water will no longer be esteemed a beneficial drink, but will be kept for external use only. The same cultivation which provides better liquids for men will seek to improve the animals by giving them the vegetation we now regard as luxurious for ourselves.

The new creations of fruits and vegetables of recent years are but the crude products of the future, which shall have foods a Burbank never dreamed of. It is by no means too visionary to assert the climax of evolution shall be attained by nature's prize product, man, and that improved foods with scientific applications shall result in immortal longevity.

The Vegetarians.

Whether animals shall always be used for food, or not, will be decided by practical experiments. People will not see themselves die to save the lives of sheep or cattle, as the Vegetarians do. They will not live on the reserve forces of their own bodies, play the cannibal on themselves, in order to save the trouble of breeding, rearing and killing pigs. It is certain, however, that more nuts and fruits will be used, because these best products of plant creation do convey a higher order of intelligence and life, when properly assimilated in those who can digest them.

There are those who argue that only the foods capable of reproduction should be used, whose principles exclude roasting, boiling, grinding, etc. They further assert that nuts and fruit make ideal diet because pleasure is the one object of existence, and that these foods can be secured at little cost of pain or work, whereas the foods of civilization require so much attention. Bread, for instance, calls into service the reaper, the carter, the thresher, the miller, the baker, his coal dealer, the miner, the mason for the oven, and other workmen, whereas nuts are sun cooked. Of which all makes excellent theory for the future, but poor practice in the present state of cultivation. The nut which combines the softness of meat and its nutrition is yet in the future, though Luther Burbank is now blending the soft pine kernel and the hard but nutritious almond.

Food Values.

Blanched Jordan almonds provide a higher nerve and muscle food, little heat and no waste, speaking practically, when combined with other suitable foods, almonds, though harmful to the haphazard eater, generate in those able to digest them a high order of intellectual keenness, attractive powers, etc.

Blue grapes are feeding and blood-purifying, though bad for the liver.

Tomatoes, when of good quality, provide a higher nerve force, also waste. No heat. They are stimulating.

Juicy fruits give more or less higher nerve nutriment, and a few muscle food and waste. Heat in proportion to the sugar they contain.

Effect of Foods.

Of course, the stated effects are discerned only when the specified foods are properly combined and proportioned for individual requirements so that no other foods are counterbalancing the properties.

But far, far more than the change in the quality of the foods of the future will be the change in their use, their application. The age of gluttony has passed. The careless "live to eat" principle has merged into a great desire to "eat to live." Foods will be applied according to their effects on work, ambitions, thoughts, desires. Intelligence shall decide the foods and their application, while taste shall be trained thereto.

Assuming that substantial food has been taken during the day, the best food for night work is green grapes, but apples, oranges, raisins, tomatoes form substitutes.

Too much put cream produces constipation, irritation, skin eruption, and the remedy for fruitarians is less nuts and more juicy fruits. Contrary, if the bowels are relaxed, more nuts.

Good eating apples may be considered the safest fruit for healthy people. The better the quality of fruits, nuts or other food, the better the results in work, thoughts, etc.

Nor is it certain that plant foods, nuts, fruit or vegetables, can ever be advanced so much beyond flesh foods in results that the latter can be dispensed with, for animal foods will also advance in good qualities.

Experiment will always decide. Man will not always be content to take what happens before him. He will learn to judge by effects. He is not like a plant rooted to one plot of ground, nor like animals limited to one corner of the earth and one kind of diet. Man's diversified food supply, occupations, desires, powers, have come from the omnivorous diet and made him the lord of creation, giving him powers of intelligence which will lead him to results hitherto vaguely imagined.

PROCESS OF DESICCATING EGGS

The process was invented by a chemist of Victoria, Australia. The results obtained have been so satisfactory that the Farmers and Settlers Co-operative society of Sydney has erected an extensive plant for the manufacturing on a large scale of "egg powder."

The process is as simple a one in principle as that of preserving fruit by sealing it hermetically at a boiling temperature or of pasteurizing milk. Eggs, freed from the shells, are dried at the relatively low temperature of 54.5 degrees C. (130 degrees F.). The operations can be rapidly executed in containers kept at this temperature, from which likewise the aqueous vapor is withdrawn as fast as given off by evaporation from the eggs.

The advantage of this method consists in the fact that there is no alteration in the chemical composition of the eggs. There is simply a loss of the greater part of the water held mechanically in combination, as when fruit is dried by free exposure to the air and sun or by more rapid artificial methods. When thoroughly desiccated and brought by pulverization into the state of coarse powder the egg material can be preserved for an indefinite period in ordinary packages, if kept in a dry place.

The eggs are "reconstituted" by the simple addition of water to the dry powder, the resultant mass being quite indistinguishable from newly beaten-up eggs. Before the method was accepted as a basis for industrial exploitation it was submitted to exhaustive critical tests by the Victorian department of agriculture, which demonstrated that purity, ease of digestion, flavor, etc., were entirely unaffected by the operations of desiccation, preservation for a long period, and reconstitution by the addition of water, provided that fresh eggs were employed at the outset. This latest novelty in the processes of insuring the inexpensive and healthful preservation of staple articles of popular diet forms a welcome addition to those already so highly valued, such as the freezing of fresh meat, the evaporation of fruits, and the desiccation of milk.

From the economic standpoint it is evident that the cost of eggs as an article of food will be notably reduced when large tracts in remote regions are utilized for the purpose of poultry raising. An important factor would be the low cost of freight for a compact powdered material as contrasted with the expense of transporting eggs in the natural fragile condition, containing 74 per cent of water and involving much waste space in packing. Equally important would be the certainty of securing egg meat guaranteed as prepared from absolutely fresh material. The simplicity of preservation and the ease with which a variety of savory dishes can be expeditiously prepared from eggs enhance the value of such a food preparation, not only for the ordinary household, but also for the emergencies of travel.

A BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

From the New York Sun.

Dan McGinn, the battery boatman, became a septuagenarian yesterday, and all the tugs around the barge office gave seven short blasts and one long one for zero, while everybody who knows Dan, drank his health in the little house on the Liberty Island landing pier. Pegleg O'Connor, whose long suit is not literature, asked Bill Quigley, who makes axioms and buys Nevada-Utah, what in the name of hawser in your propeller a septuagenarian was anyhow, and Bill, who has a swift definition for anything, blessed the ignorance of Pegleg and remarked that a septuagenarian was "a man who could row 70 miles in a battery boat without spitting on his hands." And old Dan said he believed he could do it if the weather was favorable.

It was the most notable, not to say recherche, event in boating circles since Cleopatra came down the Cydnus in her canoied barge togged up as Aphrodite, to cinch her mash on Mark Antony. There is also a lady in the case of Dan McGinn, and her name is not Cleopatra, but she has as fine a figure, Dan says, and a blessed sight taller one than the sawed off queen of Egypt. She is Maggie Dooley of South Brooklyn, and she, too, was honored by a boat ride and a canopy. There were no fancy gold and silver trimmings on the canopy or on the boat, which was the best Whitehall clinker-built 18-footer Billy Quigley owns. And Billy, who is a master at the oars, rowed Maggie through the fog to the battery boat basin.

Maggie is one of Dan's tenants. According to rumor about the Battery, Dan owns more tenements than Mark Antony did pyramids when he was bossing Egypt. Maggie brought in her lap, if the wireless accounts of the affair as received in the barge office tower are correct, a large mince pie on which, in the best Gaelic of the best Celtic pie baker in South Brooklyn, was the baked indented inscription: "Many happy returns of the day." Mr. Quigley said that this sentiment was contributed by the editor of the South Brooklyn Clarion.

The boat bearing Maggie and the pie was received at the battery basin by a delegation made up of the man who sells frankfurters at the entrance to South Ferry, who contributed a large number of his finest stock to the festivals; three of the oldest and richest boatmen in the profession, Pegleg and Policeman Joe Mury, who cleared a way for the procession as it marched to the house on the pier, Captain Roberts of the Liberty Island ferryboat, and Neil Lafferty, who helps boss the bronze statute, were among the guests. These will wish Dan and Maggie a free ride to Liberty Island when they start on their honeymoon. It is said that cards will not be out until May.

S.S.S.

PURELY VEGETABLE

GREATEST OF ALL TONICS

The healthful vegetable ingredients of which S. S. S. is composed, and the method of combining and preparing them so that they build up and strengthen every part of the body, make it the best of all Spring tonics. S. S. S. is nature's medicine, free from all strong mineral mixtures, and made entirely of the healing, cleansing juices and extracts of roots and herbs; a safe and pleasant tonic for persons of any age.

Almost every one feels bad in the Spring. Some have no particular ailment, but are debilitated, run-down and weak, and their systems are in a state of general disorder. The change in the seasons produces a like change in our bodies, and more is required from the blood, from which source we receive our physical nourishment and strength, at this particular time than at any other.

The refuse and impurities which naturally accumulate in our systems are not properly expelled in Winter, because those members whose duty it is to perform this work of drainage do not receive sufficient stimulation from bodily exercise, and therefore grow dull and sluggish in their action; nor is the skin as active in eliminating waste matters in cold weather.

These Winter accumulations pollute the blood, and destroy its nutritive qualities to such an extent that when Spring comes, and everything takes on new life, and we change our method of living, the circulation is so weakened that it is unable to supply the increased demands of the system, and we suffer in consequence.

Our physical machinery seems to get "out of gear," and suffers from weakness, nervousness, loss of appetite, lassitude, etc.; sleep is not refreshing, there is a constant worn-out feeling, and we do not feel able to perform the ordinary duties of daily life. This disordered condition demands the use of a tonic which has the additional qualities of a first-class blood purifier, for to restore health and strength the blood must be purified and built up to its normal, rich condition.

S. S. S. is not only the best Spring tonic, but its ability and worth as a genuine blood purifier, is universally recognized. It goes right down into the circulation and meets every demand for a tonic and blood purifier. S. S. S. removes all accumulations, impurities, and waste matters from the circulation, enriches and purifies the blood, and brings about a healthy change throughout the entire system. S. S. S. rids the body of that worn-out, run-down feeling, improves the appetite and digestion, reinvigorates every fibre and tissue of the body, and imparts healthy energy and strength to those who are suffering from the unpleasant conditions which always come with Spring.

S. S. S. does not contain any form of mineral ingredient, and those who are in need of a tonic, whether for old or young, would do well to remember this. S. S. S. is for sale at all drug stores.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

Last Spring I need S. S. S., and I believe it to be a very fine remedy indeed. My blood was weak and impure, and my general system in a run-down condition. I had dizzy spells, my appetite was not good, and I had but little life and energy about me. Feeling so badly I decided that something had to be done, so I commenced the use of S. S. S. I began to feel better from the start. My appetite picked up, the dizzy spells left me, and I gained six pounds in weight. It gave me rich, pure blood and built up my general health. It is an excellent remedy, and worthy of all praise.

WHAT THE PRESIDENT THINKS OF BIGELOW.

From Success Magazine.

Attending one of President Roosevelt's luncheons, a guest sought to entertain the company with this anecdote:

"When the Emperor of Germany first got a good look at it, and at once wanted to see how it worked. He took it apart, and then put it together again, perfectly, recollecting from memory every piece of minute mechanism."

Mr. Roosevelt was interested—till the speaker added: "The Kaiser's friend, Poultney Bigelow, tells the story."

At that Mr. Roosevelt drew in his lips and helped through set teeth: "I wish somebody would take Poultney Bigelow apart and forget how to put him together again!"

CHAS. B. HANFORD

FLORENCE ROBERTS IN NEW PLAY "SHAM"

GRACE CAMERON

THE WEEK'S OFFERINGS

Monday, "Little Dolly Dimples."

Grace Cameron, formerly with the famous Bostonians, will be seen at the Opera House tomorrow night in a mixture of musical comedy, rural melodrama, and vaudeville. She is assisted by Al. Lawrence.

Thursday, "Charley's Aunt."

The High School Players will produce this great farce at the Opera House Thursday evening for the benefit of the High School Athletic association, which is badly in debt. Miss Ella M. Loftus has coached the cast.

Friday, "Antony and Cleopatra."

Charles B. Hanford, who has established himself in the favor of local audiences, appears here in this tragedy Friday night. Miss Alice Wilson, an English actress, plays Cleopatra. The remainder of the supporting company is practically the same as in past years.

Saturday, "Sham."

Florence Roberts, an emotional actress of well known ability, will be seen in her new comedy-drama, "Sham," at the Opera House. She is supported by the same company that was seen here with her last November.

THE announcement that Florence Roberts is to be seen at the local theater assures a dramatic treat of high order. Miss Roberts has been seen in this city every season for many years, and her growth has been noted with especial pride. Nearly all of her work until the last two seasons has been confined to this western territory. Until two seasons ago she was not known to New York, beyond her few appearances there with her husband, the late Lewis Morrison, as Marguerite in "Faust." But she was known out here, and for many years was one of the most popular emotional actresses that played the western section. She was the first to give us "Sapho," "Marta of the Lowlands," "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," and others of that type. As soon as such a play made an assured success in New York, Miss Roberts secured it and played it here before the actress for whom it was written finished her metropolitan run and started on tour.

FLORENCE ROBERTS,
In Her New Comedy, "Sham," at the Opera House Saturday Evening, April 11.

Miss Roberts, however, became anxious two years ago to conquer New York, and with this end in view had a play written for her, "The Strength of the Weak." She went to New York at the end of the theatrical season, a very bad time of the year to try such a play on a New York audience. Despite the season and her play, which was not the best imaginable, she conquered New York, and had a run of two months, the extreme hot weather preventing a longer stay. The critics of old Manhattan declared her work to be as fine as any to be found on the New York stage. They were surprised that such an actress could exist so long out of New York, and prophesied that in a few years she would become one of the leading lights on the American stage.

Owing to the lack of a good play, Miss Roberts did not go to New York the following season, but at the beginning of the present theatrical year, she was selected by Edwin Milton Royle, author of "The Squaw Man," to create the leading role in his new play, "The Struggle Everlasting." Everyone knows the fate of this drama which, had it not been for the work of Miss Roberts, would have sunk into obscurity without any tears. But her work caused the piece to be seen again and again, critics to lament the more the failure of the piece when it was played so finely by this woman of the west.

On the closing of "The Struggle Everlasting," Miss Roberts began a tour of the west in "Zira," the play that made Margaret Anglin famous. She was seen in this drama last November. At this time there was a noticeable change in her work; she had gained subtlety. Her work showed that she was master of her emotions, not they master of her. Who that saw her climax in the third act of "Zira" will soon forget it?

Now Miss Roberts has a new play, "Sham," and out of this she expects great things. If it is successful on the road, she will take it to New York to open next season with. If it is not, she will try something else. "Sham," a comedy drama on New York polite society, shows Miss Roberts in a new light; as a comedienne. It has one big scene, notwithstanding the predominating comedy element, and this comes when Miss Roberts, as Katherine Van Ripper, the ultra-society girl, awakens to the fact that her past life has been a sham, that she has found her conscience, and incidentally a husband, a man of the west, God's own country.

For this and more, the coming of Florence Roberts to the Opera house in "Shain" next Saturday evening, is awaited with no little impatience. Her supporting company is practically the same that was seen with her last fall in "Zira," but the members are said to have more congenial roles, especially the men.

Shakespeare in Colorado Springs is becoming a negative quantity. Why it should be so, can not be explained, for his plays, when produced in this city, always draw capacity houses. Perhaps conditions in other parts of the country are such that managers do not care to risk their money on Shakespearean offerings. If Shakespeare would pay in every city in the United States, managers would just as soon put out companies in his dramas as in lively musical comedies. Managers are after the money, and art can go to the ash pit, if money does not come forth when it shines. Perhaps the scarcity is due to the lack of sufficient players who can act Shakespeare's characters. To some extent this is no doubt true, for there are very few actors on the stage today who can read blank verse intelligently. However, that is not the real reason for the non-production of Shakespeare's dramas. It is simply because the public doesn't want Shakespeare, and therefore Shakespeare doesn't pay. There are at present only three or four companies of note playing Shakespeare: Julia Marlowe, E. H. Sothern, Robert Mantell and Charles B. Hanford. There are, of course, a few actors such as John Griffith, whose Richard III, as seen at the Opera House last year, was a nightmare, but the above four players are the only ones of consequence.

The only Shakespearean offering to be seen by local theatergoers this year will be by Charles B. Hanford, who will give "Antony and Cleopatra" at the Opera house Friday evening. It was thought that Robert Mantell, the man who with E. H. Sothern seems destined, if anybody ever is, to take up the robe of the late Richard Mansfield, might come here, but his date has been cancelled and he will confine his time and work to the surer grounds of the large cities in the east. Hanford is well known here. For several seasons he has been an annual attraction at the Opera house, but up to two years ago he was never able to arouse any enthusiasm with his acting. He played to row after row of empty seats. Two years ago last January he brought "The Merchant of Venice" to this city, and the seats which formerly stared him in the face with a how-dare-you-play-here look, were all filled and many would-be spectators turned away. He repeated this experience here last year. And now he comes again, with a prospect of doing tremendous business.

"Antony and Cleopatra" has not been produced on the American stage for years, but last season Beerbohm Tree produced it both in London and Berlin with great success. "Antony and Cleopatra" is classed as one of Shakespeare's greatest tragedies, but on account of its scenic demands, it is rarely undertaken by a manager. Hanford believes he has hit the right medium in staging this tragedy. He has supplied his production with a ballet of oriental dancers; and instead of attempting to put on the stage everything demanded by Shakespeare, he has resorted to moving picture effects, which are said to be a happy thought.

Besides Florence Roberts in "Sham" and Charles B. Hanford in "Antony and Cleopatra," there are two other offerings to be seen here this week. Grace Cameron, formerly of the Bostonians, and other light opera companies, will bring "Little Dolly Dimples" to the Opera house tomorrow night. She will be assisted by Al Lawrence and a large company. The High school players will give that ever enjoyable farce, "Charley's Aunt," which has not been seen here for many seasons. The plot is too well known to need telling, and the work of these young people is also known here by their former productions. Miss Ella M. Loftus is coaching the cast. The attraction is offered in order to raise money to clear the athletic association debt, an object which deserves support.

The past week did not give anything very new. "The District Leader" was offered at the Opera house Monday evening, but the sooner it is forgotten the better. "The Virginian," with W. S. Hart in the title role, played to one of the Principals with "Charley's Aunt" which the High school players will produce at the Opera House for the benefit of the Athletic association.

What Press Agents Say

FLORENCE ROBERTS IN "SHAM"

"Sham" is a comedy in three acts by Geraldine Bonner and Elmer B. Harris. Miss Bonner is well known in the west as the author of "Tomorrow's Tangle," "Rich Men's Children," and other novels, as well as essays and short stories. For a number of years she wrote the New York dramatic letter of The Argonaut. Mr. Harris is best known as a lecturer and dramatic critic.

"Sham" is a New York comedy containing a thin trickle of story and some comparisons between eastern and western society that are more or less amusing without being impolite to either. It is light, and pretty and ends happily, giving Miss Roberts broad sweep of breezy comedy and as much pathos as can be squeezed out of a girl "finished" in New York's smart set. It is a new departure for this western actress, who has so long been identified with weep plays of the "Sapho" type, and a pleasant change from the purely theatrical emotions of the theater of yesterday. Incidentally, there is not a swear word in it, nor is the divinity once invoked to lend verisimilitude to the dialogue.

Katherine Van Riper, a descendant of one of the old Knickerbocker families, is left penniless with three hundred dollars a month and a string of pearls, by a spendthrift father. Katherine is brought up by a pair of aunts, and like all young ladies of her set, taught to regard the male sex as her food supply, her only career an advantageous marriage. To do this, she must maintain her position, put up a good front and keep pretty at all costs, which costs worry her not at all. On the strength of the pearls, which she knows at any time she can sell at a good round sum, she contracts debt after debt, until, at the opening of the play, she is in imminent danger of being swamped and some of her creditors have combined and threaten to bring suit. Katherine, deliciously innocent of what the socialists call "sense of property," wants to know if there ever was such impertinence.

Now, it happens that old Jeremiah Buck, a copper king from Idaho, has brought his boy and girl to New York and is launching them in society. The aunts see here an opportunity for their capricious and improvident niece and want her to marry young Buck. To complicate matters, Katherine allows herself to fall in love with Tom Jaffray, old Buck's engineer, a plain spoken, straightforward fellow, who impugns the predatory ethics of New York's genus grafters, and vows he's not the kind to get a thing by pretending not to want it. The fun of it is, he crosses swords on this very point with Katherine, not knowing that she is one of the best in the business, and loving her with characteristic sincerity. Katherine is innocently beating her way through life and using her charms card as a meal ticket, and when the argument is over she suddenly discovers she has a conscience that her life is pretty much of a sham. However, the sale of the pearls will straighten all that. But as it turns out the pearls are likewise a sham, the father having sold the real ones before his death.

first and the last of its race. Having lost her lover through a misunderstanding, life takes on a dark gray look, and if it were not for the good aunts who came through with the price of the pearls to keep the sham in the family, Katherine would have to go to work.

The aunts thus save the day and a piquant love scene smooths out the misunderstanding between the lovers, and Katherine admits the right man needn't have anything. The curtain falls on as modern a human denouement as any lover of the theater could wish for, for the cast is as full of Katherines as the west of Tom Jaffrays.

"Sham" doesn't rant, nor preach. It flows on smoothly and prettily, hiding its satire, and aiming only to amuse as a fair and square love story. All admirers of Miss Roberts know of her natural gift for comedy and look for her creation of Katherine to be one of the most complete and the most pleasing of her career.

"ANTONY AND CLEOPATRA"

The stupendous scale on which Charles B. Hanford's productions are made has been, from season to season, the subject of increased admiration and wonder. Each presentation he makes is designed to eclipse its predecessor in brilliancy of effect and elaboration of detail. It is another evidence of Shakespeare's comprehensive genius that the actor is not obliged to depart from his plays for material for unlimited scenic exploitation. It has been argued that but little scenery was employed in the day of Elizabethan drama; but there have been skeptics on this point. Certain it is that no plays lend themselves more splendidly to the purposes of the scenic artist and costumer, as well as of the actor, than those of Shakespeare.

One of the most striking of the great poet's scenic dramas is "Antony and Cleopatra," which Mr. Hanford selects as his subject for a spectacular revival this season. It is particularly fitting that Mr. Hanford should follow his production of "Julius Caesar," which created such profound impression last winter, with the story of the Roman warrior's historic amour with Egypt's queen.

Like all his other representations, his latest contribution to theatric entertainment by Mr. Hanford will be dominated by the spirit of modernism. This does not imply that the performance will be found lacking in respect for the highest traditions associated with it, or that a garbled ad multilated text will be thrust before the public. The same completeness which has at the High School has won for characterized all of Mr. Hanford's productions, will be noteworthy in this. But young people, has volunteered her there will be no slighting the opportunities for pageantry, on the pretext of conforming to custom of Shakespeare's own time. The play will be given with the wealth of real magnificence which the poet's own text suggests so warmly and constantly that there can be no doubt of its existence in his own imagination.

Mr. Hanford has turned to several specialists for assistance in this enterprise. His scheme of stage pictures has been carried out by Mr. Armbruster, of Cleveland, O., whose experience in designing and executing beautiful and correct settings for classic plays has earned him through several generations of famous actors the soubriquet of "The Grand Old Man of Scenery." The dancing has been rehearsed under the personal direction of M. F. Trostler, of Cleveland, Ohio, whose achievements in arranging terpsichorean effects on a colossal scale have made him famous. A special feature will be a premiere danseuse of personal grace and expert accomplishments. The chorus and orchestra will be under the direction of the company's own leader, and a skilled electrician will give his undivided attention to the lighting effects which have been arranged to enhance the beauty of a magnificent array of scenery.

Among the old favorites who will appear in Mr. Hanford's company, producing "Antony and Cleopatra," are Alexander McKenzie, John M. Kline and George C. Gunther. This representation of one of Shakespeare's greatest dramas will be especially noteworthy because of the brilliant opportunities it affords Miss Alice Wilson in the role of Cleopatra. Miss Wilson, though an Englishwoman, has, during her stay in this country, been prominently cast with Otis Skinner, Nat. C. Goodwin, Charles Hawtry and Viola Allen. The date of Mr. Hanford's engagement at the Opera House is Friday, April 10.

"CHARLEY'S AUNT"

"Charley's Aunt" is one of the most successful farces ever produced. Its runs in London, New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and other large cities, eclipse the runs of any other farce that has been produced in the last decade. The production in this city of this famous play is, therefore, of great interest.

The High School players, who, with their former productions here, have won great favor with the theatergoing public, will give "Charley's Aunt" at the Opera House Thursday evening. The production is made in the interest of the Athletic association of Colorado Springs High school. Miss Ella M. Loftus, whose coaching of other plays assisted the pupils for her work with the services. The cast is making rapid progress in the farce, and a dress rehearsal will be held early this week.

The story of the farce is well known. Charley, a young man in college, expects his rich aunt from Portugal to visit him, and invites a few friends to meet her. At an hour too late to cancel the invitations, he receives word that she will not arrive until the next day. In order to get himself out of the predicament, he gets one of his chums to dress up as the aunt. Many complications follow, including the making of love to this would-be aunt by an old fortune hunter, and then, to cap it all, the real aunt makes her appearance. Everything ends well, however, and the boys get the girls they want, and the aunt meets a lover of hers and marries him.

The play will be staged under the direction of William Myers, of the Opera House. Chester Whitaker is manager.

ADVENTURE COST NOBLE TITLE.

Grace Cameron, a pretty and accomplished actress, well known to the theatergoers, has become quite famous in theatrical circles for her unsatiated taste for adventure. Had it not been for this love of excitement she would now be a baroness.

It is due to Miss Cameron's appearance at the Opera House tomorrow evening as the bright particular star of "Little Dollie Dimples," that the story in question has just come to light.

Three years ago, Miss Cameron was taking a special course in operatic singing at Milan, Italy. While there she met an Italian nobleman, the Baron Roselli, a young man of much wealth and high social standing. At the conclusion of her course, Miss Cameron returned to America, where, according to arrangements, the baron was to follow last summer. It was arranged that a wedding was to take place at that time.

The baron arrived in due time, and seemed to be more madly in love than ever with his fair betrothed. Preparations for the nuptial event were being actively rushed and the beautiful Miss Cameron was busily showered with congratulations and good wishes by her companions in stage life, when there came a sudden rift in the proceedings. It was a suit of boy's clothes that blocked the course of true love. When the nobleman came face to face in broad daylight and upon a public street with his fiancee clad in the habiliments of man it was more than his blue blood could stand and all negotiations were off. Miss Cameron had good and sufficient reasons for desiring to masquerade in male attire. It seems that one of her relatives at the Brooklyn navy yard had charge of the recent experiments with the submarine boat, Shark. Miss Cameron had long cherished a desire to take a cruise in this submarine boat, and had pestered her official relative to such an extent that at last he reluctantly consented to take her on board, but upon the condition that she was to disguise herself as a midshipman. It was after her cruise under the sea, and while on her way back to her apartments that Miss Cameron encountered her Italian lover and incidentally lost all chance to become a baroness.

FRANCIS WILSON COMING.

Francis Wilson, the most popular comedian on the stage at the present time, has been provided by Charles Frohman with the most screaming funny farce that he has ever had since he gave up comic opera for the more legitimate form of entertainment. It is called "When Knights Were Bold," and is from the pen of Charles Marlowe. "When Knights Were Bold is a most clever conceit, for it takes its hero back to the middle ages, when he is essentially a modern of moderns and absolutely full of twentieth century ideas. The second act of the farce, when Mr. Wilson in a dream goes back to the days of his "glorious and royal ancestors," gives him the greatest possible opportunity for irrepressible and inimitable comedy. Mr. Frohman has provided Mr. Wilson with an exceedingly large and well-balanced supporting company, which in its entirety numbers 40 people. His leading woman is Mary Boland. Charles Frohman will present Francis Wilson in "When Knights Were Bold," at the Opera House, Tuesday evening, April 14.

AT THE EMPIRE

Big, high-priced acts continue to fill the program at the popular Empire. This week promises an unusual amount of high class work, the result of careful billing by Manager Ellis, who is always on the lookout for the best in vaudevilleism. The announcement that the great Rusticana Trio has been secured is enough to insure a record-breaking attendance all week. This act is composed of the famous Italian street singers and is direct to this circuit from Europe.

Owley and Randall come highly recommended as comedy jugglers. Clever juggling feats interspersed with genuine comedy characterize their act.

Funny Fein, the Hebrew comedian, is in a class by himself as a laugh getter. He is a favorite on any bill and will no doubt make a big hit here.

Those who attend this week are assured of one of the best performances of the season.

UNDER EIGHT PRESIDENTS

A Fourth-Class Postmaster Who Held His Job Since 1869.

From the Chicago Inter Ocean.

Postmaster Richard Jones of Fall River, Mass., has resigned his office after serving since July 15, 1869, under eight Presidents. This is not an extraordinary length of time for another man to hold a place, but it is an extraordinary length of time for a postmaster to keep one.

Not that a postmastership of itself is more difficult to fill than other positions of the same relative importance. But that, especially in a small town, a postmaster must not only be acceptable in his private capacity to the community which he aims to please and in his public capacity to the government which it is his duty as well as his pleasure to serve, but also in his political capacity to the congressman from his district to whom he owes the appointment or his job is likely to depend on antagonize the probable successor of his congressman, or take any steps afterwards, publicly or politically, that ought to disqualify an unless he can command the confidence of the United States senators or their probable successors, a majority of the members of the senate, state of national committee, and any influential friend of the existing national administration, forward anybody who is close to the postmaster-general or any of his assistants, or toward the newspaper which for the time being may be the organ or mouthpiece of the party in power, element of course that exercises the right of inspection and control over the local federal jobs.

Even in those days when civil service reform has changed many things, postmasters in small towns would be glad if Postmaster Jones could be induced to write and publish a book which would tell them how he managed to run safely through the administrations of Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Cleveland, Harrison, McKinley and Roosevelt. There must have been times when he was in very close quarters—when it looked to him as if it would be next to impossible to avoid getting off on one side or the fence or the other.

It would certainly be interesting to learn how he succeeded in getting through the long and bitter struggle between the Stalwarts and the "Half-breeds" without losing his head, how he managed to be acceptable to Hayes after being acceptable to Grant, how he managed to be acceptable to Arthur after being acceptable to Garfield, how he managed to get on so that Cleveland could bear with one who was born with Arthur and went down to the date.

In view of what is known of this remarkable case, we shall hardly be accused of an extravagant statement when we say that among those who have navigated in politics from the beginning of our history there never has been a more proficient navigator than Richard Jones, of Feeding Hills, although many of us in Illinois, some very fine to it—we

INTEREST IS REVIVED

RUSH AGAIN ON TO THE GRANITE SECTION.

Disclosures in Blaine Mine Attract Attention—Miners Flocking to Old Nevada District.

ELY, Nev., April 4.—A rush from Ely, starting about 2 o'clock in the morning, occurred a few days ago to the vicinity of the Blaine mine, 23 miles northeast of here, as the result of rich ore brought in by D. S. Dickerson, Thomas O'Neill and James Reilley, which, it is currently reported, assays from $100 to $1,000 in gold. There are from 12 to 15 inches of this rich rock in quartzite in the face of a 50-foot tunnel on the Independence claim of the company. Because of this those who saw the specimens, as well as others who merely heard the report, secured conveyances and left for the district to locate as near as possible to the Blaine. So great was the rush that it was with extreme difficulty that a conveyance could be gotten at the livery stables.

At the Blaine work is proceeding with a force of five men employed in sinking the main shaft, which is now down 360 feet. The working is in ore, Superintendent D. Clark states, a four-foot vein running from $23 to $35 a ton on the average. From 6,000 to 8,000 tons of ore is on the dump, he states, awaiting shipment, which will be made during the early spring. More than 2,200 feet of work has been done on the mine, the principal working being an 800-foot tunnel, which is being driven to tap the ore shoot at the depth of 350 feet. About 50 feet more of work will be necessary before the effect is accomplished.

On the surface of other claims a good showing is had, especially on the Independence. The company, which is composed almost entirely of local people, is a close corporation, and will issue no stock. They are confident that they have a bonanza property in the Blaine.

Clarke and Jobe, who have a bond on the Buster property in the immediate vicinity of the Blaine, are working four men. From a shallow hole, 25 feet in depth, 200 tons of free milling gold ore have been taken. The average assay on this rock is $25 to the ton, although values of $150 to $270 have been encountered. Besides these there are several other properties in a desultory manner, all having fair showings, it is claimed.

The Granite District, in which the properties are located is one of the oldest in the state, but the rich discovery at the Blaine has attracted the attention of people here as nothing has for some time. Many men who left here will locate property, although the greater part of the district is already taken up by local people.

BREAK INTO A BODY OF ORE

Leasers on Lower Level of Ward Rose Encounter Eight-Inch Streak of High Grade Rock.

BOULDER, April 4.—William Smith and D. A. King, who have for the past six months been exploring the tunnel level of the Ward Rose on which they have a lease, last week broke into a body of ore which gives promise of netting the leasers several thousand dollars.

The shoot has been explored for something over 15 feet and shows an eight-inch streak of sulphide ore which runs several ounces in gold. The streak appears to be widening as the drift progresses and it now looks like they had opened up one of the rich shoots for which this property is famous.

The leasers were pretty well discouraged and were thinking of throwing up the lease 10 days ago and their many friends are now rejoicing with them in their success, the reward of perseverance and a determination to try one more shot.

COLORADO AND NEVADA MEN ARE INTERESTED.

Prospecting Trip Reveals Quantities of Fair-Grade Ore on San Doza Island.

TONOPAH, Nev., April 4. J. C. Jones has returned to Tonopah after an absence of about one year. During his absence Mr. Jones has been in the Philippine islands with a party of five prospecting. The other members of the party were Frank Newman of Colorado, H. C. Cline of Colorado, H. G. Pursley of Texas and W. H. Lockwood of Texas. In speaking of the trip Mr. Jones said:

"Several years ago I received information concerning a rich placer ground on the San Doza island, which is one of the small islands in the Philippine group. It was only last year that I could spare the time to look over the ground for myself. We were on the island for six months and thoroughly prospected every part of it, and while the values are not enormous they are good. Some places we found dirt that will go from $4 to $20 to the yard. Even the $4 dirt will bring good profits, as labor is very cheap there, averaging about 33 cents a day. We brought back with us about 1,000 pounds of dirt and will determine the best and cheapest way to work it, and as soon as we find that out will commence operations there on a large scale."

80-FOOT GOLD LEDGE

ARIZONA RANCHERS MAKE A RICH DISCOVERY.

Sensational Strike North of King of Arizona. Numerous Samples All Show Gold.

YUMA, Ariz., April 4. Another sensational gold strike has been made in northern Yuma county. Its extent and exact value is not known, but that it is one of richness and magnitude is certain. Charles Pruett, a Yuma valley rancher, and Charles Wheeler are the lucky men. While prospecting 15 miles north of the King of Arizona, they encountered a ledge of gold-bearing quartz 80 feet in width and visible for several hundred feet. They took samples from the width and the length of it and every piece horned gold. They are now in Yuma for fresh supplies.

Hundreds of tons of rich float have been shipped to El Paso from the McNeill and Willcut lead mine 20 miles southwest of the Vulture and the attention of capital is being directed to this good property at present. The group comprises six claims, all showing fine ore. The main workings are in the side of the mountain 200 feet from the apex. The vein is 25 feet in width. The pure lead cuts through a streak of ore which carries values in gold, silver and copper. The owners have gone as far as they can with their present means and as soon as water can be developed they will begin to ship and use the money thus obtained for development on a bigger scale.

In the Thumb Butte district, in Yavapai county, George Uhl has struck a pay streak of from two to four inches on his Hobo group which will run $350 a ton.

In the Black Rock district the Hite company is preparing to resume operations on the King Solomon mines. High-grade silver ore is being taken from the Yavapai Silver company's property, which is proving a white metal wonder. The Big O'Brien is operating day and night and is making regular bullion shipments. The Arizona Copper Belt company has a force of men carrying forward the development of its principal property and is going to make a mine.

GRATIFYING RETURNS FROM FIRST MAY SHIPMENT.

Special to The Gazette.—

CRIPPLE CREEK, April 4.—Jones and Carr, leasing on the Ajax property of the El Paso Consolidated company, have received returns from a carload shipment that was made last week.

The ore was broken from a vein about 12 feet in width and carries about $60 gold per ton.

Assays as high as $136 per ton have been taken from the shoot, which is one of the biggest on the property and promises to become a big producer.

The output of the Ajax Gold Mining company for the month of March amounted to 30 cars of ore averaging one and a quarter ounces per ton.

Sam McDonald, who has the lease on block 3, has recently opened up a vein of good grade ore near the surface from which regular shipments are made.

The Big Theater Leasing company, operating on block 18, have installed a new steam hoisting plant and are now in shape to produce on a larger scale.

The lessees operating on blocks 1 to 7, 11 and 18 are all in ore and shipping regularly.

Ore is being hoisted through the main shaft from six levels from the first to the tenth.

M. E. Brookshire and N. A. Paris, leasing on block 19 of the El Paso Consolidated, have sold a small interest in the lease to M. Goldstein and M. V. Mitchell.

The lease, which is on what is known as the Australia claim of the El Paso, is considered one of the best blocks on that property and has been a consistent producer almost since the lessees took hold of it.

FORTUNE IS IN SIGHT

Find in Goldfield Property Attracting Much Attention—Miners Refuse to Disclose Secret.

GOLDFIELD, Nev., April 4.—Leasers on the Sandstorm, who are operating the block formerly worked by Lotus and Davis, have sacked some $4,000 worth of rich ore ready for shipment and are in a fair way to make another important producer on the first property to yield paying ore in the Goldfield district and which produced over $1,100,000 worth of sensationally rich ore for the original operators. Walton, Waterman and Wolverton are working this ground on a sublease from Webb Parkinson. The rich stuff was found along the foot wall of the ore shoot which was worked by Lotus and Davis and from a narrow seam the shoot has increased in size to 18 inches carrying values of nearly $1,000 a ton. The gangue for a distance of two and a half feet on either side of the rich vein is of a high grade of milling rock, carrying an average of $72 a ton in gold which can be handled at a good profit under present conditions in Goldfield.

An examination of the lower workings of the Florence Annex shows that the drift at the 300-level is entirely in ore of the identical character with that in the rich body which yielded 14 mine cars of very rich rock two weeks ago. The progress of the work at this point is of particular interest in view of the fact that it is known that some of the miners working in the lease have gained a knowledge of a rich grade shoot somewhere on this level. Several attempts have been made by the men to secure a sublease and as much as 50 per cent in royalty has been offered. One man admitted that he could show the management where the rich shot could be found, but refusing to disclose its location, he was promptly discharged.

STOCKS ARE SLUGGISH

Business Is Practically Suspended Pending the Solution of the Erie Problem.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The stock market today did little more than mark time, in accordance with the evident purpose to refrain from any extensive commitments in the market until the solution of the Erie problem is effected and cleared up by formal announcement. No news was forthcoming on that important topic during the short stock exchange session, but opinion was inclined to look for the evidence of a receivership. There was some signs in a few issues of a little slow liquidation, especially in the copper securities, but support was accorded to the market, and no serious inroads on prices resulted. United States Steel was firm and the resistance of this stock to pressure in contrast with its heaviness during the week, had some sympathetic effect on the selling list.

The weekly reviews of the mercantile agencies were scanned with interest, but offered no very enthusiastic account of commercial conditions.

The late improvement in prices of stocks today followed an intimation that the bank statement might not show so heavy cash gains as preliminary estimates had indicated. A good effect was produced by the report of the American Railway association of a further reduction in the number of idle freight cars, the total for March 15 falling to 297,042, a decrease of 17,950 from the previous estimate on March 4 and of 45,116 from February 5, when the number of idle freight cars in the country reached the maximum. Rumors of an Erie settlement helped the late rally and the firm closing.

The cash gain disclosed by the bank statement was smaller than the preliminary estimates had shown, but the discrepancy was less in the statement of actual conditions on Friday night than in the statement of averages. The loan expansion is attributed to arrangements for financing the quarterly settlements on the first of the month.

Bonds were steady and dull. Total sales, par value, $738,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call, for the week.

VINDICATOR TO PAY DIVIDEND

$60,000 Will Go to Stockholders on April 25.

Bringing the total amount of dividends issued by the company to date to $1,535,000, the Vindicator Gold Mining company has just declared a dividend of four cents a share. This includes the regular quarterly dividend of three cents a share and in addition an extra one of one cent a share. The total amount of this disbursement, which is dividend No. 40, is $60,000. It is payable on April 25 to stockholders of record on April 15. Notice of the dividend was given out yesterday by Secretary F. J. Campbell.

WHEAT MARKET FASIER

SENTIMENT IN PIT BEARISH ALL DAY.

Elevator Interests and Shorts the Principal Buyers—Corn Closes Strong—Oats Weak.

CHICAGO, April 4.—The wheat market was rather a tame affair and sentiment in the pit was bearish all day. Although the rain predicted yesterday for Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska failed to materialize, the official forecast today was again for wet weather today and tonight in that section of the winter wheat belt. This was the chief reason for the easier tone. Weakness of northwestern markets was another bearish factor. Crop reports from the southwest were against conflicting, but the majority of them seemed to indicate that the growing crop is in good condition. Elevator interests and shorts were the principal buyers. A moderate advance in corn had a strengthening effect on wheat late in the day. The market closed easy. May opened 1-8 to 1-4 higher at 92 7-8 to 93, sold off to 92 3-8 and closed at 92 5-8@3-4. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 179,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 315,000 bushels compared with 363,000 bushels, the corresponding day a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 270 cars against 274 cars last week and 464 cars a year ago.

The corn market was inclined to be weak early in the day, owing to the decline in wheat, but during the last half of the session a strong tone developed because of active buying by shorts, which was based on the likelihood that local receipts next week will be much smaller. The close was firm. May opened 1-8 lower at 66, sold off to 65 3-4 and then advanced to 66 3-4. The close was at 66 1-2@5-8. Local receipts were 211 cars, with 63 of contract grade.

Oats were weak, owing to favorable weather in the southwest for the new crop. A slack demand for the cash grain also tended to depress prices. May opened unchanged at 53@53 1-8, sold off to 53 and closed at 53 1-4. Local receipts were 155 cars.

Provisions were rather weak at the start, because of selling by local and outside longs, but a steadier tone developed later, owing to the strength of corn. At the close, May pork was up 5c at $13.30; lard was 2 1-2c lower at $8.07 1-2; ribs were 5c higher at $7.12 1-2 @$7.15.
